Mr. Borah Sees Chaos, Airplane Versus Mosquito, A Nation on Wheels, Champion Corn Husker.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

SENATOR BORAH, regretting the defeat of his "very dear friend, Mrs. McCormick" in Illinois, thinks parties are losing their hold, expects "chaos in 1932," and thinks the recent election showed a drift from prohibition.

He is still a faithful dry, but says the question to be settled now is not one of modification or light wines and beer, but a question of repealing the amendment.

W. C. T. U. LADIES, meeting at Houston, Tex., have no misgivings about prohibition's future, their meeting broke up in a frenzy of joy, when they heard the Wickersham-Hoover prohibition commission would reject any suggestion of repeal and reject four per cent beer.

The Wickersham commission does not make laws, and can only talk. But the W. C. T. U. ladies rejoice with good reason.

Any actual change in prohibition is probably far away.

The best that we can hope for is ignoring of the law, in wet cities with abundance of bootleg poison at high prices.

EXPERIMENTS BY DR. GINSBERG, of the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, show that mosquitos in breeding places, hitherto inaccessible, can be attacked and destroyed by airplane.

The pilot, flying low over the breeding swamps, spreads a spray of poison powder that destroys the new mosquito before it starts flying.

THE INVENTION of railroad trains spread mosquitos all over the United States.

The airplane invention may remedy the evil.

It should be used on the marshes around Venice, and doubtless, Mussolini will see to it. Whoever has visited Venice in summer really knows mosquitos.

THIS IS REALLY a nation on wheels. The number of motors actually registered in the United States is 26,500,000, and the number of licensed automobile drivers is 32,000,000, more than one for each automobile. The figures show there can be no "saturation point" on automobile construction.

If every automobile lasted five years, which it does not, because of rough usage, there would still be required more than 5,000,000 new automobiles a year.

And, not long ago when Henry Ford said he expected, some day, to build 10,000,000 cars a year, conservative builders begged him not to talk so extravagantly as he would destroy bankers' confidence in the industry.

HAVE YOU EVER husked corn on a cold day, the sun melting frozen mud between rows of cornstalks, a cold wind blowing through the corn field?

If not, you can't appreciate the achievement of Fred Stanek, Iowa farmer, three times in succession champion corn husker. He husked 30½ bushels in 80 minutes. That isn't as profitable as working your way up to a prize fight championship.

But, it's more important to the country than any prize fighting.

FRED STANEK'S championship will soon be a thing of the past, thanks to machinery that makes men unnecessary. This writer who has paid eight cents a bushel on the cob for husking his corn crop this year is offered a machine that will cut the corn, stack it, husk it and shell it for two and one-half cents a bushel. Good news for farm owners, bad news temporarily for farm labor.

THE REVEREND DR. FULTON J. SHEEN, of the Catholic University at Washington, D. C., objecting to Prof. Einstein's ideas on religion, finds an argument that will convince many for whom learned refutation would have little meaning.

Father Sheen objects especially to Einstein's statement that we "have passed the stage of a religion of fear and morals."

IN PRIVATE, Prof. Einstein might ask the Reverend Father, "Do you really believe that God created the earth, only 6,000 years ago, first creating light, then making the sun, moon and stars, as told in Genesis. And why was it necessary to make the sun, if light had already been supplied."

Officially Prof. Einstein will say nothing, knowing that a religious controversy is never profitable.

DESMOND HOLDRIDGE, a young explorer, has visited a remote Venezuelan jungle and brings news of the Pishauko tribe hitherto considered "a mythical people."

He found savages celebrating mass, praying for Divine assistance before starting on a hunting expedition, which proves that missionaries had visited them long ago.

WHEN ONE OF THESE SAVAGES is ill, perhaps with malarial fever, the medicine man stretches him out naked and covers his body with live ants.

Ten years ago we should have called that barbarous ignorance, but now our scientists use the bites of mosquitos to cure paresis.

SUBWAY DELAY BLAMED ON TROLLEYS

BOBBY JONES RETIRES AS GOLFER

Champion of Champions Not To Compete; Decision Announced in New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Robert T. Jones, Jr., champion of golf champions and holder of all the major titles of the United States and Great Britain, today announced his retirement from competition.

Jones, having no more worlds to conquer in the royal and ancient sport, made known his decision in a statement issued on his behalf through Herbert H. Ramsay, executive vice president of the United States Golf Association.

GREATEST RECORD

The retirement of Bobby Jones brings to climax not only the most sensational record of victorious achievement in all golf history, but comes at a time when the great Georgian stands astride the golf world like the Colossus of Rhodes.

At the comparatively youthful age of 28, when most champions of sport are just swinging into their stride, Jones has conquered all rivals at home and abroad, won every championship trophy of major national importance from one to five times and crowned his achievements by making a clean-sweep of all four British and American title tournaments in 1930.

QUITS IN PRIME

No other king of sport ever decided to leave the competitive arena at so youthful an age or when at the very height of his powers, with the exception o Gene Tunney. Tunney quit the heavyweight boxing ring in 1928, at the age of 30, but for different reasons. The heavyweight champion disliked the sport in which he had reached the top. Golf still is closest to Jones' heart and interest.

Jones won his first golf tournament at the age of 8 on his home course of East Lake, Atlanta. He was a sensation from the day he made his debut in national championship competition at the age of 14 at the Merion Cricket Club, Philadelphia, in the amateur tournament of 1916.

He did not win his first national championship until 1923, when, at the voting age of 21, he conquered Bobby Cruickshank in a playoff for the open crown of the United States on the links of the Inwood Country Club, Long Island.

PLOT PERILS PICKFORD NIECE

Ward of Movie Star Placed Under Guard After Threat Received From Kidnapers

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—The Beverly Hills police disclosed today a police escort had been provided Mary Pickford's adopted niece consequent to threats to kidnap the child.

A policeman guarded the little girl to and from school last Friday and again today.

The police, Miss Pickford and her husband, Douglas Fairbanks, refused to reveal the nature of the threats. They would not say if they were received by letter or telephone.

The girl, daughter of Lottie Pickford, has been the ward of Mrs. Fairbanks for some time. Recently her name Mary was changed to Gwynn.

Police said they had received no reports of other kidnaping threats against the children of motion picture people. They denied reports of such threats against the small daughters of Harold Lloyd, film comedian, explaining rumors had been circulated as the result of his obtaining a new watchman for his estate recently.

Levine, Air Enthusiast, Arrested

VIENNA, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Charles A. Levine, American aviation enthusiast and business man, was arrested here today. He will be formally charged tomorrow with an alleged gigantic fraud perpetrated in Vienna.

Levine, who recently was in England, was resting at Semmering Spa, when arrested.

Venezuela Official Target for Assassin

BALBOA, C. Z., Nov. 17.—(INS.)—An attempt recently to assassinate President Perez Soto, of the state of Zulia, Venezuela, was frustrated by his bodyguard, it was revealed here after censorship had delayed the information for some time. Shots were fired at the executive as he left his residence at Maracaibo, the assailants escaping.

Lofty Grain Goddess To Be Kept Polished

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Ceres, goddess of grain, who overlooks Chicago, is to be kept shined up. A sand blast will be put to work by an electric switch whenever the aluminum statue atop the Board of Trade building becomes dirty from smokestacks. In 20 seconds she will be spick and span.

CITY BOARD SEES NEED OF ACTION

Transit Commission, in Report to Council, Urges Early Operating Contract

A subway, for which the taxpayers have authorized an expenditure of $6,000,000, would be "the height of folly" unless the city is assured that trolley cars will be operated therein and that assurance has not been given.

This, in tabloid, is the report of the City Transit Commission, submitted to Mayor Charles H. Kline and City Council today.

The commission points out that long negotiations for a contract with the Pittsburgh Railways Company to operate the tubes under downtown streets have not produced tangible results.

Preliminary plans for such a contract have been worked out, and the plans have been in the hands of the railways company officials for a long time, the report continues, but the trolley concern apparently is not enthusiastic over the matter of getting cars off the surface to relieve the traffic jam that daily is becoming more complicated in the downtown zone.

CONFERENCE URGED

Members of the commission urge that legal representatives of the city and railways company get together soon to facilitate plans for the building and operating of the subway. Up to now, the attorneys have taken no active part in the negotiations.

The report further states that the commission has been preparing legislation to be submitted to the General Assembly at the coming term, exending the subway system beyond the Triangle district. The legislation would be in the form of a constitutional amendment, which would have to come before the Assembly at two successive sessions, and, if approved, would be voted on by the people three years from now.

TERMINAL CHANGES

The commission points to the plans it has worked out for the subway when the Pennsylvania railroad builds its new terminal which will make great changes in the city map from Eleventh street, eastward.

Because of industrial conditions, the report says, the present offers the city the most auspicious time to construct the subway in the matter of economy of labor cost.

WON'T SUMMON ROTHENBERG

District Attorney A. T. Park today said he did not contemplate haling Police Magistrate Leo Rothenberg before the grand jury for imposing a fine of $100 on Fred Owens, confessed bootlegger, instead of holding him for court.

Owens, of 1428 Bedford avenue, was fined $100 by Rothenberg after he had admitted, in Central Police Court, operating a whisky cutting plant.

Prosecutor Park ordered Owens' rearrest. He is at liberty under bond today, pending a hearing at 2 p. m., Wednesday, before Alderman George J. Anderson.

Park, explaining his action said:

"My attention was called to a newspaper report of a public utterance attributed to Fred Owens that he had been violating the Snyder Act.

ORDER INQUIRY

"Believing such an utterance admitting law violation required an investigation by this office, I ordered Chief Murren of the county detectives to make an in-

POLICE QUIZZED OVER DEATH

In an effort to learn if Charles Lapp's death last week in Mayview could be charged to police negligence five patrolmen were summoned before Public Safety Director James M. Clark this afternoon to explain their connection with the case.

Lapp's death was due, according to a coroner's report, to a fractured skull. He was arrested in the Hill district November 2, sentenced 10 days in jail for drunkenness the following day, and sent to Mayview by the county jail physician when he was found suffering from a head injury.

In Clark's office today were Patrolman Keith Hill, the arresting officer; Turnkey James Griffin and Wagonmen John J. Connors and William Collins.

Hill testified he said he saw Lapp laying on the sidewalk at Bedford avenue and Washington street, under the influence of liquor and bleeding from a cut in the back of the head.

Connors testified he removed Lapp to the Passavant Hospital where he left him in the care of Dr. Eleanor Larson. He said an hour later he received a call from the hospital to return the man to the staion.

Prior to the hearing Clark said:

"If evidence reveals that any police were guilty of negligence in this case I will suspend them.

Steel Cases Protect Congress Documents

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—The millions of valuable documents of the House of Representatives imperiled last January by a fire at the capital, now are secure in fireproof steel cases.

Every precaution has been taken to make fireproof all rooms used for storing the documents, which date back to 1826.

SAVOLDI QUITS NOTRE DAME

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 17.—(INS.)—Joe Savoldi, star back of the Notre Dame football team, withdrew from the university today.

A statement from the press department of the university announced Savoldi's withdrawal and the only comment accompanying it was that the university "never discussed its disciplinary actions."

It was understood that Savoldi's withdrawal was the aftermath to "Bouncing Joe's" marital difficulties.

Savoldi, considered by many as one of the best backfield men ever produced by Rockne, married Audrey Koehler, of South Bend. His marriage was kept secret until Attorney Al Hosinski, acting for Joe, filed suit for divorce recently, and then withdrew the suit.

Savoldi's marriage, it was understood, violated an unwritten rule of the university and the disciplinary action taken today was the result.

Child's Slayer Dies In Rockview Chair

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Harry Coon, 23-year-old Potter County farm hand, died in the electric chair at Rockview Penitentiary today for the murder of Mildred Cass, 6.

Coon went to the chair refusing to make any statement. After one contact at 7:01 he was pronounced dead at 7:06 by prison physicians. He was convicted of beating the child to death September 13, the case setting a record for swift justice in the state.

Kellogg Prepares To Visit America

THE HAGUE, Nov. 17.—(INS.)—Frank B. Kellogg, former Secretary of State and now American member of the Permanent Court of International Justice of the League of Nations, expects to visit the United States during December.

WHEAT FIRMER AS U.S. BUYS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Chairman Legge, of the Farm Board, said today the Grain Stabilization Corporation was buying wheat both in the cash and future markets in its stabilization operations. Purchases are being made at the current price, Legge declared:

"There is no peg price in the picture at all."

He said the corporation was not trying to raise the price of wheat, but to prevent unwarranted price decline.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Grain prices responded with gains of as much as 2 cents a bushel today to the formal confirmation of rumors that United States government agencies were entering the wheat market.

Ford to Build Auto Plant in Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 17.—(INS.)—A $1,000,000 assembly plant, capable of turning out 100 cars daily, will be opened here next month by the Ford Motor Car Company, it was announced today. The plant will pay the highest factory wages in Mexico. Only Mexican labor will be utilized.

Irish Free State Barracks Bombed

BANTRY, Irish Free State, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—A bomb was thrown at the civic guards' barracks at Glengariff, near here, today, damaging the front of the building. Sergt. Boyland and three guards in the barracks escaped injury. A woman's bicycle was found abandoned near the gate.

McKeesport Man Killed in Chicago

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—A man about 40 years old, having a card in his pocket with the name and address of Andrew Kovka, 809 Water street, McKeesport, Pa., died in a hospital shortly after being struck by a hit-and-run automobile driver last night.

2 SHIPS IN FOG RUN AGROUND

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(INS.)—A thick fog obliterated the Atlantic coast line today and sent two vessels aground, tying up trans-Atlantic shipping and handicapping ferry service.

Destroyers and patrol boats from the New London Coast Guard base were standing by.

Passenger liners and freighters were anchored in the harbor and as far out at sea as Fire Island waiting for the fog to lift.

Light Rain Chases Balmy Spell Here; 50 Tonight

Showers and somewhat cooler weather were forecast today to supplant the balmy spell which held sway for the last week.

Light rain today will be followed tonight by a drop of the mercury to around 50, Forecaster V. S. Brotzman said. Tomorrow will be cloudy with little change in temperature.

The mercury climbed to 68 yesterday, four degrees under the record for that date, made in 1927. This morning the temperature hovered around 60.

Lightning was noted here early today. Thunder showers were reported from Mercer County.

Widow of Hammerstein Sells Apples for Living

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—"Ladies Must Eat," explained Mrs. Oscar Hammerstein, widow of the impresario, today as she became a seller of "apples, only five cents apiece," on the sidewalks of New York.

She stood in a foggy drizzle at Chambers street and Broadway, briskly polishing apples and calling her wares to passersby, and disposed of two boxes of fruit in less than two hours. She said:

"It is the best I can do now to earn a living. My stepson, Arthur, has told me he will be unable for the present to pay me the $40 a week which would provide for my wants."

Mrs. Hammerstein said she would move her stand up to Times Square later and sell apples in front of the Rialto Theater, where once stood her husband's Victoria playhouse.

BORAH FIGHT FOR EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS LIKELY

REBEL BLOC MAY AID IOWAN

Senator Opposed to Hoover's Views; Wants Debenture Farm Relief Plan Passed

By GEORGE E. HOLMES.
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—An extra session of the newly-elected Seventy-second Congress, in which the Republicans have a precarious paper majority of one in each House and a workable majority in neither, did not appear as remote today as it did last week.

Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, whose split with the White House is now wide and deep, has returned to Washington breathing belligerency and battle. Borah isn't saying that he favors an extra session after March 4. At least he isn't saying it yet, but he is saying with vigor that he doesn't propose to be "stampeded" in order to avoid one.

HAS FOLLOWING

With President Hoover seeking an agreement between Republican and Democratic leaders to expedite legislation so as to make an extra session unnecessary, the attitude of Borah assumed considerable importance today. Most of the senate insurgents usually go along with him, and some of the Democrats as well.

Borah wants to see the debenture plan of farm relief put through. That is anathema to President Hoover. He wants to see Muscle Shoals disposed of according to the Norris bill. That is also opposed by Mr. Hoover.

Borah is in favor of other things not highly regarded by the White House. With only three months in which to work, any extended fights over these questions undoubtedly will interfere with and probably endanger passage of the usual appropriation bills, which must be enacted if an extra session is to be avoided.

WON'T FILIBUSTER

Borah did say, however, he would take part in no filibuster in order to force Mr. Hoover's hands. He went even further—he denounced as "an exhibition of superlative impudence" the very idea that the Democrats and Progressives had just as keen a sense of their responsibility as the regulars.

Meanwhile, the Wagner unemployment bills, which the Senate passed last spring, but which were sidetracked by the House, also threatened to disrupt the promised "co-operation" between Republicans and Democrats at the coming "lame duck" session.

UNEMPLOYMENT FUND

One of the New Yorker's measures would set up a federal unemployment fund by authorizing certain public works to be constructed during unemployment emergencies. It would ask the state governments to create like funds. Another Wagner bill would establish federal employment agencies throughout the states, with an organization for reporting the employment needs of industries and the shifting tides of employment in various sections. This bill has been pigeon-holed with a House committee.

A number of Democratic leaders will demand immediate action on both Wagner bills, when Congress meets, before they agree to aiding in enactment of administration measures.

DO-X ATLANTIC HOP MAY BE DELAYED

Postponement Until Spring Now Considered Because Of Unfavorable Weather

EXCLUSIVE

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND.
Special Correspondent Aboard the DO-X for the Trans-Atlantic Flight.

BORDEAUX, France, Nov. 17.—The projected trans-Atlantic flight from Lisbon to New York of the giant Dornier DO-X may be postponed until April or May of next year.

That decision has not yet been made, but there were indications that argue for such a delay. They are:

1—The unfavorable weather at this time of year;
2—The very short winter days, and
3—The limited speed of the DO-X, especially against headwinds, despite the tremendous driving power of its 12 motors, aggregating 7,500 horsepower.

DORNIER UNCERTAIN

The impression that the Atlantic flight may not take place until later is my own. Dr. Claude Dornier, designer and builder of the mammoth ship, made this laconic statement:

"In principle, the Atlantic flight has not been abandoned, but no decisive declaration will be made until we arrive at Lisbon."

The Calshot-Bordeaux flight, with darkness forcing a landing on the Bay of Biscay after only 370 sea miles had been covered impressed some of us that these winter days are too short to fly any great distance over the ocean in the limited daylight hours.

The distance from Lisbon to Horta is about 1,000 miles, which would take the DO-X nine and probably 10 hours at full cruising speed, even if there are no unfavorable winds, and, perhaps, 12 hours, if it is slowed up by headwinds. It was intended to fly the DO-X on its Atlantic hop only in the daylight hours.

WEATHER HOLDS KEY

Dr. Dornier and Capt. Friedrich Christiansen, the ship's commander, are taking their valuable lessons of experience under consideration in deciding whether or not it would be better to postpone the flight to New York until the days get longer.

A streak of exceptionally favorable winds and weather over the Atlantic may still make this winter flight possible.

There is a general agreement that the flight so far has shown that the DO-X has come up fully to expectations for the purposes for which it was originally designed and built; that is, as a practical air liner or giant "air ferry" for distances between 600 and 1,000 or even 1,200 miles, such as from New York to Bermuda, Florida or Havana; or Marseilles to Algiers, Naples or Alexandria, to mention a few possibilities.

ALFONSO MAY SEE SHIP

The wonderful responsiveness of the DO-X in the hands of Flight Capt. Horst Merz were demonstrated when, in the gathing darkness, he flew the huge ship scarcely 35 feet above the surface of the water on the Calshot-Bordeaux hop in order to gain about 10 miles an hour more speed and because the visibility was fading.

If King Alfonso signifies a desire to see the DO-X, there will be a landing at San Sebastian on the way to Lisbond. An invitation to land there was brought to Dr. Dornier by a party of San Sebastian residents.

POWER RING THREAT HIT BY PINCHOT

Governor-Elect Warns U. S. Of Increased Rate Peril In Clarion River Protest

By M. L. RAMSAY.
Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Leaping headlong into the national power fight, Gov.-elect Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, last night denounced the power trust's attempt to break down virtually all control over its finances and the country's hydro-electric resources.

Success of this attempt would force consumers to pay "at least double" the fair rates for electricity, Pinchot declared. It would also make it impossible, he said, for the public ever to regain control of its power resources except by paying inflated prices for the power companies' plants.

AT ODDS WITH HOOVER

While aimed directly at the Clarion River case, which was scheduled for argument in District Supreme Court here today, but later postponed until December 8, Pinchot's statement applied specifically to the rest of the country and brought him into head-on collision with President Hoover.

In the closely related New River case, Mr. Hoover recently obtained, on behalf of the Federal Power Commission, a ruling from the attorney general that federal control over the power companies could be cut to the bone.

The issue in the Clarion case, Pinchot declared, is whether the officially recognized cost of a Clarion River power company hydro-electric plant in Pennsylvania shall be the "actual legitimate investment" of the company's own "padded statement."

DOUBLE CHARGE SEEN

The company claims $11,033,000. Power Commission accounts have recognized as real investment only $4,645,000.

A decision for the company, Pinchot said, "would mean, first, in the case of this company, and later for other companies, that the consumers of current would pay at least double to the owners of the company what they could be required to pay if the finding of the Federal Power Commission is sustained."

Pointing to cigars, dinners $144 worth of neckties and $4,000 for a "grand opening," all charged to plant cost, Pinchot said:

"On such items as these, if the company's contention should be sustained, the people of Pennsylvania who consume its current would be required to pay interest forever.

HIGH RATES CITED

"Moreover, if the company's contention is sustained, every water power plant holding a federal license, not on public lands, will be free to establish such a rate base for calculating its charges to the consumers as it may happen to choose.

"What this means is sufficiently evident from the unbridled overcharges which the Associated Gas and Electric Company and other companies are already collecting in Pennsylvania and throughout the United States."

Associated now controls the Clarion Company. It serves about a third of Pennsylvania and operate in many other states.

Pennsylvania has pending a petition to intervene in the Clarion case. Its action is generally attributed to the influence of Pinchot, who will take office as governor January 1.

BLAME SUICIDE ON GAMBLING

Gambling losses are believed by police to have prompted the suicide of John Verilhay, 18, of 3044 Preble avenue, North Side.

Face down the body of young Verilhay was found in Riverview Park, near the Davis avenue entrance this morning. A revolver was nearby.

According to Michael Verilhay's story to police, he had given his son $163 on Friday night to pay gasoline tax due from the father's service station. The elder Verilhay told police he had since learned that his son had lost the money gambling.

Mrs. Pauline Gregg, of 968 Davis avenue, whose residence adjoins the park, saw the inert form about 10 feet off the park road when she neared the garage in her yard shortly before 7 o'clock. She remembered that Howard Gregg, of the same address, who had heard a single shot fired shortly after last midnight, had mentioned it. The Gregg family dismissed it as a backfire of a passing machine.

$25,000,000 TO AID JOBLESS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(INS.)—The War Department will execute a $25,000,000 construction program to provide work for the nation's jobless.

Secretary of War Hurley announced today that all the funds now available for this work during the remainder of the fiscal year will be utilized in a three-month's drive to furnish work. He will ask Congress next month to appropriate a deficiency appropriation $22,500,000 to carry out the department's program after the funds now on hand have been exhausted.

He said the work will be started immediately.

Weather Conditions.

Pressure is relatively high over New England, Eastport, Me., 30.30 inches, and low over practically all the rest of the country, with centers of disturbance over Manitoba, Winnipeg, 29.16; over Colorado, Denver, 29.34, and over Alberta, Calgary, 29.28. A small secondary appears over Northeastern Ohio, Cleveland, 29.68. Thunderstorms occurred during the night at Parkersburg, and are generally light but heavy in spots occurred over most of the eastern states, in the lake region and rain or snow over the Northern plains and Rockies and westward to the coast. It is much colder in the Upper lakes and the Upper Mississippi Valley and warmer in the Western plains and portions of Utah, New Mexico and Arizona.

30 BANKS CLOSE IN ARKANSAS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Officials of the A. B. Banks Company, Arkansas financial institution, announced today that 30 banks in the state with which the company is affiliated have suspended payments to depositors for a period of five days.

Eight other affiliated banks advised the A. B. Banks Company they were remaining open. The company officials said they had not heard early today from 11 others in the affiliation as to what action they were taking.

The decision of the board of directors of the American Exchange Trust Company of Little Rock, the largest bank in the state, to suspend payments and close for five days resulted in the temporary closing of the others, the Banks Company announced.

A. B. Banks, president of the American Exchange Trust Company, is interested in the other affiliated banks.

Arkansas banking laws provide a bank may suspend payments to depositors for five days and reopen at the end of that period or be placed in the hands of the State Banking Department.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Closing of the National Bank of Kentucky here today was followed by five smaller banks closing as a precautionary measure, four here and one in Franklin, Ky. Meanwhile presidents of the other banks in the city issued statements asserting their institutions were solvent in every respect and would not be affected.

Liberated in 'Pool' Charge, Re-arrested

Discharged at a hearing Saturday after police raided an alleged "numbers" place in a barber shop on Clark street, Al Weiner today was ordered rearrested by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg when he was told that Weiner was the numbers writer at 1508 Clark street, raided by police yesterday. Edward Penn, Negro, was the only man arrested in the raid.

DO-X Pays $5,000 As Briton's 'Guest'

LONDON, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Although the DO-X was greeted by the public as Great Britain's guest, the Daily Herald said today, her officers were presented with a bill for £1.100 (about $5,000) for services rendered at Calshot before she started for Bordeaux. The paper said:

"The Germans were to some extent guests of the Dutch when in their waters. They will be guests also of the French, Spanish, Portuguese and Americans in their waters. But not so here. Every service was charged against the visitor."

DENIES SECRECY TO INFORMERS

Magistrate Leo Rothenberg, today in Central Police Court, issued a revolutionary order in the matter of protecting persons who complain to the police of alleged law infractions in their districts.

Police made two raids in Manila street, arrested two women said to be keeping disorderly places, and two visitors, and reported finding liquor.

When the cases were called for hearing today, Rothenberg said to Lieut. James Hoban and police who made the raids:

"Bring in the persons who reported these places as witnesses to give their testimony tomorrow. You police are bringing a burden upon yourselves by raiding without search warrants. This case is held over until tomorrow. Have the complainants here to tell what they know."

Heretofore the names of complainants have been kept secret.

The raids were made at places said to have been run by Mrs. Jennie Mellin, 42, of 715 Manila street, and Mrs. Cecilia Soloman at another Manila street address. A quart of liquor was reported found in each place.

M'LAUGHLIN TO SURRENDER

Congressman Harry A. Estep, representing Thomas J. McLaughlin, former captain of Troop A, State Police, notified the U. S. marshal's office today that his client would surrender Wednesday. McLaughlin's bond has been set at $10,000.

The former state police officer was indicted last week by the federal grand jury on charges of attempting to evade payment of income taxes for the years 1924 to 1929 inclusive on income totaling around $133,000.

vestigation and if he found that such a statement had been made to arrest Owens. The chief later reported that Owens had made such a statement, and that he had been rearrested. The amount of liquor confiscated, however, was found to be exaggerated. Owens' case will be brought before the grand jury.

"The story to the effect that Magistrate Rothenberg was to be brought before the grand jury for investigation is without foundation. I don't see what the grand jury would have to do with Magistrate Rothenberg's alleged action, unless he should be called as a witness to testify as to Owens' public utterance, which I hardly think will be necessary, as we already have plenty of evidence that Owens made the statement attributed to him.

NOT STARTING PROBE

"This office is not conducting a probe of Magistrate Rothenberg or any other magistrate."

Several months ago District Attorney Park sent a circular letter to magistrates, aldermen and justices of the peace, asking them to co-operate in law enforcement by holding for court racket and liquor cases.

Within 24 hours after fining Owens, Magistrate Rothenberg held for court Mrs. Mary Solomon, 55, of 1526 Cliff street, mother of 13 children, on a charge of violating the Snyder act after police testified to seizing liquor and a still in her home.

Park said he had been getting "very satisfactory co-operation." Magistrates, he asserted, have the right under the law to dispose only of summary conviction cases, such as drunkenness, vagrancy and cases of a similar nature. In the violation of laws, classed as misdemeanors, the magistrate has the right to decide that a prima facie case is made out, and to impose a fine if he thinks that while the defendant is guilty, there is not sufficient evidence to warrant holding him for court.

Park added:

"A magistrate has no right, however, to discharge a man with a fine after he has admitted violation of the law."

'Numbers' Men Fail To Appear, Lose $335

Seven "numbers" men, two of them operators, forfeited $335 when they failed to appear before a McKeesport magistrate this morning. The operators were released on $105 bail each and the number writers on $25 each after arrest.

Milk Poison Plot At Capital Probed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(INS.)—Police today were investigating a milk-poisoning plot, discovered in a residential section. According to the drivers of two milk wagons, poisoners poured a muddy colored and odorous chemical over their cases of milk while they were in apartment houses. They returned the milk to the dairies. Chemists, it was said, found the liquid a mixture of poisons.

Reds Bombard U. S. Shipping in China

HANKOW, China, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Muzzle-loading, cannon manned by Communists along the south bank of the Yangtse River were active today against passing shipping. Three American steamers were attacked, but all escaped with little damage.

WELFARE FUND TOTAL MOUNTS

Additional pledges of $89,413 were reported by Welfare Fund workers today, bringing the total thus far obtained to $740,891, almost one-half the goal, which is $1,520,248, with many women in yesterday's county-wide canvass yet to be heard from.

Central Division day was observed today with volunteer workers in the campaign paying tribute to the divisional members at the noon luncheon in the William Penn Hotel. The division raised $110,148 to date under direction of Mrs. John W. Lawrence and Kenneth Seaver, vice president of Harbison-Walker Company.

Workers report the public continues its hearty response in the request for increased support from the community. Relief cases have increased during every month of the past summer, according to fund officials.

Train Hits Herd Of Cows, Kills 18

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Michael O'Toole was driving his dairy herd across the Wabash Railroad right of way near Birmingham, Mo. A passenger train came around the bend. Eighteen cows were killed and 27 injured.

Prisoner Tells of Debt To Welfare Group

This is one of a series of stories in the lives of Pittsburgh families, printed in connection with the Welfare Fund's campaign for $1,520,248. The names are fictitious.

He had erred and was paying the price—in a prison cell. Harry Craig was resentful toward all welfare institutions before he committed the crime that placed him behind bars. He refused to contribute to their financing campaigns.

A year after Craig was locked up he wrote to the Welfare Fund, just after the present campaign began. His letter tells the story:

"As I entered this place I wondered where my loved ones were. In a few days I received word that they were being cared for by the Family Welfare Association. It was like the dawning of a new day to me. It has kept them together, and every 30 days I enjoy the companionship of those I thought were lost to me. A few days ago I also saw my children. I want you (the Welfare Fund) and the Family Welfare Association to accept my heart-felt thanks and gratitude for the kindness shown my loved ones, made possible through the Welfare Fund."

Deserted by French Bride War Captain Kills Self

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.—(INS.)—The wartime romance of a captain of the American Expeditionary Forces and a pretty French maid that culminated in their wedding in Bordeaux, France, 12 years ago amid all the brilliant trappings of a military wedding, came to a tragic end today with the suicide of the broken-hearted bridegroom.

Detectives learned that back in 1918 Smith, then commander of a convoy ship, married "Marie," with whom he had fallen in love. Later he brought his bride to America and obtained employment as a tugboat captain here. Last week, detectives said, his wife withdrew their savings and fled. Despondent by his two losses, Smith, detectives believe, decided to take his life.

GIRL, PILOT, BROTHER VICTIMS

State Inspector Cites Need Of Stricter Legislation To Protect Passengers

GREENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 17.—Investigations were under way here today in the deaths of a girl and two young men, killed yesterday when an airplane crashed in flames on a farm adjoining the Pittsburgh-Greensburg airport. The dead are Miss Hilda Carnall, 18, of South Greensburg; Edward McCune, 19, and his brother, Caspar, 23, both of Irwin.

The young woman and Edward McCune were dead when removed from the burning plane. Caspar McCune, owner and pilot of the plane, died shortly before midnight in the Westmoreland Hospital. Caspar was piloting the plane with Miss Carnall and his brother in the passenger pit. Thrown clear in the crach, Caspar made a heroic but futile effort to rescue the others.

EXPERT BLAMES PILOT

Larry Faurot, Pennsylvania state aeronautical inspector, concluding an inquiry into the crash, said:

"The accident was caused distinctly by lack of knowledge on the part of the pilot. He took off in cross winds and permitted the wind to blow him into a tree. He hit the ground with his motor wide open and the gas tank was punctured. The free fuel was then ignited."

Airport attaches say the plane had come in from Bettis field yesterday afternoon. Caspar McCune had planned to take his father, John McCune, Irwin automobile dealer, for a ride. The younger brother and the girl prevailed upon him to take them, and the father was left on the field as the three took off for their first ride from the Greensburg port.

FATHER SEES CRASH

The father, anxiously watching his sons and awaiting his turn, witnessed the accident.

According to eye-witnesses, the light plane was caught in a cross wind when slightly more than 100 feet in the air. It plunged suddenly and, in its descent, it crashed into a tree and farming implements. In striking the tree, the ship burst into flames.

When the machine struck the ground, Caspar McCune was seen to run forward in an effort to rescue the others, but he fell before reaching the plane. Airport attaches rushed to the plane with rescue apparatus but the younger boy and girl were dead before they arrived. Caspar was taken to the hospital. His father was removed to his home and he and his wife are under the care of a physician.

Miss Carnall was a graduate of the South Greensburg Junior High School, where she was active in student activities. Caspar McCune is survived by his wife, Mrs. Grace Painter McCune, and a daughter. He was employed by a Pittsburgh automobile concern. The younger McCune was a student at Norwin High Sschool.

Miss Carnall was a telephone operator in Greensburg. Her mother was buried a week ago.

ADMITS VISIT TO NIGHT CLUBS

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Wearily denying reports that she had made a "whoopee" tour of night clubs in Cristobal, Aimee Semple McPherson, noted Los Angeles evangelist, was resting in New York today. She arrived here Sunday on the liner Tolosa from Panama and will leave for the coast within a day or two.

Declaring herself 38 pounds underweight, the evangelist said she was "still shaky" from the nervous breakdown she suffered last August, following a quarrel with her mother, Minnie Kennedy, in which her mother claimed her nose was broken.

VISITED NIGHT CLUBS

Mrs. McPherson did not deny that she travele' under the name of "Mrs. Betty Brown" and admitted she visited night clubs on the trip, but said in using another name she merely did as others brought "into the limelight." She said when she visited the night clubs she drank only lemonade.

At the pier the evangelist was met by F. C. Winters, her business manager, who escorted her to her hotel.

DODGED LIMELIGHT

In a statement Mrs. McPherson said:

"I followed the example of many others who have been forced through public life into almost intolerable limelight. If I wentu nder my own name, I might as well have gone with a brass band and flags flying."

Recalling her collapse in August, the evangelist said she "fully expected to pass on," but now she knew there was still work for her to do.

Mrs. McPherson appeared almost frail and highly nervous. She wore a black dress and shoes and a black toque.

AUTOIST KILLED, FOUR KIN HURT

Max Marcus, 40, a fruit dealer, of 2018 Perrysville avenue, was killed and his wife and three children injured when their machine collided with another car on the Lincoln highway near Ligonier yesterday. Marcus suffered a broken back. The wife and children were treated at the Latrobe Hospital and sent home.

When their automobile plunged over a 30-foot embankment along the Kittanning-Ford City road late last night, Herbert Schultz, 23, of Tarentum, was killed and four others were injured, two seriously. Howard Buckles, 24, and Ethel Callen, 22, of Ford City, are in the Kittanning Hospital. Franklin Stepp, of Tarentum, and Ethel Stephenson, of Ford City, are in the same hospital suffering minor injuries. Police say Schultz was driving the car.

1 HURT, HIT-RUN DRIVER SOUGHT

Police today were searching for the hit-run motorist who forced the automobile of Fire Chief Charles Stack, 32, of East Pittsburgh, over a 200-foot embankment along the old Port Perry road near the new George Westinghouse Bridge. Albert Schott, 22, of 114 Electric avenue, a member of the East Pittsburgh fire department, who was riding with Stack, was bruised about the head and hips.

Joseph Hezlet, 28, of 864 Larimer avenue, Turtle Creek, and Joseph Kerin, 19, of 248 Versailles avenue, Oak Hill, are in serious condition in the Braddock General Hospital as a result of a collision between cars driven by Hezlet and Jacob W. Kram, of 657 Lenox avenue, Forest Hills, in Braddock avenue, Braddock, last night.

Six Hurt in Plunge Of Funeral Car

Six persons riding in a funeral car suffered cuts and bruises yesterday when the machine went over a 30-foot embankment near the West View Cemetery. The machine plunged over the hillside after colliding with another automobile. Those treated at the Allegheny General Hospital were Frank Schzorie, 41; Julia Schzorie, 36, and Josephine Schzorie, 28, all of 2616 Brownsville road; Camillo Romano, 27, of 712 Rebecca street, Wilkinsburg; Antonette Cadello, 16, and her sister, Mary, 4, of 1017 Chestnut street.

Hunt Bootlegger Training Children

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(INS.)—Police today were searching for a bootleg 'Fagin" named "Sol," who trained children to sell his wares. Dominick Foote, 11, charger with transporting liquor told Police "Sol" trained him and his 15-yqear-old brother in the work. He was caught carrying two half gallon jars of alle d liquor.

SISTER SUICIDE, MAN FOLLOWS

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.—(INS.)—Mystery surrounding the disappearance of Armin A. Frankel, 60-year-old missing Chestnut street merchant was solved today with the discovery that he had gone to join his sister in death. The manner of his passing was as mysterious as that of his sister, the former Mrs. Thomas Haskins Graham, a former opera singer of Stroudsburg. Police have termed both deaths suicides.

Frankel's body was found floating in the Delaware River. Physicians said it had been in the water for two weeks. He had not been seen since October 26.

Mrs. Graham, the widowed sister of Frankel, plunged from the roof of the Warburton Hotel here October 9. She was killed instantly. Relatives at first refrained from telling Frankel of his sister's death, due to his illness, but later he learned of it. Then he decided to visit Mrs. Graham's estate, near Stroudsburg. He left, apparently bent on the trip upstate, and that was the last seen of him until his body was recovered yesterday.

Search Continued For Braddock Man

County detectives today were continuing their search for John Sanford, 50, of the Walter Malczewski Hotel, 922 Talbot avenue, Braddock, reported missing since November 8. He wore dark trousers, a blue sweater and gray cap when he disappeared. Sanford was five feet, 10 inches tall and weighcd 175 pounds.

Trench to Address Personnel Group

Members of the Pittsburgh Personnel Association will be addressed by William W. Trench, secretary of the General Electric Company, in the Fort Pitt Hotel tonight. Trench will speak on "Contributory, Unemployment Insurance."

1 SLAIN, 2 SHOT IN CARD FIGHT

One man was dead and two others, a man and his nephew, were in a critical condition today as a result, police say, of a shooting affray which started over a 35-cent wager during a card game in a shed in Edison way, Norwood, the Italian settlement of Stowe Township last night.

The dead man, father of seven children, was Pasquale Fuanella, 35, of 88 Highland avenue, Norwood. The other victims, Andy Belluscio, 38, and his nephew, Nick Diglia, 17, both of 90 Highland avenue, were reported near death from bullet wounds. Belluscio was shot below the heart and Diglia wounded in the abdomen.

Police Chief Thomas Saunders, of Stowe Township, declared the shooting began when Fuanella, apparently intoxicated, came back to the game and threw down the 35 cents due the players. Fuanella was alleged to have opened fire on Belluscio, who was said to have also drawn a revolver.

When the smoke of their blazing guns cleared, Fuanella was picked up with a half dozen wounds in his body and Belluscio and his nephew with one each.

Fuanella was employed in the foundry of the Pressed Steel Car Company. Belluscio has three children.

'Numbers' Tabs, Rum Confiscated in Raid

Books for writing clearing-house numbers, an adding machine and moonshine liquor were confiscated, police said, in a raid upon the home of Edward Penn, a Negro, at 1528 Clark street. Lieut. William J. Lavery, who directed the raid, charged Penn with keeping a disorderly house.

Ammel Set to Hop North to Chicago

COLON, C. Z., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Capt. Roy W. Ammel, the Chicago broker who made a non-stop flight from New York here last week, will take off on another non-stop flight to Chicago Tuesday or Wednesday, depending upon the weather.

Democrats Now Vote G.O.P., Other Way Didn't Work

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Those jolly old Democrats have promised not to embarrass the administration by selling apples in front of the White House.

That job is a selective appointment, anyway.

If Tom had only held his hosses he could have still been in Washington fraternizing to his heart's content.

It's popular now. When a Democrat meets a Republican he says:

"Geody, goody, it's your turn to chase me."

Then they indulge in that innocent sport of Pennsylvania political childhood known as contesting a seat.

Democrats are now voting as Republicans. They tried the other way and it didn't work.

This armistice has eliminated a lot of parliamentary hypocrisy. Now that all the boys are friends there is less handshaking.

The moratorium means a new lease on Potomac life to a lot of politicians who were about to be appointed resident consuls in the Smithsonian Institute.

Whether or not the scheme will work is a theory that has not yet met Einstein.

All we can do is to wonder. Curiosity killed the cat. But information brought it to life again.

Hoover Urged to Cut U.S. Employes' Hours

CHICAGO, Nov. 17. — (AP.) — The Chicago Federation of Labor asked national headquarters to petition President Hoover for action to curtail the working-day week of federal employes so that more jobs would be available. A special resolution was adopted, stating that a sufficient reduction would enable work to be found for 150,000 more persons.

PILSUDSKI WINS IN POLAND

WARSAW, Poland, Nov. 17.—(INS.)—Marshal Joseph Pilsudski, bitterly opposed by various political factions, today had achieved an electoral victory assuring him a legalized dictatorship for another five years.

Fighting desperately to obtain a two-thirds majority in the Sejm needed to carry through a program of constitutional reform, Pilsudski administered a forceful defeat to the oppositionist bloc. Latest estimates showed that the government bloc increased its former voting strength from 122 to 246, leaving the party 54 seats short of the 300 desired for complete parliamentary control.

The final gap, however, was expected to be filled in by the support of the National Democrats, who gained 60 seats.

Better Educated Women Earn More

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The better educated she is the more a woman earns. The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs has found annual median earnings of women to be: Doctors of philosophy, $3,167; masters of arts or of science, $2,349; bachelors of arts or of science, $1,759; normal school graduates, $1,506; high school graduates, 1,463; grammar school graduates, 1,480; college graduates, 1,867; non-graduates, $1,529

Robbed, He Wants Resolutions Back

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—The robbers who held up John W. Woods, director of physical education at the Oak Park High School, may keep the money they took if they will give him back his resolutions. He told police:

"I was returning from a meeting of the Illinois State Soccer Association and they took papers containing resolutions. I want them back."

CUBAN RED PLOT AIMS AT U. S.

HAVANA, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—A special guard of police today patrolled the area about the American embassy here as precaution after discovery of an alleged Communist plot against American property.

The government revealed the plot sought American intervention in Cuba, the conspirators reasoning this would materialize if American property were destroyed. Ambassador Harry F. Guggenheim expressed confidence the government had the situation in hand.

All of Cuba appeared quiet over the week-end. In Havana there were countless promenaders, just as if the week had not seen riots and student disorders which eventually led to open fighting, with seven dead, and brought martial law and suspension of constitutional guarantees to the city.

Cafes, dance halls and other places of amusement are reopening.

Widow of Scripps, Publisher, Dead

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Mrs. Mackie Holtsinger Scripps, 64, widow of E. W. Scripps, millionaire newspaper publisher and one of the founders of the Scripps-Howard chain of newspapers, died at Miramar, near here last night. Mrs. Scripps was taken ill of pneumonia while on a tour of the world with her son-in-law, Thomas Meanley, and returned eight weeks ago to Miramar.

Survivors are her son, Robert Scripps; two daughters, Mrs. Thomas Meanley, and Miss Dolla B. Scripps, and 16 grandchildren.

STRIKERS RIOT IN BARCELONA

BARCELONA, SPAIN, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—A general strike commenced here this morning with shooting and disorders on the streets. Mobs attacked trams and buses. Business and industry quickly shut down.

The strike developed here as that at Madrid ended.

The strike of transport workers, which has been in effect for several days, was augmented first by a sympathetic walkout of construction workers. Others joined the walkout rapidly, and it had every appearance of becoming general.

Street cars, buses, and taxis were running early in the morning but it appeared that a shortage of gasoline would force many to quit with the passing of the hours.

Beer Seized, 6 Held In North Side Raid

A quantity of home brew was confiscated and six persons were arrested when North Side police raided an alleged disorderly house at 117 Mendota street, North Side. Mrs. Rose Mooch, 30, was charged with maintaining the establishment and four men and a woman were arrested as visitors.

Gratitua. Due Party Chairmen, Coolidge Says

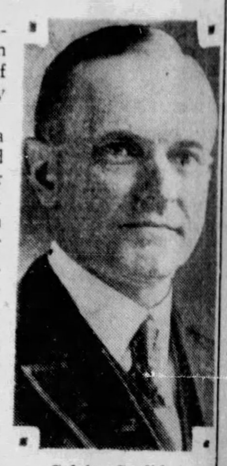
NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Nov. 17.

To the Editor of the Sun-Telegraph:

The popular diversion exhibited in the sport world of killing the umpire and taking out the pitcher, when transferred to the political world becomes a demand for the resignation of the party chairman.

Some time ago one of these dispatches pointed out that chairmen are necessary under our system of party government. They are usually entitled to gratitude and respect.

Senator Fess was drafted at a difficult time. He is an honest, and conscientious man of high character with a record for distinguished public service. If his party did not win the last national election no other party won a majority in Congress. As chairman and senator he is entitled to respectful consideration. The same is due to others. There are some in his party who disagree with him. That would be true of anyone. Chairman Raskob has some in his party who disagree with him. They have suggested his retirement.



Calvin Coolidge

Probably both Senator Fess and Mr. Raskob would be delighted to be relieved of their office. Neither one is likely to be driven out by attacks. With divergent opinion on so many subjects the sane procedure for both parties is to make the most of a chairman of ability and character.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

DEMAND GROWS FOR STEEL PIPE

CLEVELAND, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Development of electrically-welded pipe for distribution of oil, natural gas and gasoline has increased the demand for steel pipe to such an extent that potential requirement for the next three to five years is from 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 tons, it is estimated.

The growth of probable demand to such vast proportions is ascribed to the greater distances to which pipe lines may now be stretched by use of electrically welded and seamless pipe which is built to withstand high pressure.

Whereas the present potential electric-welded pipe production per year is only 2,200,000 tons, the survey indicates a probable demand of between 3,000,000 and 5,000,000 tons.

WOMEN VOTERS MEET SLATED

Members of the educational committee of the Dormont-Mt. Lebanon League of Women Voters will be addressed by W. F. Kennedy, associated superintendent in charge of the platoon schools of Pittsburgh at a meeting Wednesday.

The meeting is to be held in the home of Mrs. R. W. Kinsey, 1152 Dormont avenue, Dormont, in connection with education week.

STATE PRODUCT SALES AIDED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—William L. Cooper, in his annual report on the work of the Bureau of Domestic and Foreign Commerce, of which he is the chief, said the bureau aided Pennsylvania manufacturers in finding a wide variety of world markets in the last fiscal year.

He listed a market for ventilating equipment in China, supplied by Pennsylvania factories; heavy jacks in India, machines and tools in France, pipe and pipe fittings in Canada and Guatemala, transmission belting in England, brass products in Java, fruit in Europe, mine appliances in Brazil, Japan, China and Turkey; electrical products in England, Australia and Africa; vending machines in Canada and Uruguay; rubber products in Germany, and glassware in Australia, the Philippines, China and Latin America.

Additionally, "an agency was established for a Pittsburgh manufacturer of gas masks in Turkey," Cooper said.

Man Stabs Dancer, Self, After Rebuff

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17.—(Universal.)—Elsie Maloney, 21-year-old white dancer, accepted the gifts, including two automobiles, of Frank Domingo. But she spurned the Filipino's plea of marriage. That led to a quarrel. Domingo stabbed her eight times and then plunged the butcher knife into his stomach. Both are expected to die.

In Bed Blindfolded 7 Years, 'Peeved' Man Gets Up

MARION, Ind., Nov. 17.—(INS.)—Harry Havens, of Jonesboro, Ind., decided to get out of bed after remaining in it for seven years with a blindfold over his eyes to "get even" with his wife. Havens determined to forget his peeve.

Taking a new interest in his surroundings, Havens went to pay the taxes on his home only to learn from the records that the house is owned by William Crawford, a roomer.

He became peeved all over again and filed a petition here which charges that his wife helped a trusted friend get possession of his home during the seven-year nap.

BATTLE FATAL, MAN JAILED

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 17.—John Renners, 46, proprietor of a boarding house at Hendersonville, is being held in the county jail today, accused of fatally injuring Frank Kluska, 40, one of his boarders, during a fist fight in the Renners home last night. Knocked to the floor during the altercation, Kluska is said to have suffered a broken neck when his head struck a coal bucket.

FEWER DEATHS IN INDUSTRY

HARRISBURG, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Statistics on industrial accidents for the first 10 months of the year made public by the Department of Labor and Industry revealed 1,500 workers lost their lives in 1930, as against 1,673 during the same period last year. The decrease of 173 represents a percentage of 10.4.

A similar condition occurred in the non-fatal group of activities, where the total thus far this year is 172,633 contrasted to the 138,523 in 1929, a drop of 11.5 per cent.

The general industrial group claimed the greatest toll of life and injury thus far this year with 697 killed and 77,837 injured in industrial plants and other activities. Coal mining is a close second, 688 miners losing their lives and 38,606 being injured, while transportation and public utilities claimed 115 lives with 6,190 additional persons injured.

$500,000 Fire Razes Waukegan Hotel

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Damage estimated at $500,000 was done by fire which razed a three-story building in downtown Waukegan. The flames swept six stores located on the ground floor, and through the new Central Hotel, which occupied the second and third stories. All guests of the hotel escaped unhurt.

CLOTHES, TOYS APPEAL MADE

An appeal for wearing apparel and unwanted toys has been made by the Goodwill Industries, 2801-17 Liberty avenue. The toys and clothing will be mended for distribution during the holiday season.

A. G. Curry, director, announced that trucks would be sent to any home where such articles can be obtained.

Deaf Mute Causes Arrest of Masher

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(Universal.)—The first instance of a deaf and dumb girl causing the arrest of a masher occurred here.

Jenny Lichon caused the arrest of Jacob Goldstein. She was forced to make her complaint and answer questions of the court in writing. Goldstein denied the charge but was found guilty.

CHURCH WARNS DRYS TO UNITE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP) (Universal.)—Warning to dry organizations to unite in a "militant federation" to meet the onslaughts of anti-prohibition forces was sounded by the public morals board of the Methodist Episcopal Church today.

Defeat for any party or any candidate for Congress or the political convention in 1932—"who is not loyal to the fundamental right of democracy—the right to achieve effective decisions at the polls"—was demanded.

The appeal was made in connection with a survey of the poll taken by the anti-prohibition forces in the November 4 elections.

Hurling a broadside at the Republican party in New York state, the board in its "clipsheet contended that the G. O. P. there was "committing suicide" in turning against prohibition.

VOLSTEAD ACT REPEAL URGED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Representative Beck, (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, urged repeal of the Volstead act by Congress, thereby leaving enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment "to the political discretion of the several states.

Beck, a former solicitor general of the United States and an anti-prohibitionist, said the recent elections had shown that prohibition will be the dominent issue in American politics for at least a decade and probably a generation, adding that "any political party that tries to side-step it will be doomed to defeat."

Although holding repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment to be the "ultimate objective," the Pennsylvanian attacked as unwise those advocating outright repeal at this time. He contended at least 20 states would quickly block the move.

DRY LAW SAFE, W.C.T.U. TOLD

HOUSTON, Texas, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Delegates to the national convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union rose in an enthusiastic demonstration here after they were told that severe defeat would be given any anti-dry presidential candidate.

Dr. Mary Harris Armor, head of evangelistic work for the organization, was the speaker.

Dr. Armor charged "a few multimillionaires" were behind a campaign for beer with the hope that a beer tax would save them taxes.

President Ella A. Boole's recommendations for 20 or more regional campaign conferences next winter, instead of the usual national convention, and for a wider educational campaign in support of prohibition were accepted.

KILLING MARKS ARSON RAID

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—One man was shot to death and three others are held as the result of what police said was an arson plot involving $3,000 insurance.

The man killed was Edward Merreighn, 38, an ex-convict. Those held are Edward Mackin, a farmer, who owned the house they are alleged to have plotted to fire; Logan Debord, a real estate dealer, and Robert Powell, 17.

Police said they received advance information that the trio held had employed Merreighn to burn the house, which was in flames when they arrived.

The officers found Merreighn at his home with young Powell. At their approach, they said, the man reached for a pistol and Detective Dennis Bennett shot him through the heart.

Hunter, Mistaken For Deer, Killed

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Ben Hanson, 66, of Minneapolis, was instantly killed by Oscar Johnson, Virginia, Minn., when he was mistaken for a deer while hunting in the vicinity of Little Fork, in Koochiching County. This was the third fatal hunting accident reported since Friday. Hanson was fully equipped for the woods, but wore no red, the color adopted by hunters for protection.

Mrs. Hoover Returns From Visit to Son

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the President, returned from Asheville, N. C., where she visited her son, Herbert Hoover, Jr., who is convalescing there from illness. Mrs. Hoover left here Thursday night for her first trip to the temporary home of her son.

Woman, 68, Ends Life By Drowning in Tub

ONEONTA, N. Y., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Miss Jane L. Hoxie, 68, committed suicide at Edmeston, north of here, by drowning in the bathtub. She had been ill and was said to have feared insanity. Seven years ago a brother committed suicide in Chicago for the same reason.

I'm always glad to see Monday coming. To me it means the start of another week that will give a lot of my little girl friends real joy. You see, my "Tickletoes" doll distribution is now well under way. Many little girls have already received my wonder doll, and before the end of the week, hundreds more will have them. And every time I give a "Tickletoes" away it gives me added joy, because I know that I have contributed to the happiness of another little girl—real Christmas happiness.

But I don't want to be misunderstood. I am ready to give one of my wonder "Tickletoes" dolls to every little girl in Pittsburgh and vicinity who will do something for me. And what I am going to ask you to do is so simple that you'll be surprised and delighted. It isn't anything that any little girl can't do. She may need the help of mother or "dad" or brother and sister—but it's really something easy.

Let me tell you about my new WONDER DOLL. All the little girls who have seen "Tickletoes" can't resist loving her, and naturally they would love her because she's so lifelike, and what little girl doesn't love a real live baby? She is the happiest doll you ever saw, dressed elegantly in pink organdy with real stockings, cute little moccasins, rubber panties and a darling cap with lace ribbons on it. Her legs and arms are of rubber and her soft little toes and fingers are just like a real live baby's. She is unbreakable and has three different voices and is 21 inches tall—just about as long as this newspaper page.

Now, if you want a "Tickletoes" for all your very own, to love and to take care of, clip out the coupon, fill it in, and send it to your friend, the

FATHER GIVEN LIFE IN SLAYING

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Taylor W. Hott, 35, was sentenced today to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary for the killing of his three children who were drowned in a quarry pool here last July 21.

Hott recently pleaded guilty to three indictments charging him with first degree murder. He was re-arraigned today at a hearing to fix the degree of the crime. The defendant made no statement and the court fixed the penalty at life imprisonment on each of the three counts against him.

In a confession following his arrest, Hott said he threw the children into the pool because he was unable to obtain employment and did not know how he could care for them. He said he believed he must have been temporarily insane.

LONDON PARLEY HEARS INDIAN

LONDON, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru, first Indian spokesman at the round table conference which went to work at St. James' palace today, declared British statesmanship was on trial before the eyes of the whole world. He told Premier Ramsay MacDonald, who presided:

"An anxious restless India is watching you. We have come amidst the jibes of our countrymen and already have been called traitors to the Indian cause."

Sir Tej, who recently conducted negotiations with Mahatma Gandhi in India in an effort to find a settlement of the Indian problem, expressed the hope that the round table conference would settle India's future satisfactorily.

4 DIE, 35 HURT IN TORNADOES

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 17.—(INS.)—Relief agencies throughout Louisiana, Georgia, Mississippi and Alabama today attempted to ascertain the exact number of deaths and the extent of property damage caused by a series of tornadoes.

Early reports indicated that at least four persons were killed and 35 injured. Property damage will mount into the millions of dollars, it was estimated. Communications were severed in many of the stricken localities.

Rural settlements in and about Brookhaven, Miss., suffered heavily from the storm. Mrs. George Davis was killed when her home was crushed by the gale. A Negro infant was dashed against a tree and killed at Winnsboro, La. Two unidentified Negroes were reported killed near Alexandria, La.

Five white persons and 30 Negroes were injured when the tornado swept Mississippi. A house crowded with Negroes gathered for a funeral was demolished, and 22 of its occupants hurt. In Franklin County many houses, barns and rural buildings were smashed.

WRECKS SAFE, LEAVES CASH

GREENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 17.—A cracksman blew the safe in the Wilson Packing Company plant here early today, but left $120 in the cash box when he fled. The heavy charge of nitroglycerin caused $400 damage to the office. Bloodstains indicated the burglar was injured.

Memorial to Flag Designer Unveiled

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—A memorial to Orren Randolph Smith, designer of the Confederate flag, was unveiled in the church yard of the Calvary Episcopal Church at Fletcher, near here, known as the "Westminster Abbey of the South," because of its numerous memorials to Southern heroes.

The dedication was attended by the vanguard of the general convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy which opens here Tuesday, and hundreds of visitors.

Designer of Iron Plant Here Dies

Man Shoots Driver For Tooting Horn

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(INS.)—Tooting of an automobile horn annoys Anton Kral, a printer, and he was to appear in court today to tell all about his pet peeve.

SERVICE GAME FREE TO FEW

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Final plans for the Army-Navy football game at the Yankee Stadium on December 13 for the benefit of the nation's jobless will be made today. Grover A. Whalen and his Salvation Army citizens' committee will meet with representatives of the two service schools.

The game will be strictly a benefit, only the corps of the West Point and Annapolis being admitted free. Tickets will be $5 each and will be distributed by both the Army and Navy committee. A warning was issued not to pay money for tickets until later and to guard against bogus tickets.

Major P. B. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics at the military academy, announced all proceeds from the game would be given to the Salvation Army. Press representatives, photographers and radio men will have to purchase tickets.

MAN WINS 2ND RIPLEY PRIZE

William M. Brown, of 176 Woodside road, Forest Hills, has been named winner of the second prize in the first Ripley Title Hunt Contest, conducted by the Sun-Telegraph.

With more than 32,000 contestants in the field, Brown succeeded in placing a set of answers in a form which placed him in the winning section. His returns neatly copied and bound, were selected by the judges as being among the best received.

The first prize was awarded to Miss Sara Pitley, of 1221 Oklahoma avenue, Dormont. This marked the conclusion of the first Ripley Title Hunt.

The Sun-Telegraph, gratified with the response with which the first contest was met, immediately decided upon another in which the diligent may profit. Fifteen hundred dollars in prizes is being offered for the most original and correct set of answers. The rules of the second Ripley Title Hunt are the same as those in the first contest, easily understood. The hunt, according to those who participated in the first, is fascinating and easy—if one is wide-awake. Begin the contest today—it will be well worth your while.

Kellogg Attends Press Anniversary

THE HAGUE, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Former Secretary of State Kellogg was among the international figures attending the celebration of the fifth anniversary of the founding of the Foreign Press Association.

Kellogg, American member of the World Court, came here during a lull in his judicial duties. He expects to find time for a trip to the United States when the court finishes examination of the Franco-Swiss zone case early in December.

Stone Battle Ends In Death of Boy, 13

NORTHFORK, W. Va., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—A stone battle near here took the life of a 13-year-old boy and resulted in the arrest of five other boys, whose ages ranged from 8 to 15 years. They were held in the Norfolk jail, pending a hearing before Justice of the Peace J. A. Lay, today.

Norman's parents said he had been threatened by the other boys and that for several days he had been afraid to talk with them and had hidden upon their approach

Medal Won by Old Skyscraper Design

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—For conspicuous work in developing the skyscraper type which is giving New York its majestic sky line, Cass Gilbert, architect, has been awarded a gold medal by the Society of Arts and Sciences. Although the Woolworth Building, which he designed, has lost its supremacy, as the largest, it is described by the society as an epochal landmark in the history of architecture.

1916 Munitions Blast Laid to Mosquitoes

MACON, Ga., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Mosquitoes are blamed by Ervin J. Smith, private detective, for the Black Tom munitions explosion in New Jersey in 1916, of which Germany has been absolved by the Mixed Claims Commission. Smith says workmen were so bothered by the insects that they built a fire, and a freight car loaded with shells got ablaze and started the blast.

Bandits Take $1,000 From Collector

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Charleston police are searching for two bandits who held up M. V. McCollam, collector for a chain grocery store, and robbed him of $1,500. The bandits, McCollam said, entered his automobile and forced him to drive to a quiet street where they took the money, ordered him to leave the car and drove away.

URGE FREE HAND IN CHILD FUNDS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Greater flexibility in the terms of child welfare bequests will be recommended to the White House conference on child health and protection which opens Wednesday night with an address by President Hoover.

A report prepared by a committee headed by Homer Folks, of New York, made public today, said rigid terms prescribed in gifts was a serious handicap. It recommended that the precise methods of carrying out the bequests be left "to the wisdom of the future," continuing:

"The dead hand, functioning through endowments, gifts and foundations given under rigid terms which limit the types of childhood to be cared for and specifying the precise methods of care, is one of the most serious handicaps to satisfactory provisions for needy and neglected children.

"Endowments, gifts and foundations for child care should be in general and flexible terms."

Door of Box Car Kills 'Hitch' Rider

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—An unidentified man who was "hitching" a ride in an empty refrigerator car, was choked to death by the sudden closing of the door as he was leaving the car. The train's movement was believed to have caused the door to slide shut on the man's neck. Papers indicated he may have been from Natrona Heights, Pa.

Chatfield, Wartime Hoover Aide, Dies

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Frederick Huntington Chatfield, retired paper manufacturer and wartime aid of President Hoover in Belgian relief work, is dead here. He served on the war trade board after the United States entered the World War.

MILLIONS SPENT TO AID NEGROES

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—The Julius Rosenwald fund, for its fiscal year ended June 30, has reported a total expenditure of $1,819,655 in its work for Negro welfare, moderate cost medical care, General educational experiments and contributions to study of social problems and public Administration. Pledges for future work total over $5,000,000.

Of the total expenditures the fund put $1,317,739 into its work for Negroes, most of which went for the erection of schools. Since 1913, the report said, it has aided 5,975 schools of all grades, with a total capacity of 612,495 pupils and a total cost of $25,392,272 supplying varying proportions of the cost. All are in Southern states. For Negro health the fund expended, $163,815, from endowment of nurses, establisment of clinics and other measures.

Mother of 4 Slain, Husband Faces Quiz

KINGSTON, N. Y., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Mrs. Rozario Abata, 40, mother of four children of from 9 to 15 years, was found shot to death in her beauty shop here. Police detained her husband for investigation. They said they had no clue to the killer. Three of the children found the body on the way home from church.

Jugo-Slavia Cedes Hungary 500 Acres

BUDAPEST, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Hungary today became enlarged by 500 acres by a treaty clause by which Jugo-Slavia was held to pay Hungary a large sum for a certain stream regulation previously effected by her in Zala County. Jugo-Slavia preferred to pay with land, ceding 500 acres of forest land and paying $50,000 cash.

Women Identify Men Found Dead in Boat

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Two handsomely gowned women, who kept their identities secret told officials that two men found dead yesterday from asphyxiation in an alcohol laden speed boat had lived in Long Beach.

One of the men, it was said, was Charles L. McRae, 22, the other Walter H. Williams.

Paymaster, Driver, Slain by Bandits

DURANGO, Mexico, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—John Strayer, French paymaster for the Montoris mine and his chauffeur were killed by bandits who attacked their car near the village of Encinal while en route to the mine with a $2,500 payroll. Guards accompanying the paymaster killed the bandits and the others fled without obtaining any money.

CROWD TO HEAR CHESTERTON

Plans for the reception of Gilbert K. Chesterton, English author and lecturer, were to be completed today by Duquesne University officials. Chesterton is to speak at Memorial Hall tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock under the sponsorship of the university. The author will arrive tomorrow at 5 o'clock, making the William Penn Hotel his headquarters.

"The Inhumanity of Humanism" is Chesterton's subject for his special Pittsburgh address. He is now on an American tour.

Chesterton will be accompanied by his wife and a secretary upon his arrival in Pittsburgh. The Rev. Dr. James F. Carroll, vice president of Duquesne University, in charge of the extensive plans undertaken by the university to greet the noted Britain while in this city at the university's behest. The entire student body, and faculty of Duquesne together with hundreds of the alumni and members of campus organizations will attend the Chesterton lecture tomorrow night.

CHURCH OPENS NEW ADDITION

The new $275,000 addition to the Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church, Atlanta avenue, Dormont, was dedicated yesterday at special morning services. Dr. George B. Cutten, president of Colgate University, preached the dedicatory sermon, his subject being "Will Religion Survive."

Last night the Rev. Dr. C. Wallace Petty, pastor of the First Baptist Church, was the speaker. Further services in observance of the dedication of the new building will be held Sunday, with Dr. John M. Moore, general secretary of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ and Professor Gaius J. Slosser of the Western Theological Seminary as speakers.

The original edifice, erected at a cost of $100,000, was insufficient to house the growing congregation. The new building will seat 800 persons. It contains a "Fellowship Hall." Sunday school rooms and a modern kitchen. The Rev. Edward Bleakney is pastor.

Man, Woman Killed In Erie Accidents

Christmas Expansions

Important re-arrangements and enlargements of certain departments on the Main Floor have been made during the past week.

Jewelry and Handbags have been greatly expanded to permit the proper display of the large stocks of beautiful and distinctive merchandise which the buyers of these sections have been busily assembling for many months in anticipation of this time.

Clocks have been moved into the section between the Men's Store and the East Store entrances, formerly occupied by the Men's Gift Section. The latter, which includes smokers' articles, leather articles and men's novelties, has been given a larger space adjacent to the Men's Furnishing Section.

Silverware has been moved through the arch into the West Store into spacious and beautifully appointed quarters.

Umbrellas, another popular Christmas section, have been moved to the left of the West Store Penn Avenue entrance. These changes serve to advise early Christmas shoppers of our readiness to serve them immediately.

GOSSIP FROM HOLLYWOOD AND GOTHAM ALONG WITH LOCAL THEATER NEWS

Laura La Plante Returns To Screen for Role In 'Lonely Wives'

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1930, by Pacific Newspaper Service.)

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 17.

They all come back. Laura La Plante, who hasn't made a picture since last January, will play one of the three feminine leads in Pathe's "Lonely Wives."

Strange as it may seem, M. G. M. wouldn't loan Marie Dressler for a part in this picture. Pathe got Ila with, however, about Edward Everett Horton. He reports for work as soon as he finishes "Reaching for the Moon," with Douglas Fairbanks.

Laura La Plante

The last film work Laura La Plante did was at Universal, when her contract ran out, she decided to content herself with being Mrs. William Seiter. But like many others, she couldn't resist a comeback.

Russell Mack directs "Lonely Wives."

OLD FRIENDS MEET

His name is E. J. Babille.

In the days of the old Essanay studios in Chicago, he was casting director. Gloria, then a student at the Art Institute, applied for a job and Babille gave her a chance.

Passing years brought the former casting director to Pathe, where he worked with Gloria on "The Trespasser."

POPULAR SIDELINE

Vera Lewis, the character actress, has opened an antique shop on Sunset boulevard. She is the third Hollywood player to go into this business. Bill Haines and Eddie Nugent are proprietors of shops.

I NOTE THAT Dolores Del Rio is seen constantly these days on the Fox lot. . .No contract is signed as yet, but there's talk. . . The assistance league charges film mothers only 10 cents a day for the care of their children in the league's day nursery. . .Many prominent Pasadena families, who used to rent their homes to location troupes, are now turning down offers. The reason being that the film companies now insist on dogs, children, etc., being kept quiet. . .Clara Bow probably is one of the few people in the country who could crash page 1 by firing a secretary. . .Eisenstein wanted to direct Eric Maria Remarque's second novel, but he and Universal couldn't agree on terms. . .Esther Ralston isn't to be a contract player at M. G. M. for the same reason. . .Al Martin, former title writer, has written and published a humorous booklet called "Dog Gone Hollywood." It's the adventure of a police dog who tried to crash the movies. . . Fritz Kreisler recently played a concert here, giving eight encores, while running a temperature of 102. . .He's well now.

Things I Never Knew Till Now
(But which you knew all along!)

That among other things that burn me up and knock me colder than a critic who takes his job seriously are the Apple Growers who "explain their weekly price tilts on the unemployed apple peddlers.

"The scarcity," they say, "forces us to raise the prices."

That our recent "apple growers expose" brought more letters from "appreciative readers" than anything we have written.

That in order to make it even more burglar-proof, the vault of the new Irving Trust Company will be surrounded by a wall of water.

That the phone company here handles about 100 calls a second.

That when the Motor License Bureau opened on 40th St., a mess of slow-thinkers opened stores all over the street to sell you photos of yourself for your license. So what happened? The Motor License Bureau recently moved away downtown, and now they are stuck with long leases.

That hat-lifting isn't a sign of respect in all countries, you dope. In the East to remove your headdress is a grave discourtesy.

That a chimpanzee laughs audibly like a human being when tickled. It is, perhaps, the only animal that actually laughs.

That in NYC an average of 5,000 watches are hocked daily.

That many dextrous (oop!) firemen break the monotony of waiting for the gong by making dainties such as miniature cedar chests, jewel boxes and other knick-knacks! What! No knitting?

That the late William Bolitho's theory was that if you wrote for ten years your stuff would live.

That Ohio censors have the power to censor Hoover's film talks.

That Chicago has the strictest kind of flicker censorship, but look what's happened there!

That J. L. Ryan, head of Wurlitzer's, and other Westchester Country Club golfers are using every influence to have crows up there strangled or something because they keep yelling: "Fore!"

That Nebraska newspapers never announce blessed events in advance. S'naughty and wicked, by gum! And they hang pictures!!!

That the Notre Dame team has a coupla guys named Skeekeetski and Vik. The first should give the other some of his vowels.

That one of the heads of the Unemployment Relief Committee here is also the vice-president of a bank. He fired 150 the other day.

That a noted songwriter's mother died recently leaving him plenty of coin. After her funeral he hurled a huge whoopee party and got plastered. When he woke up he learned that his estranged wife had attached the inheritance for back alimony.

That there are more lights on the west side of Broadway between 42d St. and 53d than on the East Side.

That Edgar Allan Poe wrote the first Broadway column.

That a new play due in January which has a Main Stem columnist as its chief character has him shot in the last act. Tee, hee.

That Daniel Webster's correct name is Daniel Wabster.

That the last line "God knows it's simple" in the ditty "Sing Something Simple," on certain broadcasting stations must be etherized in this manner: "Lord knows it's simple." Fevvensakesalive!

That Racine said all anger is an excess of love.

That one of the street's oldest banking houses which backed the reorganization of a certain film firm is in a very very bad way.

That the critic on the old Mail who led Variety's critic's box score three times in a row was James E. Craig and he was not fired, but was promoted and is now one of the town's better chief editorial scriveners.

That Adam Thompson, a wealthy grain and cotton dealer of Cincinnati, was the first to own a bathtub. This was in 1842. He invited a group of men to dinner and after dining they were invited to try out the new device. The following day the story was in the papers and Thompson was attacked by politicians and health officials!

That the newly elected Sheriff of Chicago, William D. Meyering, carries two guns, but only has one arm.

That of the people who have lived to be 100 years of age 1,561 were men and 2,076 were femmes.

That the exact length of Broadway (within the city limits) of Greater New York is fifteen and one-half miles.

That one of the better known mouth washes is said to be better in motor car radiators than alcohol.

That the first newspaper ever published was The Peking Gazette from 714 to 741. The earliest know rag in the United States was called "Public Utterances" and issued in 1690.

And to settle all disputes among people with Civic Pride let it be jotted down now that the busiest corner in the world is at 7th and Broadway, Los Angeles. This is the most congested intersection of them all.

Hyde Park Corner, London runs second, 42d St. and 5th Ave. is third, and the others are not in the money. So there!

HARRIS AGAIN OFFERS VAUDEVILLE ACTS ON STAGE

Stage vaudeville came back into the Harris Saturday, and it was well received. J. P. Morton presented a company of four in a skit, and he gave a curtain speech that got a lot of laughs. Harry Hines handed out a snappy monologue and did a song or two. A well-arranged exhibition of dancing was staged in an act titled "Black and Silver Revue." Other entertainers on the vaudeville bill included O'Brien and Josephine and the David and Glass Trio.

The screen feature was "Extravagance." It is, as the ads herald it, a "romance of fashions and passions." June Collyer, Lloyd Hughes, Owen Moore and Dorothy Christy are prominent in the cast. And, of course, the hero wins the heroine at the finale.

Tuberculosis League Names Physicians

The Tuberculosis League of Pittsburgh announces the appointment of Dr. W. Roderick Brown and Dr. Albert Paul Knott to its dispensary staff. The appointments are the forerunner of an intensive educational campaign teaching prevention and care of tuberculosis to the Negroes of the county which the league hopes to be in a position to inaugurate. The physicians were selected and recommended to the league by the Afro-American League of Pittsburgh as being among the outstanding Negro physicians in this district.

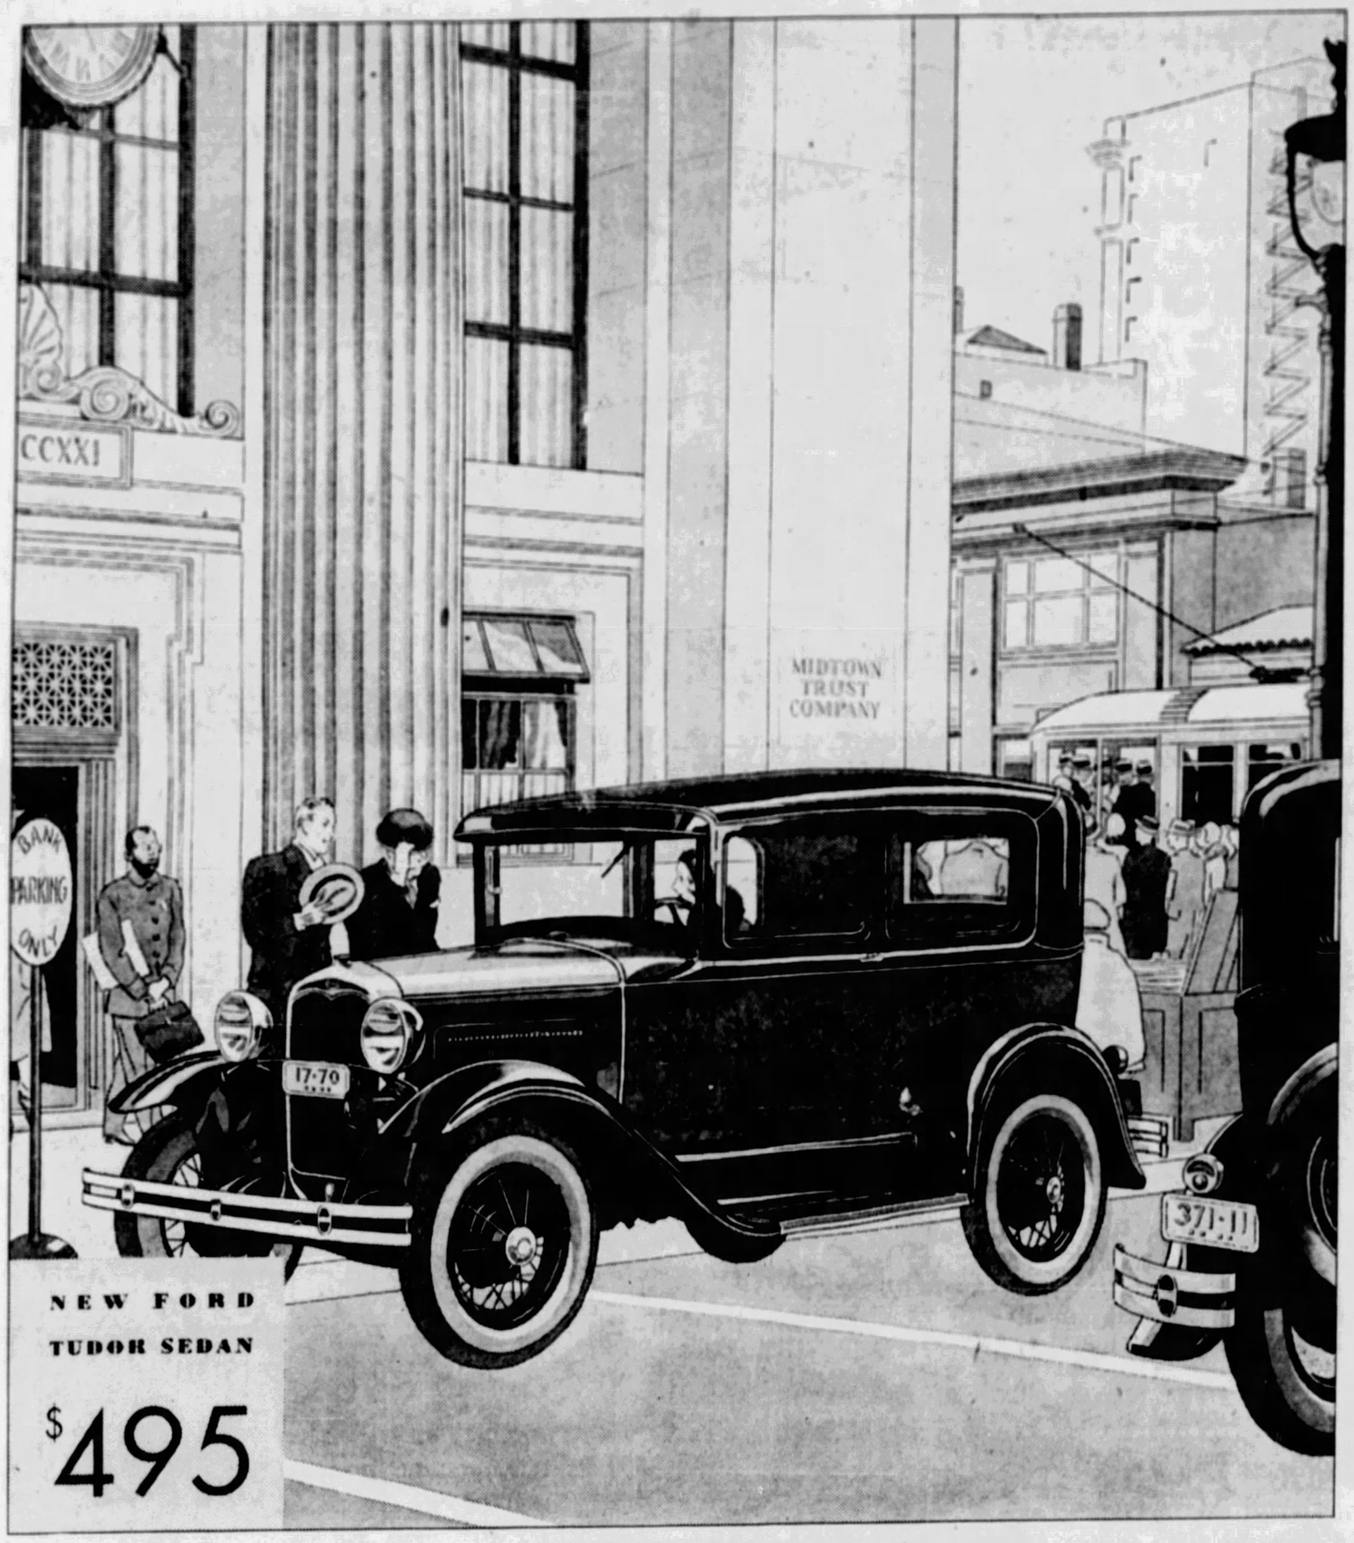
The New Ford is an economical car to own and drive

LOW FIRST COST, LOW COST OF OPERATION AND UP-KEEP, AND LOW YEARLY DEPRECIATION MEAN A DISTINCT SAVING TO EVERY PURCHASER



NEW FORD TUDOR SEDAN

THE NEW FORD is a splendid car to own and drive because of its attractive lines and colors, safety, comfort, speed, reliability and long life.

There are, in addition, three other features of importance to every far-seeing automobile owner . . . low first cost, low cost of operation and up-keep, and low yearly depreciation. During the life of the car, the day-by-day economy of owning a Ford will amount to considerably more than the saving on the first cost. You save when you buy the Ford and you save every mile you drive.

Evidence of the economy of the new Ford is shown in its selection by large industrial companies which keep careful cost records. Many of these operate fleets of fifty, one hundred and two hundred Ford cars and trucks. One company has eight thousand.

Police departments of large cities are also using a large number of Fords. In their ceaseless vigil, these cars are driven virtually twenty-four hours a day.

A fleet of 42 Model A Fords in Louisville (Kentucky) covered a total of 2,620,800 miles in twelve months, or the equivalent of 109 times around the world. Five new Fords on police duty in Niagara Falls (New York) have been driven more than 100,000 miles each. In Miami (Florida) a police Ford has gone 120,000 miles.

The average for the eighteen Fords in Omaha (Nebraska) is 35,000 miles per car for two years of police service. The superintendent of automotive equipment says repairs for the fleet have been "very low."

The police departments of New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Detroit, San Francisco and other large cities use hundreds of Ford cars and trucks. In New York, the total exceeds 450.

The reasons for the good performance and economy of the new Ford are simplicity of design, high quality of materials and care in manufacturing and assembling. Many vital parts are made to limits of one one-thousandth of an inch. Some to three ten-thousandths of an inch. Throughout, it is an outstanding example of craftsmanship in volume production.

The more you see of the new Ford—the more you talk to Ford owners and experienced mechanics—the more certain you become of this fact. . . . It brings you everything you want or need in a motor car at an unusually low price. Ask the nearest Ford dealer for a demonstration.

Note These Low Prices

There is a Ford car for every need and purpose at an unusually low price. Appointments and upholstery are in keeping with its mechanical excellence. You may choose from a variety of body colors.

SALES IMPROVE, SURVEY SHOWS

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—A slight improvement in sales and collections of wholesale and manufacturing firms is reported as a result of the November trade survey conducted by Credit Monthly, publication of the National Association of Credit Men.

Nine cities reported brisk sales, whereas only seven reported brisk sales a month ago. Five cities reported good collections, as against three in the October survey.

9 DIE IN CRASH AT CROSSING

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Nine persons were killed at Butterworth Crossing, near Dewitt, Va., last night when their automobile was struck by a Seaboard Airline passenger train. They were J. C. Flippen, of Clarksville, Va., and eight Negroes—four women and four children.

Flippen, widely-known in the Clarksville section, was driving the automobile. He had carried the Negroes to the funeral of one of their relatives near Petersburg, Va., and the party was returning to Clarksville.

Immigrant Junk Man Dies Worth $1,000,000

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Abraham Wolff, who came to America from Russia penniless and started in the junk business here with one horse and wagon 45 years ago, left an estate which was estimated at $1,000,000.

Wolff died November 8. His will, filed for probate, made specific bequests of $247,000 to members of his family. The remainder of the estate he left to his widow.

When Wolff started in business here he went up and down alleys picking up scrap iron and steel.

GAS CO. PLACES $540,000 ORDER

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—In line with the "buy now" movement, John E. Zimmerman, president of the United Gas Improvement Company, announced that the U. G. I. purchasing department has just placed orders for $540,000 of copper wire, cable, transformers, regulators and miscellaneous electrical equipment, in anticipation of requirements of the next several months.

About 90 per cent of this material, which amounts to approximately 130 car loads, is to be used in the Philadelphia Electrical Company system, and the remainder at other U. G. I. properties.

CHURCH DROPS CREED BARS

By 150 to 1, members of the Shady Avenue Baptist Church, Shady avenue, near Penn avenue, yesterday voted to admit members from churches of other denominations into full membership of the church. The action is part of a program of Baptist churches in the Pittsburgh district to add to membership.

According to the Rev. R. G. Person, pastor of the church, members admitted from other churches will not be required to be baptized according to the Baptist requirements unless they so desire.

GANGSTER GIRL

By JACK LAIT

Tom Falls Easy Prey to Annie's Charms

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Polack Annie, notorious gangster girl, flees Chicago and seeks the protection of New York's biggest racketeer, "Silk" Freeman. Freeman is fascinated by her beauty and provides an expensive hotel suite for her. At a night club the admiration of the young and wealthy Tommy Gillespie for Annie arouses Freeman's jealousy. Tom learns of Freeman's plan to get in on his father's trucking business and vows to fight it. He enlists the aid of "Cyclone" Tim McCloskey, leader of a tough river gang. McCloskey's men man the Gillespie trucks and a free-for-all fight ensues when the longshoremen refuse to load the trucks. Freeman has Annie make an appointment with young Tom to "put him on the spot."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER X.

Dressed in a snappy, informal dinner ensemble of blue with turban to match, all setting off advantageously her flaming hair and art-work complexion, Polack Annie entered the Astor from a taxi.

More than one lobby loiterer gave her the quick eye and turned to follow her slender, agile figure as she crossed to Peacock Alley. Tommy was already there, marked for easy identification by plaster on his cheek and a hand in a neat bandage, if not by his upstanding figure and good-looking features. He raised his hat courteously. Both realized that a dozen strangers were staring at them.

"Let's get a cab, where we can talk," he suggested.

"Up through the park and along the drive," said Tommy, and into the jam of traffic the old car wormed and ground.

"Now," young Gillespie began, "tell me all about it."

Annie lit a cigaret.

Both Make Explanations

"Well, you saw me first with Silk Freeman, so I guess you know I'm no lily. I got a slant at you an' you clicked. I got it right off that you was pipin' me, too. An' when the waiter tipped me that you were buzzin' him about who I was, I ast about who you was.

"This Freeman—he don't come under the head o' thrilling entertainment with me much. I'm young. I like to dance. I like to play around. I've only been in this burg a few days. I haven't hooked up with any boy friends. You registered with me—that's all there is to the plot."

"Thanks," said Tommy. "Now, tell me—you and this Freeman. Are you—you understand—I mean—"

"Oh, I understand. I guess he thinks I'm all 'his.' But I don't live with him, if that's what you want to know. I've only known him a week or so. I'm—a widow."

"I see."

"An' you? That li'l trick I caught you with in the cafe—where does she come into the picture?"

"Serious?"

"I don't want to lie to you. We're engaged."

"But you didn't hesitate when I started to date you, Tommy boy."

"No. I was delighted and excited. I would have found you as soon as I knew who you were and where. I've got a little trouble on my hands right now—business. Wouldn't be surprised if your friend Silk had a finger in it. My dad's a boss trucker. We've been on the job for a day or two, and last night I got in a mix-up with some stevedores. That accounts for my banged-up appearance—and for my tardiness in hunting you up. I had no idea where to start, at that. And, of course, no notion that you'd want anything to do with a pup like me, just out of college, when you were running with a man like Freeman. But I was bound to make a stagger at it."

"Love at first sight, eh?"

"Nothing less. Strange coincidence that we two should meet up just at the time that Freeman's interests and mine should collide."

Lies About Freeman

"Oh, I don't know a thing about his business. I hear he's a bad baby an' is in on a lot o' rackets. But I don't understand that sort o' stuff, an' we never talk shop. Tell me more about that doll."

"Oh, Alice? I guess what I've said is all there is to it."

"Do you—are you crazy about her?"

"It's been a presupposed match ever since I was in knee pants, it seems. Her father is my dad's banker. He was very helpful when dad needed funds and faith. I just took Alice for granted. I haven't had much to do with girls."

Annie smiled.

"How do you keep 'em off you, handsome?"

Tommy looked at her by the light of an electric sign they were passing, to see if he were being bantered or flattered.

"I- well, at school I was usually in strict training and doing my quota of studying and class work, and at home, week ends, I was usually with Alice. Oh, I know a good many girls, of course. But most of them know Alice, and—"

"What you need is a whirl in another world, Tommy boy."

"It's what I want, whether or not I need it. By the way, what's your name?"

"Annie. No last name. Just Annie. That'll be enough."

"Strange. But as you would have it, Annie. Yes, I'm curious about life. And a lot of new thrills have been crowded into mine in the last day or two."

"Well, I've had a few high spots in my young years, myself. But I'm still an' always in a rush for bigger an' better kicks. I'm just a pinheaded dame, chasin' pleasure. This town is a wow for me. I thought Chicago was swift — that is, when I passed through it from my home in — in Milwaukee! but this New York is the big-time stand.

"It's lousy with dough — an' only the peasants seem to work. Aroun' where I'm stoppin' at the Napoleon there's a hundred jennies, dressed like a million bucks apiece, an' none of 'em knows what to do with her hands, they're so idle an' bored.

"An' the men—they're in an' out at all hours — gamblers, racketeers maybe, promoters, fixers, steerers — I talk to the dames an' they spill, you see. Everybody here seems to be livin' off o' somebody else or a flock o' others.

"Even the legit money makers. They're brokers, agents, representatives o' one kind or another."

Annie Is Obliging

"You're no pinhead, Annie. That's a pretty profound analysis of the parasite army engendered by the concentration of a metropolis and the specialization in service as against the productive factor. You see, I studied economics at school."

"I don't know a word you said — but what you studied about economics can't have a thing to do with it. That outfit is far from economical."

"No. I mean that huge businesses and the modern impulse for merging and pyramiding properties and privileges has thrown open to sharp fellows the opportunity to live off others without contributing to the prosperity of the community. These conditions make the Silk Freemans."

"Oh, let's forget that guy, Tommy boy. Let's talk about me."

"About you? Shall we start with your red hair?"

"They always do. What is there about a red head that makes men see red?"

"I never took a course in that, so I can't speak with authority. But you certainly have the most ravishing hair I have ever seen. May I—may I kiss it?"

"Sure. What delayed you?"

"Annie," he whispered, "I'm not an expert lover. I'm afraid you'll find me very unskilled at the ways of the game."

Despises Freeman

"I know enough for both of us," she answered.

"With you, I fancy, I can speak freely——"

"An' fast."

"Understand one thing, Annie. My father is well off. But my allowance, while generous in the circumstances, is—well, it would hardly interest you."

"Oh, the hell with your allowance. Why do you think I let a buzzard like Silk Freeman grab me? I'm one thing he didn' muscle in on. I was delivered C. O. D. What do you think—I want you to keep me? Or to shove a 20 under the door as you go out? Say, if that's the way I hit you——"

"No. No. Not at all. But what I mean is—if I—if we—I mean I'd want you to give up this Freeman—and be mine."

"Hey, Tommy boy— you DO work fast. A proposition for the works before the meter run up a buck—an' in a gyp cab at that. Well, I'm much obliged; but I'm afraid you couldn't take on a load like that—yet. But once in a while—oh, man! Me for you!"

"Once in a while?"

"Yeh. You go big with me. An' it'll be a double joy to doublecross that Freeman. I guess that won't make you mad neither. I despise him. He wallops me an' bulldozes an' bullyrags me. The touch o' his hands gives me the heebie jeebies. His chisel-steel eyes make my flesh crawl.

"I want a man. An' I mean a man! A man with some sentiment excep' jus' animal passion."

"Annie," breathed that boy, "Let me kiss you."

"You bet. An' not on my hair!"

Gay Crowd Girl's Brief Good Time Not Worth the Grief, Says Fay King

PLENTY OF BOY FRIENDS BUT NO REAL BEAU
YOU'RE WASTING YOUR TIME WITH THAT CROWD
IT'S BETTER TO HAVE ONE MAN THINK YOU ARE THE MOST WONDERFUL GIRL IN THE WORLD, THAN TO HAVE A DOZEN MEN THINK YOU ARE JUST A GREAT LITTLE PAL.
FAY-KING

By FAY KING.

About the easiest thing in the world to accomplish is for a pretty girl to get into a gay crowd.

Men, who are out for a gay time and nothing more, always have an eye open for a new and pretty face.

For a time the pretty girl, who is escorted about by one of these young men about town, does have a good time.

All the rest of the crowd accepts her and makes her feel very popular.

But it usually ends in her being dropped, as others have been before her, and will be again.

Now she begins to envy her more sensible girl friends, who have married the one real beau they preferred to a lot of gay boy friends.

Love's Reawakening

Continuation Of Love's Awakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Young Noel Apologizes to Madge

At Noel Veritzen's icy little retort to my plans for Mary's party, I unconsciously tightened my fingers upon the telephone receiver. "I am afraid a psychiatrist would have diagnosed a subconscious desire to throttle the throat of the young violinist beneath those straining fingers.

There is always an advantage in silence, when one is not sure of the next move, and I employed the ruse unscrupulously. Not a syllable did I utter in answer to Noel's atrocious little speech, and it was a full half minute before I heard his tentative "Mrs. Graham? Are you still there?"

"Yes, I am here," I said uncompromisingly, and waited again.

"Did — you — hear — me?" he asked dubiously.

"Yes, and I'm sorry I did." I said crisply. "Really, Noel, that speech wouldn't be made by anybody older than a preparatory school sophomore. You don't deserve to be told what you must know already, that no matter how many young men came to Mary's party, if the whole graduating class of West Point were to march in with waving swords, it would'nt be a success unless you were there to share it. I know I'm talking unpardonably to you, Noel, and you, no doubt, will never forgive me, but I can't help telling you that you are acting like a jealous, sulky little school boy, and you ought to be ashamed of yourself. I can forgive you much because you've been ill, but I can't forgive your spoiling the first party Mary ever had. But, of course, if you want to be that selfish, I can do nothing to prevent you. Goodby."

But I was careful not to hang up the receiver, and when I heard a frantic joggling at the other end of the wire, and Noel saying excitedly, "Central, Central, please get that number back," I interrupted smoothly —and mendaciously—

"Oh, is that you, Noel? I thought I recognized your voice when I tried to get Central for another number."

"Yes, it is I." His voice was hoarse.

"I'll do nothing to hurt Mary," he said tensely. "I'll come up to the city tomorrow morning and I'll attend the party, no matter what happens. But I shall have to have a long talk with you as soon as I get in. There are some things—about my father—which you must know. I thought—I could keep them to myself—that doing what he commanded would be best for Mary, but—I don't know—I'll have to see you."

"Noel, dearest," I said, and my voice was as soft as if I were talking to Junior, "won't you believe that we're all ready to help you in every way possible. Your father is powerless, if we're all united against him, as we are. Please, rest assured of that—and I'll look for you on the first train in the morning. Bring your evening things, of course. And now may I speak to Mrs. Bickett again?"

"May I apologize first?" The words came slowly. "I've been a—"

"So have I, Noel," I retorted laughingly. "We'll forgive each other. Run along now for I'm in a desperate hurry."

"What did you do to Noel?" Katherine demanded softly when she had come back to the 'phone.. "He went up the stairs as if the old Nick were at his heels, but his face had a lamplighted behind it."

"I'll tell you later," I said. "He's coming to the city on the first train. But here's something else. Do you think you could spare Dicky to come in for just one day? He could come in on that late afternoon train, or he could drive, and come out the next morning. I know with all those small boys——"

"Will you please remember that I have charge of a whole ward of wounded and shell-shocked soldiers during the war?" she said. "I will admit that Henry is not one limb, but all four of the gentleman who is popularly supposed to keep the fires burning below stairs. But I can manage beautifully. Dicky may stay as long as he likes. Shall I call him. Luckily he's in the house just now."

"Please—and thank you," I said earnestly, and in another minute my husband's voice was greeting me heartily.

"Lo! old dear! How did the expedition come out? Lil stand the gaff all right?" I suppose Savarin is still—there was nothing in the paper."

"He is still living," I said, and then I explained swiftly what I had planned that I wanted him, and that Katherine had said she could get along with the boys while he was gone."

"I guess she could do that all right," he answered, and I wondered at the hesitancy in his tone. "But —I don't know. Ede just called up—I'm needed pretty badly at the magazine I guess, but I turned her down—and don't you see——"

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Tuesday, November 18

A day of pleasant and prosperous conditions is the augury based on the interesting chain of lunar transits, supported by the mutual configurations. These sustain and incite to robust activity, with a degree of initiative impulse which should bring success in new ventures and advance and promote conditions generally.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of liveliness and enterprise with affairs moving along to gratifying fulfillment. Employment, business and new ventures are all under a fortunate planetary rulership.

A child born on this day should be clever, versatile, courageous and enterprising in many directions.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND.

Husbands Today—and Yesterday

Turning the pages of the old plush family album, one does not wonder why the men of the Gay Nineties, occasionally "left home." One wonders why so many of them STAYED home.

Wives so soon grew dowdy and flabby fat and inocuous, in those days.

The very day after the honeymoon, a bride sat down in her "tub of butter" or sank in her sea of domestic worries, and never came up again for air.

A lady in curl-papers and a Mother-Hubbard wrapper could hardly have been the vision of a man's romantic dreams. And a shining nose, guiltless of powder, a flannelette, long-sleeved lullaby-gown and woolen boudoirs slippers could scarcely have dazzled grandfather's eyes and enthralled his senses.

Wives of twenty years standing still have that school girl complexion artfully preserved or skillfully simulated, and glossy tresses.

There is no such thing as an over-stuffed figure; and most wives are self-made sylphs, who can wear a "misses," size 18, and pass for flappers in their green satin beach pajamas.

* * *

Never before were women so lovely, so delectable, so devastating—or so interesting!

Yet this is the miracle! Grandmother always knew where Grandfather WAS, nights! And he was usually just on the other side of the living-room fireplace or out in the wood-shed, doing chores.

A man, once married, was a "MARRIED MAN;" and he didn't have to have a string tied around his finger to remind him of it, or to make a note on his desk-pad to remember that he was dining with his wife.

* * *

Now if a husband and wife know each other's telephone numbers and meet occasionally at the breakfast-table, it's a "successful marriage." And, if a man spends three or four evenings a week by his own fireside, he's "completely domesticated."

The only conclusion that a cynic can draw is that the automobile has done this thing! And that the reason that Grandfather and Grandmother stuck so close together was that they couldn't GET AWAY.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

"Growing Pains?"—They Are Rheumatic Pains!

Not long ago one of my younger colleagues had dinner with me. During the course of conversation the subject of rheumatism was mentioned. Immediately, he became alert and told me of his great interest in this disease.

DR COPELAND

It seems that as a child my friend had been afflicted with rheumatism which had involved his heart. At that time very little was known concerning the disease, and much of the prescribing was done in the dark. He had been sent to a resort similar to Carlsbad. As a child he vividly recalls returning summer after summer, and always seeing new faces, new victims of the disease.

Fortunately we have made great advances in this disease. Of course there is yet much to be learned. However, it can be said that the complications of rheumatism in children have been greatly reduced.

The greatest problem of "acute rheumatic fever" as it is called, is its action on the heart. It often involves the valves of the heart, leaving behind permanent damage.

Rheumatism in children is now much more universally recognized than formerly. At one time it was believed the disease did not occur in the young. Their true nature was not recognized when the term "growing pains" was applied. Any child complaining of pain in the arms or legs or joints was lightly dismissed. "The child is growing too fast." This was a frequent explanation of the mother who rarely consulted a physician. I want most emphatically to impress you with the fact that there is no such thing as growing pains. Such pains are due to rheumatism.

Rheumatism is a disease caused by a definite type of bacteria. It may occur in the very young, but rarely in children under five years of age.

Important causes of this disease are living in damp places, exposure to cold and wet, improper food and clothing, and unhygienic conditions. Nevertheless, it may be seen in all classes of people, but is most common among those who are poorly housed.

Attacks may occur at all seasons, and one attack usually leads to another. The joints most commonly involved are the ankles, knees, small joints of the foot, wrist and elbow. The pain may be slight and easily overlooked. When the joint becomes involved it gets red and hot to the touch, and is painful on motion. The joint does not swell but becomes stiff. The disease may be ushered in with high temperature, and severe pain. When this happens, the trouble is so pronounced that the case is likely to receive the proper attention and care.

It is the other type, the case with very little complaint, often nothing but the so-called "growing pains," that is likely to be neglected.

Tell It to Sally

By SALLY MARTIN

Has a Mother the Right to Tell Sonny When and Whom He Should Marry?

Has mamma a right to object, if sonny wants to marry the "only girl" before he's finished college?

And has she a right to insist that he marry the kind of a girl SHE feels he "needs to fit into the sort of life he expects to live?"

Missis M. thinks she has, and she's all hot 'n' boiling over because Jimmy doesn't agree with her.

"Dear Sally Martin:

"I wish you would give your opinion of these young girls who insist on attaching themselves to boys of 21 or 22, who are not through school yet, and who, if they marry now, will never attain the heights in the world they would if they were encouraged to stay free until they've had a chance to make something of themselves.

"I'm asking you because I have a boy myself, who is just 22, who has lately been taken in by one of these addle-pates.

"He saw this girl a few times last summer, and this summer on his vacation he met her again, and after a few months of almost every afternoon spent on the beach with her, and almost every evening spent dancing, or driving with her in my car, they decided that before he went back to school, they'd get married.

"I was horrified. I talked and argued with him, and finally made him see how foolish it would be for them to go through with it. I have stopped it—temporarily, at least. But I am terribly worried for fear that she will win him over again. And she hadn't said one word about it to her parents, when he told me, and she had never discussed her 'boy friend' with her mother at all.

"Why on earth don't mothers talk to their daughters about these things? What do they expect? Can a boy of 22, still in college support a wife? Or would the girl's parents help out? Hardly, especially when the girl hadn't even told them she expected to get married!

"I think that when a boy is old enough to marry, he should be man enough to take his wife and make a home for her and support her. That seems to be what most people are looking for—some one to support their daughters—isn't it? And this girl was planning to work while Jimmy was finishing school.

"If girls were taught to prepare themselves to be real, helpful wives, and to let a man continue his education unhampered —or rather to insist that he do it—and prepare himself to give his wife a home, a respectable living and himself some business standing, it would be a fine thing. But they're not taught.

"I want my boy to get a good education, get established, and then marry the kind of a girl he needs to fit into the life he expects to live.

"I am frantic with worry. Please, please help me, and tell me how I can break this foolish thing off, and keep this tragedy from happening.

"What do you think of such girls? I think they're a menace to the country.

"MRS. CORA M."

What do I think of 'em, lady? I think some of 'em are mighty courageous little kids. And why shouldn't your boy marry one of them, if he loves her and she loves him? According to your own story, she was not taking him away from his school, but was perfectly willing to let him go ahead there, while she put her shoulder to the wheel to make their Big Adventure possible.

Are such girls "failures as wives?" Some of them. But so are many who wait complacently for the young man to acquire his B. A. and then gobble him up.

And it certainly seems to me that the girl who is willing to sacrifice her youth and work for a man, has given more proof of love, and stands a better chance of making good, than the one who expects him to do all the hustling.

However, maybe I'm wrong. Maybe this girl is a silly little chit. Maybe your boy is a brainless, ungrateful young scamp. But you might at least give them the benefit of the doubt, before you break their hearts entirely. Why not talk to them as an older comrade should talk —instead of busting in regardless, just because you are a mamma and have the power? Why not try to see THEIR side of the question, instead of demanding that they see only yours?

At all events it's his life. Even if you did give him birth and are now paying the overhead, it is still his life. And, if you want that life to be worth a tinker's dam, I'd advise you to keep hands off. Be his best friend—win his confidence—but let the kid pick his own trail.

Which same will probably be unpopular advice with a lot of mamas. All right, sisters . . . bring on your Big Protest. We're waiting.

The Loudspeaker

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Henry Hadley and his Manhattan Symphony last night joined the march to the microphone and the radio call of the bigger and better bands of the nation is now complete.

Louis Reid

Among radio's most solid achievements has been its capture of the various notable symphonic orchestras throughout the land. Not one is missing from Boston to Seattle. And yet the hall-hoo boys of the studios continuers, strangely, to overlook the musical significance of the microphone in American civilization. The megaphones and mimeographs still stress the speeches of the great and near-great above all else that pours into the radio sea.

The Detroit Symphony recently began a series of radio concerts at the sign of Columbia. It might have been just another dance band for all the attention it received from the adjective-assemblers of the studios. And the Detroit orchestra under the baton of Gabrilowitsch, is one of the most skillful that is now bringing the masters to the microphone. Its recent airing of a Rachmaninoff symphony was a half hour of superlative musicianship.

Big Symphony Bands Need Press Agents

Perhaps, the big symphonies need press agents of their own. Only one or two in the nation appears to possess a keen publicity sense — the Philadelphia, with Stokowski directing not only the music but the propaganda and the band conducted by Hadley. The others seem to be guided by a tradition that effective ballyhoo is vulgar and degrading.

Stokowski and Hadley knew better. They realize that the more people they can tell of Beethoven and Bach the more people they can lead to listen to Beethoven and Bach.

When Stokowski decided to bring his organization to the loudspeakers he began a publicity campaign that grew in force and volume as his microphonic date approached. He talked of mysterious gadgets for improving the tone of his broadcasts, of the racial and geographical phases of the programs he planned to give, of his tremendous interest in radio—an interest which even led him to study microphone technique at close range. As a result, his appointment with the armchairs found the ears of the nation cocked.

Hadley, also, is alert to news value in wooing attention for himself and his band. His efforts are largely centered in beating the musical bushes for youthful genius. Last year he won the most spectacular front page space that has been given to a musical story in a decade when he introduced the 9-year-old violinist, Ruggiero Ricci, to the emotional shouts of his audience. Even the critics hurried to wrap their heaviest coats of adjectives about the land, unmindful of how many pencils they broke in the process.

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

Joe Jar and Terry Tube fight it out tonight when the "Cuckoo" and "Graham Mackinaw" see things as they don't happen at the ringside. For an absolutely biased report of this bout, tune KDKA at 8:30 and let the blows fall where they may.

Raymond Knight's ambition for this sort of thing started in a queer manner.

NBC was willing, but they couldn't find "Mr. Weems"—they had no one on their payroll by that name.

* * *

When NBC accidentally discovered it was Mr. Knight, they asked him for a sample sketch along the same line as his letter. You know the rest—the "Cuckoo" writes their funniest playlets.

QUESTION A DAY:

How much does Mme. Schumann-Heink receive for her Emma Jettick broadcast Sunday nights? —E. T. L., Sheraden.

Answer—Said to be $1,500.

Ruth Lyons, soprano, sings "Depuis Le Jour" from "Louise" on WJAS at 9. We'll be close by when the Minneapolis Symphony gives the closing number, "March of the Sardar" from "Caucasian Sketches."

"BY THE WAY—"

We have a reporter, George Shradle, whose laugh is often mistaken for that of Glenn Riggs . . . Herman Hanes and Max Twigdile guitars for the German Band, KDKA at 6:15 . . . Claude Morris, radio's youngest continuity writer at age 22, does Fleetwing Parade (tonight), Rieck Revellers, Colonial Tellers and Honey and Old Fashioned programs . . . He's modest and nonchalant with a poetic penchant . . . Jim Hughes says "dames won't tell, but tea leaves will," them follows it with a record, "Tell Me, Little Gypsy" . . . not bad . . . Lou Kaufman says "When you hear me pronounce a word different from the way you do it, it's your cue to look in the dictionary" . . . all this because we questioned his diction on "narrator" on the Westinghouse Salute . . . Nothing spurs Gertrude Heck, KDKA hostess, to fancy like "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes" . . . Guy Lombardo, WJAS at 10, has a baton made from Jesse James' favorite chair . . . Bellie Baker is the Radio Follies attraction this Friday . . . John Charles Thomas, baritone, is to sing "In the Gloaming" for Maxwell House on Thanksgiving Day . . . Camel Hour, KDKA Wednesday, announces Jeanette MacDonald as guest artist . . . NBC paid Madison Square Garden promoters $12,000 for the Singer-Cansoni settle . . . WNBO at Washington, Pa., is on the verge of joining the IBSA network which includes KQV . . . to this end they have established an office in Pittsburgh with plans to eventually broadcast Warner Theater programs.

Wilkes-Barre Man Found Dead in Auto

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Eugene L. Man, of 518 South Franklin street, auctioneer and insurance broker, was found dead at the wheel of his parked automobile, with a bullet wound in his right temple. The car was on the Sullivan trail, at a point near Ransom, between Wilkes-Barre and Tunkhannock.

Man went to Tunkhannock Thursday on a business trip and telephoned his home here he would be delayed on the return trip. A revolver was found on the floor of his car.

Students to Hold Mission Retreat

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 17.—a students' mission retreat, which will be attended by students from practically every college and university in Western Pennsylvania and Northern West Virginia, is scheduled for November 21, 22 and 23, at Waynesburg College.

The Gathering will be under auspices of the Student Volunteer Union, a campus religious group of national rating.

South Hills Organizes Assessment Raise Fight

HIGHWAY BUILDING AID TO JOBLESS

SIDEWALKS —of— PITTSBURGH

By William Pfarr

William Pfarr

The biggest day of the week for the squirrels in Frick Woods is Sunday. People come to walk through the woods and toss peanuts to the squirrels. Every other person seems to have a big bag of peanuts. This is a good break for the squirrels, because right now they have to start laying up supplies for the winter, when the people don't toss them peanuts.

Some of the squirrels will give you a pretty good show for your peanuts. They will sit up on two legs, crack the peanuts and eat them right before your very eyes. But most of them are temperamental or aristocratic and run away with the peanut. Of course if you buy a 10-cent bag of peanuts (shell peanuts only) you have about 250 peanuts and you stand a fair chance of meeting one agreeable squirrel at least.

We are confident the squirrels have not felt the so-called depression. There is no way of knowing (but there should be) how many peanuts were tossed to the squirrels during the fall of 1929 or 1928, when things were better.

Our guess would be that 3,845 peanuts were tossed last Sunday—but, come to think of it, these figures don't mean a thing because neither is there a way of knowing whether there are more squirrels now than there were before the depression.

From our little study of the squirrel situation we came away with one conclusion upon which we shall some day base an article for one of the serious periodicals: that there is no truth to the idea that squirrels are looney. Who else would store up food six months ahead?

Larry Jacobs, the demon praise agent, is peddling the story about the tramp who rapped on a front door and asked the lady of the house for a slice of cake.

"We don't have any cake," the lady replied, "but we have bread and coffee, and you can have that."

"Nope," the tramp refused. "This is my birthday and I gotta have cake."

A kindly night watchman will show you, if he has time, the faces that nature outlined in the marble slabs in the Koppers Building lobby. He says a goodly number waiting for elevators, have been able to discern at least three in the flowing and curving lines.

One face, discovered by a cleaner, is near the William Penn way entrance, on the black and white base. It is that of a beautiful woman, well along in years, with waving hair of white. Another is up on the wall near the Seventh avenue door, perhaps seven or eight feet from the floor. It is "Sy Perkins," a rustic character's face, with chin whiskers and big ears. The third is also near the main entrance, but on a pillar, and it depicts Santa Claus, but rather vaguely.

If you're a young man the chances are you don't remember Judge John W. F. White, of the Allegheny County bench, who has been dead more than 20 years. Old-timers remember him vividly, and especially for two things. Once he refuses licenses to all but one or two of the saloons in the city and county and (2) probably because he cut a distinguished figure and looked well in them, he often wore evening clothes on the bench, and on the street in the daytime.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Nov. 17.
To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

If you want to see some real flying, and a satisfied beam on a government aviator's face, watch him fly for his department head, when he knows that fellow can do it himself. Saturday in San Diego our crack boys from the aeroplane carriers, Langley, Lexington, and Saratoga, made aerial "whoopee" for Secretary Ingalls. It kinder made you wish that every branch of our government was presided over by some man that knew that line, instead of some politician, our system up to the time of Mr. Hoover has been, when a man is defeated at election he is appointed to a bigger job than the one he was defeated for. Yours, WILL.

POLICE TRAIL 3, RECOVER LOOT

Three alleged robbers were arrested and a stolen automobile and loot taken from a Neville Island gasoline station, were recovered, when, Neville Island police say, they visited a McKees Rocks pool room and took into custody three men early today. The prisoners said they were Michael Denino, 22, of Canton, O.; Roxy Salvatr, 21, of 535 Beaver road, Ambridge, and Andrew Gabor, 19, of 325 Fourteenth street, Ambridge.

According to Police Chief Warren E. Burn, of Neville Island, the Red, White and Blue Service Station, Grand avenue, was entered last night by robbers who broke a window. The establishment was looted of automobile supplies, tobacco and candy. A short time later Chief Burn and a squad captured the suspects.

The machine, said to have been used by the youths during the robbery, had been stolen Saturday night from George Powelshak, of Ambridge Heights. The trio are accused of substituting license plates also stolen in Ambridge.

Hotel Guest Held In Fraud Charge

C. L. Andrews, 28, of Youngstown, O., was held for court, charged with defrauding the Fort Pitt Hotel, by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg, in Central Police Station, today. C. E. Ferris, credit manager, became suspicious when asked to cash a check, drawn on a Youngstown bank, and communicated with the bank to find that Andrews had no account there.

ASSESSMENT RAISE FOES TO MEET

Time Limit for Filing of Appeals Announced in Churches at Brookline

The fight against increased city assessments in the South Hills assumed an organized appearance yesterday when announcements regarding the time limit for filing of appeals were made in a number of Brookline churches.

MASS MEETINGS CALLED

Nineteenth Ward property holders will gather tonight at a mass meeting in South Hills High School. This meeting has been arranged by the Washington Heights Board of Trade.

Rival mass meetings are being held tonight in Overbrook.

One meeting, sponsored by the Overbrook Board of Trade, of which Richard Owens is president, is being held in Central School auditorium, Library road, at 8 o'clock. At the same time another meeting, under the auspices of the recently-organized Thirty-second Ward Board of Trade, of which J. J. Demskie is president, will be held at the Municipal Building.

More than 200 persons crowded the corridors of the City-County Building this morning for the purpose of filing appeals against assessment on their properties or to find out the amount of such assessments.

19TH WARD ACTS

City Assessor Thomas C. McMahon said 485 appeals had been filed, mostly from the Nineteenth Ward. He said many property owners had decided not to appeal after the assesments had been explained to them.

No general increases in assessments has been made by county assessors in any district in Allegheny County this year, according to C. J. McBride, secretary of the Board of County Assessors.

The time for filing appeals on the 1931 assessments, extended to 5 p. m. Wednesday, will not be postponed again, according to Thomas C. McMahon, chief city assessor. All appeals filed within that time will be given individual attention, he said.

19TH WARD HIT HARDEST

Changes in assessment have been made chiefly in the Nineteenth Ward, including Brookline, Beechview and a large part of Mt. Washington; the Twenty-ninth Ward or Carrick; the Thirty-second Ward, including Overbrook and East Brookline, and the Twenty-eighth Ward including Westwood, Crafton Heights and adjoining territory.

The Twelfth Ward—Lincoln avenue district—has been revised.

All owners who believe their properties are assessed at more than fair market value may file an appeal with the assessors. Information regarding assessments is available on the fifth floor of the City-County Building, and appeal blanks may be had on request.

City assessors declare justice to all taxpayers in the city demanded the increases in assessments, particularly in the South Hills wards. They point out that many of the older sections of the city—South Side, the lower North Side, Lawrenceville and Bloomfield—have residential land assessed at more than the new values on the attractive suburbs in the South Hills.

BOY SHOT, MAY LOSE SIGHT

Wounded by an air rifle, John Westerman, 17, of 2939 Spring street, South Side, may lose the sight of an eye, it was said in South Side Hospital today.

Girl in Serious State From Poison

Suffering from the effects of poison swallowed last night, Viola Ankley, 17, of 1226 Iten street, is in a serious condition in the Allegheny General Hosiptal. She was visiting a sister residing at 1012 Haslage street when the poison was taken, police say. At the North Side police station the case was reported as an attempt at suicide.

Bank's Assistant Cashier Lays $66,000 Shortage To Stock Market

The rapid rise of M. L. Crampton from newsboy to assistant cashier of a North Side bank, was told today in the aftermath of his fall from grace by speculation and financial ruination through the persistent depression in the stock market.

His accounts at the Second National Bank of Allegheny disclosed a shortage of $66,307.35 over a period of only six months. He is at liberty under $5,000 bond on a federal charge of embezzlement.

MAKES "CLEAN BREAST"

His friends rallied to his aid; they offered to forestall prosecution by raising a fund and offering it to the bonding company, but it was insufficient and Crampton refused to permit those friends to obligate themselves further.

It was his promised word to another friend to share in the profits and losses in a stock market deal that brought ruination to the young bank officer. The estate of that friend, now dead, is involved in the settlement of the bank's claim, but only insofar as the stock securities remaining after the crash are concerned.

OFFERS NO ALIBIS

The contrite Crampton has no alibis—no craven desires to evade the consequences; only a hope that his parents and wife and child who are dependent upon him will not suffer as a result. He says:

"I will do everything in my power to make restitution. I want to start over again."

The eldest son in a family of moderate circumstances, he was compelled to shoulder heavy responsibilities early in life. He and his younger brother, just 15

HOLD GUTHRIE FUNERAL RITES

Funeral services for Tracy W. Guthrie, 62, vice president of the Hillman Coal and Coke Company, who died Saturday, were conducted at the home on Newberry lane, Beaver road, Sewickley, last night. The Rev. Dr. Alleyne C. Howell, pastor of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Sewickley, officiated. The body was sent to Columbus, where services and burial were to take place today.

Mr. Guthrie was born in Portsmouth, O. Prior to entering the coal business he was active in railroad circles in the Hocking Valley district of Ohio. He was at one time president of the Sunday Creek Coal Company, and the Republic Iron and Steel Company, and owner and operator of the Standard Welding Company, of Cleveland. In 1916 he became president of the Union Coal Corporation in Pittsburgh, retaining this office after the concern changed its name to the Hillman Coal and Coke Company. Two years ago he resigned the presidency, due to ill health, and was named a vice president.

He was an active directors in the National Coal Association, and president of the First National Bank, of Jerome, Pa. He was a member of the Duquesne, Edgewood and Allegheny Country clubs. He leaves his widow.

STATE ROAD PROGRESS TOLD

Officials in Convention Here Point to Results Following Hoover's Plea

Highway construction's part in the fight against unemployment was the keynote of speeches opening the first general session of the American Association of State Highway Officials here today as the membership pledged support to President Hoover's emergency committee.

Answering the appeal of Chairman Arthur Woods, of the President's Emergency Committee for Employment, that an association group be appointed to offer suggestions and work with the government in highway construction, the executive committee members were named. The appointment was made by Samuel Eckles, chief engineer of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways, president of the highway officials.

PRESIDENT PRAISED

Lauding the President's action in releasing $50,000,000 of federal funds for highway improvements when faced with an economic emergency of national proportions, Eckles declared in his opening address of the four-day convention in the William Penn Hotel:

"Hoover relied upon members of this associations to provides the greatly increased construction programs which were needed to stimulate the failing pulse of business. Of all the funds thrown into this stupendous relief program, the dollars which went for highway construction meant more to the prosperity of the country than all the rest combined.

"The economic advantage of this expenditure can best be appreciated by pausing to reflect that 50 cents of every dollar went directly for labor costs in construction alone. The greater portion of the remaining 50 cents went into the wheels of industry in production of materials, and almost half this amount went again to labor in those industries."

DELEGATES WELCOMED

An address of welcome from the state was made by James L. Stuart, state secretary of highways, for Gov. John S. Fisher, while Charles A. Waldschmidt spoke for Mayor Charles H. Kline. Executive Secretary W. C. Markham read his annual report.

During the afternoon, Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the Bureau of Public Roads, Washington; Frank T. Sheets, chief highway engineer of Illinois, and R. H. Baker, commissioner of highways, Tennessee, addressed the members. An informal banquet was to be tonight's feature.

STUDENTS, COMPILERS, PUBLISHERS!

Write, Sell Book to Earn Way Through College

There are ways and ways of making college pay; co-eds sometimes marry, "letter men" (athletic letters) sell bonds, Phi Beta Kappas become street car conductors or newspapermen.

It remained until recently, however, for two Pittsburgh youths to blaze a new trail and compile, publish and sell a reference book on the patents now held in this country on metallurgical processes used in iron and steel manufacture.

V. Everett Kinsey, 526 East End avenue, is a modest, 20-year-old Pitt senior and instructor, he thought he wanted to be a zoologist. Thomas Hopkins, 5623 Woodmont avenue, is 21, just as modest, and a senior student of commercial engineering at Carnegie Tech. "An Index to the Steel Patents of the United States" is their book, edited and compiled by themselves, published by the American Compilation Company, owned, operated, directed by themselves.

The volume, 356 pages of small type, lists and cross-indexes about 1,800 patents on all metals containing five or more parts of iron to the hundred.

Demand for the book, of limited edition, has, Hopkins says, been unexpectedly great. Manufacturing companies and attorneys have acclaimed it as a medium which will save them money, time and laborious hours of research, he says. With all the patents indexed and cross-indexed, the book purports to make easier searches for titles, metals, manufacturers.

Heartened by the reception tendered the first index the two young men are preparing to issue a second compilation on patents on nickel and its alloys. To both of the indexes yearly supplements will be added, Kinsey explains, keeping their contents up to date.

If demand is as great as appearances indicate to these two students, their work will be continued after graduation until they have compiled a series of reference books covering the entire patent field.

Then they say, they will have made college pay.

Doubt Held Greatest Sin By Washington Pastor

Faith is sanity, doubt is insanity, said the Rev. Stewart M. Smith, pastor of the North Ten-Mile Baptist Church, near Washington, Pa., in his sermon yesterday.

He said:

"Faith leads to triumph; doubt leads to tragedy. Doubt is a spiritual condition quite independent of our membership in churches or synagogues. Doubt is the greatest known sin, the father of worry, the cause of suicide, and its wage is death. Doubt is the cause of the present economic depression. Doubt is the devil at work.

"The antidote to doubt is religion. Never mind the denomination or name if you have the essence. Truth never changes. Religion takes us into the realm of the moral and the spiritual where truth essential to our happiness can be found. It is not the fault of the church nor the synagogue when we accept the advice of Job's wife."

ARTHUR GREATOREX, LONDON ART LEADER, PICTURED DURING VISIT TO PITTSBURGH

Greatorex, Who Introduced Whistler to America, Visits Artists Here

By PENELOPE REDD

The spirit of the "Butterfly" with a sting that represented the eccentric genius of Whistler, the Matisse of the nineties, was evoked the other day in Pittsburgh. Arthur Greatorex, of London, one of the men who introduced Whistler to America, was at the Wunderly Gallery.

Greatorex, during his youth assisted in preparing Whistler's first London exhibitions. He remembers vividly, as a lad, laboriously filling in the yellow color of the "butterfly" signature on the invitation cards that are now collector's items. Greatorex said:

Penelope Redd

"Whistler experimented for years before he finally perfected the 'butterfly' signature derived from his own monogram. Diffident, upon first acquaintance, Whistler as a friend became the wittiest man my long life has ever seen.

"Many forget in their absorption in Whistler's personality that he brought about a new interest in graphic art that extended to artists, collectors, and the world at large."

Greatorex has sponsored the majority of etchers now famous, he has assisted in assembling collections now renowned, and all the great, bright world of princes royal—and industrial—with their entourages have viewed his exhibitions. He added:

"Whistler lived too soon. Only the present age could have appreciated his scintillating personality. He and his gay Edwardian world are forever gone."

4 FINED AFTER SHOOTING

James Kemp, 29, Frankstown road, Penn Township, was fined $25 or 30 days in jail on a disorderly conduct charge by Magistrate Charles Papale in East End Police Court today. Kemp was arrested with May Rizzo, 39, of 915 Gerret street, and two roomers in the Rizzo home, Jack Rodgers and Weldon Edworth, when Kemp was shot in the leg. They said Kemp shot himself accidentally. All disclaimed ownership of the weapon, Rodgers saying it was Kemp's, and Kemp insisting he found it in a drawer in the Rizzo home. Miss Rizzo, Rodgers and Edworth were fined $10 each or 10 days in jail.

Aviation Author To Talk on Air

James E. Mooney, of Mt. Lebanon, author of aviation books, will broadcast from Station KDKA at 5:15 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, speaking on "Building for Tomorrow in Aviation." Mr. Mooney's latest book, "Air Travel," recently published, was prepared as a text book in junior high schools. It contains the history of aviation and contains a tribute to pioneers of the air by the late Dr. William M. Davidson. Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd dedicated it to Floyd Bennett.

Fire of undetermined origin broke out in the supply room of the Bellevue High School Saturday night causing damage estimated at several hundred dollars. The fire smoldered for some time, and caused a dense cloud of smoke which hindered firemen.

HIRE MORE MEN ON PIPE LINES

Forty additional men were put to work on the laying of new water pipes by the South Pittsburgh Water Company, it was announced by Assistant Superintendent E. W. Snyder, in charge of the distribution system. The group makes a total of 225 men employed in the past two weeks for three outstanding jobs.

The new constructions are: An eight inch pipe in Bower Hill road, Mt. Lebanon; a 16 inch pipe through Hays to Lincoln Place, and a 30 inch pipe through Fair Haven to Mt. Lebanon and Dormont.

The work will be completed in about two months, Mr. Snyder said.

RIVER-RAIL COAL DEPOT PLANNED

A river-rail coal transshipment plant, the first of its kind to be provided by the Pennsylvania Railroad on the Ohio River, will be constructed near the east end of Conway yard, just west of Baden, Beaver County, 20 miles from Pittsburgh, on the main line from Pittsburgh to Great Lake ports.

Authority for the expenditure of approximately $350,000 has been given by the board of directors.

The transshipment facility is planned to be similar in build and operation to installations made on the rivers of Western Pennsylvania by Pittsburgh industries, notably by the Carnegie Steel Company at Clairton.

The Pennsylvania's proposed plant is scheduled to handle 3,200 tons of coal each eight-hour trick from barges to railroad cars. It is believed this coal, originating at river mines, will be barged to the new transshipment plant and there transferred to cars for rail movement to industries in or near Youngstown, O. The new plant will handle about 1,000,000 tons annually, it is estimated.

Select Jury in Killing of Sleuth

A jury to try Dennie Wilkins, 25, Negro, of 2519½ Wylie avenue, accused of the murder of Precinct Detective James Hughes, also a Negro, December 27, last, following a robbery, was being selected today. Wilkins is said to have shot Hughes while the officer had Charles Ricks, Jr., and John Franklin covered with his revolver. Franklin never was apprehended.

BANDITS SOUGHT IN HOLDUP OF 75

5 YOUTHS ROB DICE PLAYERS OF $5,000

Abandoned Car Located After Homestead Raid; Other Robberies Reported

County Detective Michael McDermott today was directing the investigation into the daring holdup of an alleged gambling house at 346 Eighth avenue, Homestead, early yesterday when five youths forced 75 persons to face a wall and stole $5,000 to $6,000 in cash and a diamond stickpin valued at $1,500.

Pursuit was frustrated by the bandits forcing most of their victims to remove one leg from their trousers. Others were compelled to doff the trousers which were thrown into a pile in the center of the floor.

CUT OFF NECKTIE

Crap and poker games were in operation when three bandits entered the place, attracting attention by firing two shots into the floor, it was reported. Another thug then made his entry, while the fifth stood guard at the door. The stickpin was taken from its owner when one of the holdup men cut off the victim's necktie.

The gambling den, with a poolroom as a blind, was conducted, police say, by Daniel Clark and Andrew Frew, although no arrests have been made.

The automobile used by the bandits was found abandoned at Fifteenth and Walnut streets, McKeesport. The car had been reported stolen by its owner, J. F. Mehaffey, of McKeesport, who had parked it near the McKeesport Y. M. C. A.

HELD UP WITH KNIFE

A watch valued at $25 and a small amount of cash were stolen from George D. Raincheck, of 3543 Butler street, by a Negro highwayman, who threatened him with a large knife at Smallman and Twenty-eighth streets, early yesterday.

Another pedestrian, William D. Brake, of 1150 Greenfield avenue, was robbed of $14 and a watch valued at $23, by two Negroes, who slugged him at Logan and Clark sts.

From the pharmacy of J. J. Klavon, at 2901 Penn avenue, $450 was obtained by two bandits who held Klavon at bay with revolvers. A chain grocery at 47 Logan street, yielded $20 to three Negro thugs who held several customers, the manager and his clerk at bay.

ROB TAXI DRIVER

Three men who engaged Albert Barnett, of 606 Arch street, a taxicab driver, to take them to Wallbridge street and Noblestown road, robbed him of $21.95 when they reached the destination, according to police.

FATHER FINDS SON SUICIDE

Despondency over his inability to obtain steady work was believed to have caused Frank Wanker, 42, of Ross avenue, Ross Township, to end his life on his father's farm, according to a report to Deputy Coroner W. R. Sellers.

The father, Alex G. Wanker, found his son on top of a pile of hay in the barn. The right arm had been slashed, and a razor was lying nearby. The victim had bled to death. The elder Wanker told police he last saw his son late Saturday.

Signals in Pennsy Engines Cut Collision Peril; New System in Use

The signal in the cab—a new system of control, today provided additional safety for passengers and crew of the crack Pennsylvania trains over the mountains between Pittsburgh and Altoona. The system was put into operation yesterday.

With each train setting its own signals for the guidance of all following trains, the possibility of collision is virtually eliminated. Conquering the fog and storm, the engine crew no longer will have to peer ahead, straining their eyes to catch the signal. Their instructions are constantly before them, flashing on a series of lights such as are provided for the protection of pedestrians at busy street corners.

WRITER MAKES TRIP

Riding the locomotive of the Red Arrow Express, a Sun-Telegraph reporter left Pittsburgh shortly after 12 a. m. Sunday morning. Many times when smoke hid the track signals, the ever lighted signal in the cab indicated safety ahead. The installation of the cab signals on the main line of the Pittsburgh division has been completed at a cost of $1,700,000.

During the fast ride, the track signal changes from clear to caution. The cab signals also change and immediately a whistle sounds beside Engineer Harry A. McCaleb, who guides the Red Arrow eastward. Within 10 seconds the engineer must answer, by the throwing of a small lever. If he fails the automatic control system sets the brakes and the train is halted. The engineer is aware he will be called to answer for each stop.

RUN WITHOUT STOP

Several times on the early morning run, the whistle sounded in the cab. McCaleb answered and cut his speed. Without a single stop the train made the fast trip, cutting down or increasing speed as the signals indicated.

The automatic control system is a Pittsburgh product, the invention of the Union Switch and Signal Company. The entire railroad world is watching the working of the continuous system of cab signals on the Pittsburgh division, where the rails carry as heavy a burden of fast freight and passenger trains as any similar piece of roadbed in the world.

Incidentally, the success of these cab signals it is believed, will speed the end of the movement to require railroads to use automatic control systems where the operation of the train is taken entirely away from a trained crew. Officials of the Pennsylvania railroad believe the new system, which gets information to the engine crew and lets the engineman and fireman handle the train, is far safer.

FIGHT TO SAVE CANAL PROJECT

Pittsburgh river men and business leaders were to meet today in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium to make plans for a vigorous fight to save the Lake Erie and Ohio canal project which has long been advocated by local builders. The meeting was called when it was learned the executive committee of the Mississippi Valley Association had indorsed the "dead end" canal to Youngstown, O., ignoring the local fight for a waterway link with Lake Erie.

President James Rae, of the Chamber, in calling the meeting for today stated the chamber would fight against a compromise and would wage a battle for the canal project in its entirety. It is planned to organize a large delegation of representative Pittsburghers to attend the twelfth annual convention of the Mississippi Valley Association in St. Louis next Monday and Tuesday.

B. & O. TO OPEN NEW TERMINAL

The new $300,000 warehouse in the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad freight terminal, on the site of the old exposition grounds, North Side, was to be opened today by the Universal Carloading and Distributing Company. The warehouse at Eleventh and Pike streets will be abandoned.

The new warehouse was erected in 50 days of actual construction work. It faces the newly-widened General Robinson street, and is the first development of the Baltimore and Ohio's new freight center.

Among those attending the opening were to be G. C. Woodruff, of New York, chairman of the board of the Universal company; Walter Bockstahler, of New York; B. R. Lawrence, of Chicago, and D. C. Hunter, of Philadelphia, vice presidents, and G. F. Hankee, manager of the company in Detroit, and former manager here.

FRESHEST GROCERIES

Not to be found in old packages

FOOD and other groceries in A&P stores are always fresh because they are sold quickly. New supplies, therefore, are constantly coming into these stores. Nothing stays on A&P shelves long enough to become stale.

For this reason you find in A&P stores only the latest packages put out by the manufacturers. Sometimes these packages are smaller than the old ones. Sometimes they are larger. But the manufacturers often leave the prices of their packages unchanged on account of varying costs.

This is why sometimes you get a small or a larger package in A&P stores than you get in other stores which sell the same goods. Old packages are never to be found where sales are rapid.

Eberhardt Funeral.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Robert G. Eberhardt, 24, who died Saturday in the City Hospital, Akron, O. The services will be held in his late home, 1198 Atlantic avenue, Monaca, and burial will be in the Union Cemetery, Monaca. Mr. Eberhardt leaves his mother, Mrs. Rose Roth Eberhardt; a brother, William F. Eberhardt, with whom he made his home, and two sisters, Mrs. William J. Miller and Miss Edna Eberhardt, both of Monaca.

Cook Funeral.

Funeral services for Miss Marguerite Cook, 19, of 5102 Baum boulevard, will be held from the St. Paul's Cathedral tomorrow morning. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery. Miss Cook, a lifelong resident of Pittsburgh, died in Montefiore Hospital Saturday night from injuries suffered in an auto collision in Fifth avenue. She leaves three sisters and three brothers, Miss Mary Eileen, William, Owen, Mrs. Mary Rita, Miss Cecilia and John Cook, all of Pittsburgh.

'NUMBERS' RAID NETS 7 MEN

Seven men were to be given hearings today as an aftermath of raids on two alleged "numbers" establishments in McKeesport Saturday. Police say they seized lottery books and adding machines in the confectionery of Albert Duffy, 30, at 1100 Market street, and the poolroom of Joseph Bahm, 43, in 555 Fifth avenue. Bahm and Duffy were released on $105 forfeits and five alleged number writers arrested in the establishment were at liberty under $25 forfeits.

The raids featured the first day of the drive inaugurated by Mayor George H. Lysle. Few public school children in McKeesport were playing "numbers," according to Dr. J. B. Richey, superintendent of schools.

HUDSON-ESSEX PRICES CUT

Additions of 1,000 men to its working force and substantial price cuts in Hudson and Essex automobiles were announced by the Hudson Motor Company today.

The additional 1,000 men puts the number of new employes hired during the past three weeks to the figure of 3,500 and is in line with the organization's policy to give immediate employment to as large a force of wage earners as possible.

New prices, announced in advance of the showing of new car models a month hence, are the lowest in the manufacturer's 22 years' history. Base list price of the Greater Hudson Eight will be $875. The new Essex Super Six will be sold as low as $595. The prices mean savings of $175 on the Hudson base price and $170 on the Essex, compared with prices when the new models were introduced a year ago.

William J. McAneeny, president of the company, announced the policy.

$3,000 DAMAGE IN SOHO FIRE

Damage estimated at $3,000 resulted from a fire in a three-story frame building at 2214 Fifth avenue last night.

The flames started in the second-floor living quarters of David Snyder, who conducts a fruit store on the first floor. An adjoining frame house at 2216 Fifth avenue also was damaged.

BANK EMPLOYE BLAMES STOCKS

GAVE BOY 'CHANCE'

Guckert, then president of the First National Bank of Allegenhy, took a kindly interest in him. He offered the bright young lad a job in the bank. He started work at $15 a month. He talks of this period of his life with a trace of pride in his voice:

"It was a great chance. I hadn't graduated from grade school, but one of my teachers offered to help me out at night. I studied hard and took the examination for my diploma at Allegheny High School.

"They were good to me at the bank and I advanced rapidly. I became a teller after a few years and subsequently bookkeeper, and then head of the savings department. A little later the First and Second National Banks of Allegheny consolidated and I was elected assistant cashier.

"Mr. Guckert has always been my friend. When full realization of what I had done in taking the money came to me several weeks ago, my first thought was of him. I didn't want to hurt him—I didn't want to hurt the bank. I was fearful of what might happen when our depositors learned of the shortage. You know how these things sometimes react.

"I was at my wits end. I didn't know which way to turn. My brother helped me out. We talked it over and I decided to go to Mr. Guckert and tell him the whole story."

STARTED WITH FRIEND

The young bank officer was reluctant to discuss the details of how he started speculating in stocks, other than to say he and "a friend" had agreed to make some investments, "the friend" to supply the money and both to share equally in profits and losses. Then he explained:

"The crash last fall caught us, but we were able to keep our heads out of water through the winter. The this spring, I began to get into difficulties.

"You see, my associate had died. He knew I would do the right thing and I wanted to because there were people near and dear to him dependent upon his estate.

"I couldn't see the whole thing wiped out and my own savings of years along with it.

RALLY TOO BRIEF

"I was weak—I thought the rally last June would put me back on my feet and I took some of the bank's funds. The rally was short lived. I was in trouble again. Again and again, I took bank funds, hoping against hope it would be the last and I could retrieve my losses and pay it back.

"After the first mistake the others seemed to become necessary to safeguard what I had already taken. I took money 10 times. In the September rally I was able to put some back, but the crash this fall put me in a hole again and I got in deeper and deeper. Then came the awful realization of what I had done. The total amount overwhelmed me. It seemed terrible that all this money was gone—gone forever."

At this juncture the troubled young man's thoughts turned again to his parents and his own wife and child. Tears coursed down his worried countenance and his distress was mute evidence of his contriteness.

TRUE TO KIN

He started speaking again:

"Oh yes — there are easier ways out of this trouble. But not for me. There are my parents and my wife and child. I will go through with it and make amends to them. They are faithful and I will be true to them."

Neighbors, friends and all who know him have a kindly word for him. He says:

"It is the help and sincerity of my friends that has kept me up and I am going to face it and make good if it takes a lifetime."

Drawer Closed Months, Bird Hops Out

Members of the family of Carl Corsello, of 3712 Brighton road, were mystified yesterday when a small bird hopped from a drawer in the library of the home which, they said, had not been opened for several months. Miss Rosella Corsello was reading in the library when she heard a movement in the drawer. A servant who opened it found nothing, but when he opened it later the bird hopped out.

DR. KERR TALKS AT PRINCETON

The Rev. Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr, of Pittsburgh, moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, made his annual visitation as head of the Presbyterian Church to Princeton Seminary yesterday. In a sermon delivered at the seminary chapel he criticized merely humanistic creeds which "deny the fact of God and say there is no mind nor will nor soul."

He said, in part:

"The driving power of a great Christian creed leads directly to deeds of love and menial service—not to love of life, but to throwing away of life into immortality."

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Miss Munroe Engaged To Wed

There's something infectious in this late November bridal season, for it's resulting in more and more plans for weddings, and in engagements, which are the first step, of course, to a stately marriage service. Yesterday I told you who would be in Elizabeth Curry's wedding party on November 26 when she weds John M. Kingsley, son of the Darwin P. Kingsleys, of New York, and that Anne Douglas Stewart had named January 17 as the date for her marriage to John E. McKelvy, son of Mrs. William M. McKelvy.

Today I want to talk about a betrothal that will end in a few months in a wedding. One of the most attractive girls in the younger set, Elinor Duncan Munroe, is engaged. Her father and mother, the James Duncan Munroes, of Stratford avenue, are announcing her engagement to Gaynor Keeler, son of the William H. Keelers, of Albany and Altamont, N. Y.

Dr. and Mrs. William Hamilton MacColl, of the Kiskiminetas School, have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Jean MacColl, to Arthur Horton, of Philadelphia, on Friday, November 28, at 6 o'clock in the Presbyterian Church of Saltsburg.

Plans for Wedding

Betty MacColl will be her sister's maid of honor, and Rebecca Barnes, of Washington; Elizabeth Jones, of Philadelphia; Catharine Sayers, of Waynesburg, and Ann St. Clair, of Kiskiminetas, will be bridesmaids.

Mr. Horton will have William C. Ferguson, Jr., of Philadelphia, as his best man, and John Peake, James Hartshorne, Richard Slocum, Donald Horton and Matt Ryan, all of Philadelphia, and W. A. MacColl, brother of the bride-elect, will be ushers. Mr. MacColl will return from Amherst for the ceremony.

The bride-elect is a graduate of the Pennsylvania College for Women, and her fiance attended the Penn Charter School of Germantown and the University of Pennsylvania.

Here for Week-End

In the group are Genevieve Wright, daughter of the W. O. Wrights, of Beechwood boulevard; Willa and Elenore Smith, daughters of the H. W. Smiths, of Beverly place, and Mary Louise Aufderheide, daughter of the H. T. Aufderheides, of Beacon street. They are all members of the class of 1931.

Among recent Gotham visitors from Pittsburgh are the Ledlie W. Youngs, Mrs. Jerome Hill, Mrs. J. Albert McKay, the F. Robert Cliftons, and the Gelston Bailey Morrises.

Another debut date has been named. Mrs. Richard B. Rucker, of Morewood avenue, will give a luncheon December 23 in the Twentieth Century Club to present her daughter, Eleanor Hilliard Tucker, a senior at Smith.

And there's another party planned for that popular deb, Frances Kier. Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Fownes II, of Wilkins avenue, will give a dinner in honor of Frances on December 16 in the University Club.

There's still another engagement announced here today. The James McComb Cruikshanks, of Cabot, Pa., have made known the betrothal of their daughter Hazel, to Robert P. Clarke, Jr., son of the Robert P. Clarkes, of Sewickley.

One of fall's most prominent weddings took place Saturday in Long Island, when Harriet Denny Underwood, daughter of the Enoch William Underwoods, of Garden City, L. I., became the bride of Lynne Anderson Warren, son of the Anderson Lay Warrens, of Wellesley avenue, Pittsburgh. The ceremony took place at 8 o'clock in the evening in the home of the bride, with the Rev. Roy F. Duffield officiating.

Wedding In East

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin in princess mode, with the long train falling from the waistline. Her veil of old rose point family lace was finished with a bandeau of tulle. She carried calla lilies. Her three sisters were her only attendants. Tony Underwood, as the maid of honor, Alice and Betty Anne Underwood, as the bridesmaids. The maid of honor wore turquoise blue tulle made with a peplum at the hipline, bound with orchid pink, and the bridesmaids' frocks were a deeper shade of blue tulle, bound with pink, with sashes lined with orchid pink. They wore orchid pink slippers and gloves, and carried arm bouquets of pink pompons.

Harry Barney, of Pittsburgh, was best man, and the ushers included two Pittsburghers, Henry W. Holt and Dr. John F. Emmerling, and Reginald Towner, of Montclair, N. J., and William Guindon Duval, of Garden City.

The bride is the granddaughter of Frederick D. Underwood, former president of the Erie Railroad, and of the late James Thomas Wyman, of Minneapolis. She attended Walnut Hill School and is a graduate of Smith College, class of 1929. Mr. Warren is a graduate of Amherst, 1929, and is studying law at the University of Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. George Rankin, Jr., of Wilkinsburg, announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Jean Mae Rankin, to Harry W. Coltrell, of Brentwood, at a dinner bridge Friday evening in the Alcoma Country Club.

Betrothal Announced

OIL LINE FOUGHT AT FOX CHAPEL

Residents of the Fox Chapel district have objected to the building of a pipeline being constructed by the Susquehanna Pipeline Company from the Atlantic seaboard to Cleveland, O.

Their contention is that the act of 1883, regarding pipelines, specified only the transportation of petroleum, and they fear the new line will be used to ship gasoline.

The company today asked Judges James R. Macfarlane, James M. Gray and Frank P. Patterson to approve a bond to indemnify property holders against any damage. Arguments for both sides were heard.

Tribute Paid Polish Hero, Kosciusko

GENEVA, Nov. 17.—(INS.)—National services in honor of Thaddeus Kosciusko, Polish hero and aide-de-camp to George Washington, were held at Soleure, where he was buried in 1817. A wreath in honor of the patriot was sent to Soleure by the American minister to Switzerland on behalf of the United States government.

Warmer Climates Draw More Autoists

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Despite talk of hard times, motorists of the Middle West continue to roll merrily on toward warmer climes.

Compared with a similar period last year, motor travel to Florida has gained about 34 per cent and to California 23 per cent.

OAKLAND BANK JOINS PEOPLES

Merger of the Oakland Savings and Trust Company with the Peoples-Pittsburgh Trust Company as an Oakland member of the Associated Banks, was announced today by C. B. Aylesworth, president of the Oakland Savings and Trust Company. The Oakland institution will hereafter be known as the Oakland branch of the Peoples-Pittsburgh Trust Company.

The merger will add more than $7,000,000 to the resources of the Peoples-Pittsburgh group, it is said, bringing its assets near the $100,000,000 mark. There will be no change in the present board of directors, officers, employes or operating policies, it was announced, and service will continue without interruption.

Officers of the Oakland branch are: C. B. Aylesworth, vice president and chairman of advisory board; R. J. Miller, vice president; O. C. Young, assistant treasurer; C. W. Ehni, assistant vice president; F. W. Cotton, assistant vice president; Adam Roscoe, assistant secretary.

NEW PALESTINE COLONY AIM

LONDON, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—A big new development scheme for Palestine involving the expenditure of $12,500,000 was announced by Drummond Shiels, undersecretary for colonies, in the House of Commons today.

The scheme is supported by the British government, assisted by a loan, and is intended to provide settlement on the land of approximately 10,000 families.

The announcement, which was unexpected, came in the midst of debate in which the White Paper setting forth the government's policy concerning Palestine had been vigorously attacked on the grounds of injustice to the Jews.

Phillips Exeter Gift Alters Class Style

EXETER, N. H., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Lewis Perry, principal of Phillips Exeter Academy, announced that funds had been provided by Edward S. Harkness, New York philanthropist, making possible changes in its teaching system.

Under the newly planned system, boys will receive instruction in groups of not more than 10, which according to the announcement, "constitute the most effective size for teaching."

Former Physician To Pershing Dies

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 17.—(INS.)—Funeral arrangements were underway here today for Dr. Henry U. MacGruer, former physician to Gen. Pershing during the World War, who died late yesterday at his home here following an illness of five weeks.

MacGruer, who was 56, was a national figure in Masonry and was a former grand master of the Grand Lodge of Masons. He was the first commissioner of health of Syracuse.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Standing bare-headed in the rain for hours, a Franciscan Brother yesterday handed out—one by one—4,376 10-cent pieces and as many sandwiches to a long line of penniless, bedraggled men in front of the church of St. Francis of Assisi.

BLACK AND WHITE ADDS A DRAMATIC TOUCH TO MODE

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Nov. 17.—The dramatic element in this season's evening mode is holding the interest of the smart women of this city. Under the direction of ingenious couturiers this dramatic quality is expressed so deftly as never to become tiresome or theatrical. If it were not for the original treatments accorded the black and the white evening gowns that one sees everywhere, the dominance of these two colors might begin to pall. On the contrary, however, the manner in which these colors are used, as for instance a white gown with a black coat, ermine trimmed, or a white chiffon frock handsomely trimmed in black fur, only tends to effect a dramatic contrast that is meeting favor everywhere.

GLAMOROUS effects are brought into the limelight, too, with brilliant embroideries gaining new applause constantly. Gowns are brilliant with bugles, sequins, rhinestones, paillettes and beads. There are elaborate silk embroideries, allover embroideries on tulle, eyelet embroidered taffetas and other embellishments that reveal the fine hand of the artist.

LATE COLLECTIONS offer a panoramic picture of the style themes of the various periods interpreted in a manner distinctly that of 1930. The Grecian influence continues to be a feature of many models. The Empire gown is also much liked. Peplums, tiers in irregular widths, diagonal flounces, unpressed pleats, fulness below smooth hips are only a few of the countless details that give variety to the gowns to be worn these winter evenings.

THE LITTLE jacket of ermine continues to enjoy a huge success, and this despite the fact that long coats, lavishly fur trimmed, are the favorites of many. This model from Heim's is distinguished by a becoming collar that has a slightly undulating line along the edge, not really marked enough to be called scalloped.

COUNTER CLAIM NAMES CLARA

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17.—(Universal.)—Clara Bow will make a personal appearance Tuesday morning before the county grand jury.

Rex Bell, the actor, who is Miss Bow's "close friend," is also scheduled to appear, as are Blayney Matthews, district attorney's detective, and his assistants, Marjorie Fairchild and James Cline.

They will lay before the grand jury certain evidence, assertedly against Miss Daisy Devoe, former secretary to the screen star.

Miss Devoe, however, today opened fire with a legal barrage all her own, directed at Miss Bow, Bell, Fitts, et al.

The blonde ex-secretary filed a claim and delivery suit in Superior Court, charging that $2,200 worth of jewelry and personal property was taken from her without authority by operatives for the district attorney.

They were taken from her, she asserted, by the district attorney's detectives, without warrant, when Miss Bow discharged her and then charged that Miss Devoe had stolen them.

Englishman Finds Remote Plateau

CAIRO, Nov. 17.—(INS.)—A remarkable plateu 6,000 feet high and located in the heart of the Libyan desert has been explored by Maj. Ralph Bagnold, of the Indian signal corps, first white man believed to have set eyes on the region. The plateau was discovered by wandering Arab tribes in 1923.

CHURCH OUSTS EMPRINGHAM

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—The church career of Dr. James Empringham, Episcopal clergyman, founder of the Church Temperance Society and the Health Educational Society, has been closed.

The final action was taken almost a year ago, three months after he wrote Bishop William T. Manning renouncing his holy orders, but it did not become generally known until today.

The usual procedure of the church was followed. Three months after receipt of his letter, in August, 1929, while he was in legal difficulties over his health organization, Bishop Manning signed the orders unfrocking him, read them to two witnesses and then made them a part of the official church record.

Relics Unearthed In Biblical City

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.—(INS.)—The famous Biblical city of Bethshan has yielded up new relics to a group of excavators of the University of Pennsylvania, it was revealed today. The city is noted as the spot where King Saul's body was hung up on a wall after his suicide in the battle of Mt. Gilboa.

Woman's $65,000 Estate to Family

Mrs. Mary Kenney Flaccus, of Ben Avon, in her will filed today, left an estate valued at $65,000. To her husband, George E. Flaccus, she bequeathed 350 shares of stock in the William Flaccus Oak Leather Company. The remainder is to be placed in trust with a provision to pay her mother, Mrs. Caroline T. Fleming, a legacy the decedent received from her father, James M. Fleming, and for the education of the two Flaccus children, who will receive the residue when they reach the age of 25.

UKRANIANS ASK U. S. PROTESTS

Protesting against alleged brutalities of the Polish government in its program of "pacifying" the Polish Ukraine, more than 2,500 men and women of Ukranian descent gathered at two mass meetings yesterday in the Ukranian National Home, McKees Rocks, and in Saints Peter and Paul Ukranian Greek Catholic Church, Carnegie.

At both meetings resolutions were adopted calling upon the League of Nations and the United States to intercede in behalf of Ukranian nationalists in eastern Europe.

The Rev. N. J. Woloshuk, of Johnstown, national chaplain of the Forty-and-Eight Society of the American Legion was the principal speaker at both meetings. The resolutions were signed by the Rev. Dennis Kulmatycky, pastor of St. Mary's Ukranian Greek Catholic Church, McKees Rocks, the Rev. J. A. Zuk, pastor of the Carnegie church, and S. I. Kostecki, of McKees Rocks. The McKees Rocks meeting was held under auspices of the Rev Kulmatycky's congregation.

AUTO NOISE BAN URGED BY CLUB

More stringent anti-noise regulations for motor vehicles, relocation of highway danger signs to 25 feet back of danger points, and control of location of billboards and barbeque stands, were legislative proposals discussed by the legal committee of the Pittsburgh Motor Club.

Approximately 50 proposals are to be considered by the committee at later meetings according to B. V. Indusi, chairman. Other committee members include W. V. Swearingen, R. B. Gabler, George P. Krouts, Maurice Chalkin, G. Sisson Shrum and I. A. Bernstein. The group recommended that A. A. Blumstone be continued as chief defense attorney for the club during the next year.

RESCUE FAILS, 3 DIE IN FIRE

WINCHESTER, Va., Nov. 17.—(Universal).—Rushing back into a blazing apple-packing plant to rescue his wife and 13-year-old son, Roy Stewart, 27, perished with them.

The family was trapped in an apartment on the second floor when the fire of undetermined origin broke out.

Stewart had made his way safely from the building, but when he discovered his wife and child had been unable to escape, due to the flames and dense smoke he made the futile attempt to rescue them.

NEW LIGHT SHED ON RUM KILLING

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W. Va., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Sheriff L. B. Snyder said today that Louis Zambrano, Pittsburgh, readily answering questions, has added materially to his alleged confession of the murder of Vito Ascoli, 37, Pittsburgh, near Pine Grove, more than a week ago.

Snyder also announced that Mrs. Zambrano, detained as a material witness, will be released.

Wetzel County officers quote Zambrano as admitting he killed Ascoli because the latter knew too much about Zambrano's liquor activities.

For Coughs
From Colds Where One is Willing To Pay
To Be Sure

Creomulsion is made to do the utmost for a cough from colds. It combines seven major helps in one—the best helps known to science. It is for quick relief, for safety, when the cough seems deep.

Mild coughs may yield to a lesser help—to some single factor, maybe. But no one can tell which factor will do most for any certain cough. And all coughs should be stopped at once. So careful people, more and more, give Creomulsion for any cough that starts.

The cost is $1.25—a little more than some helps. But it means a seven-way help—the best men know. And it costs you nothing if it fails to bring the quick relief you seek. Your druggist guarantees it.

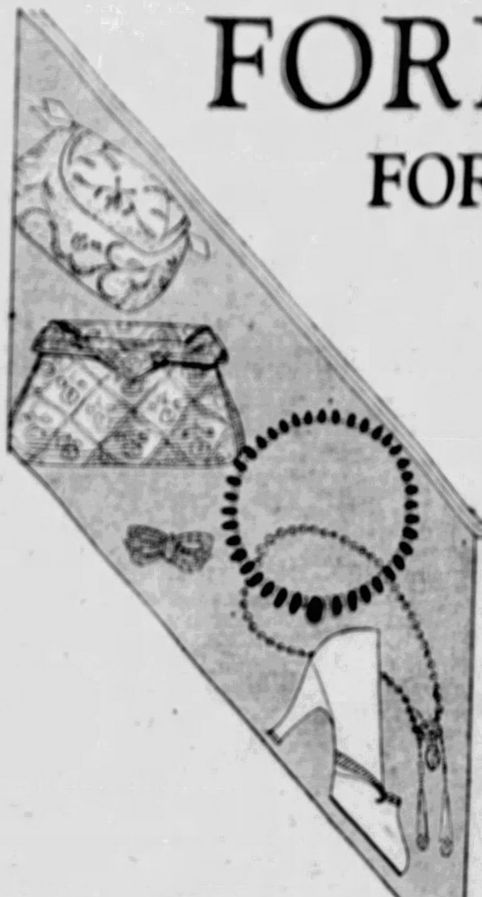
FORMAL FASHIONS
FOR IMPORTANT EVENINGS

The Classicism of the past and the Romanticism of today unite in our exposition of formal fashions, beginning tomorrow. We present these fashions in stunning gowns, wraps and the properly co-ordinated accessories—dramatized by a display, on artificial mannequins, of the three major themes influencing the evening mode — the 1830, the Romantic and the Grecian.



WRAPS
Of Intriguing Splendor
$59.50

Wraps play an important and an intriguing role in the pageant of splendor of formal fashions. The length is solely dependent on the gown — hip lengths continue; the three-quarter length is newly smart and practical; and the full length coat with fitted lines has already won many lasting admirers. Furs may be costly or frankly inexpensive. The smartest combination is black and white.

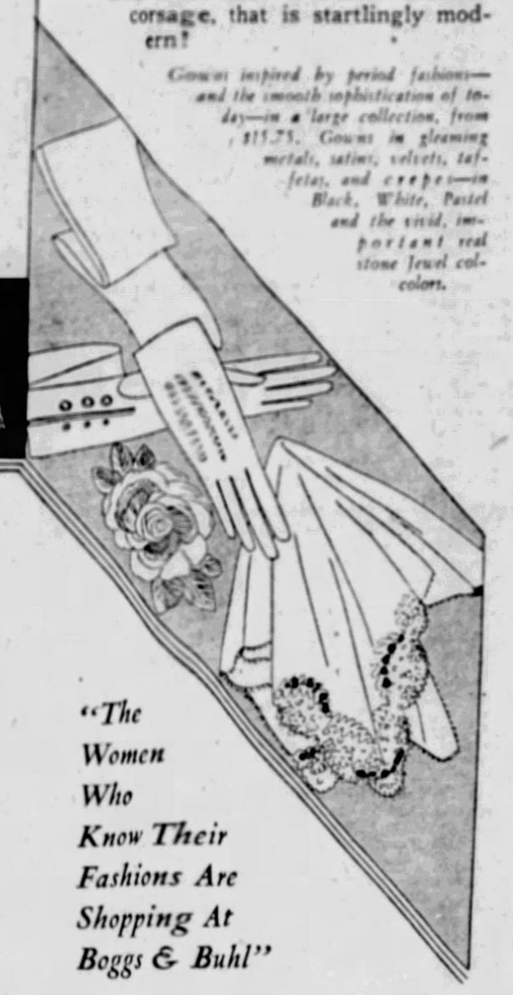
This wrap is a quaint combination of cape and short wrap, in transparent velvet with ermine-like lapin, $59.50. Others, regally stunning, or out-and-out smart—in black and white, or the brilliant jewel tones, $39.50 to $125.

GOWNS
With Empire Lines
$15.75

Napoleon's brilliant maneouvers all over Europe — Josephine's brilliant court at Paris — suggest to Molyneux the Empire fashions that inspire his favorite and most breath-taking gowns.

This one we have copied in most feminine, most flattering, most becoming of all—black lace. It uses the characteristic Empire half-bertha bodice frill, the peplum flounce, the full skirt that Josephine's dressmakers copied from flowing panels of ancient Greece—and then adds a scarlet shoulder corsage, that is startlingly modern!

Gowns inspired by period fashions—and the smooth sophistication of today—in a large collection, from $15.75. Gowns in gleaming metals, satins, velvets, taffetas, and crepes—in Black, White, Pastel and the vivid, important real stone jewel colors.



Accessories for the Gay Night Life

Evening Slippers
Silk failles are smart—especially when tinted to match your jewels! Sketched above, with silver throating and heel, $10. Others, $7.50 to $15.00.

Vivid Jewels
—and what is more precious than rubies for the desired sparkling contrast? Sketched, $4.95. Turquoise also leads, and pearls are classic. $4.95 up.

Elaborate Bags
Seed pearls in tapestry designs "go" with everything. Sketched top, $4.95. Metal cloths are both sophisticated and feminine. Sketched, $7.50. Bags, $2.95 to $12.50.

Long White Gloves
16-button white kid gloves are "right" for any costume. Sketched, imported kid, $10. Others, $7.50. 14-button—Sky Blue, Tea Rose, Eggshell, $7.50.

Naturalistic Flowers
Worn singly or in clusters at belts, corsages, decolletage—and the more expensive and real looking the better! Sketched, $1.75. Others, 50c to $3.50.

Chiffon Kerchiefs
Paris matches its handkerchiefs to its jewels and slippers! Large chiffon squares—jewel or pastel colors—lace trimmed—sketched, $1.50. Others, 50c to $3.50.

JOCK LOSES ONLY TWICE IN NOVEMBER

COACH SAM WILLAMAN and his Ohio State gridders, with Wesley Fesler and Lew Hinchman starring—the last named, by the way, is a son of Bill Hinchman, the Pirate baseball scout—earned more than the degree of distinction that usually accompanies a football victory when they scored their 16-to-7 triumph over Pitt in Columbus last Saturday. They also earned the ranking of being the first and only opponents to defeat a Panther eleven in November during the last six years, and only the second foemen to take the measure of the Pittites since Jock Sutherland started coaching here.

Wesley Fesler.

Sutherland usually has his team at such a peak and functioning so smoothly by that time that beating one of his outfits in November has come to be recognized as rating with the toughest jobs in football. He lost a post-season game on the coast in connection with the 1927 season and another last New Year's Day, but this is only his second November defeat as Pitt's coach. The first came in his initial year here, 1924, when he lost to Dave Morrow and Wash Jeff, 10 to 0. His complete November record up to date in his seven seasons here shows 17 victories, five ties and two defeats in a total of 24 games. The ties were played with Syracuse in 1924, with W. & J. in 1926 and 1927, and with Nebraska in 1928 and 1930. The November competition in that time has been waged with eight teams—Carnegie Tech, W. & J., Penn, Ohio State, Penn State, Nebraska, Syracuse and West Virginia.

TWO OLD JINXES refused to be routed in Saturday's game in this district, when the dope appeared to give the victims a good chance to chase them. Bucknell had never defeated W. & J. in nine previous meetings, and failed again on this occasion, missing a tie by one point. Duquesne had never beaten Geneva on the latter's own field in 28 years, and once more was unsuccessful in an attempt to turn the tide. The Dukes missed a chance for a tie because Quarterback Sullivan, fearing there was not enough time left for more than one play, resorted to a forward pass on first down on Geneva's five-yard line. The ball was lost and time did not expire until Geneva had made three more plays.

Bucknell lost an opportunity for a draw by missing goal after touchdown. Close calls for both winners, but taking away none of the credit due them for their victories. W. & J.'s triumph—fairly earned through fighting spirit, smarter play, superior punting and splendid goal-line defense, though the Presidents were outrushed in three periods in the center of the field—adds greatly to the attractiveness of the big charity game to be played with Carnegie Tech at the Stadium on November 29. There is a real battle in prospect now.

IT REMAINED FOR a girl athlete to make necessary the coining of some such title, as "record-breaking record breaker." Miss Helene Madison has smashed so many swimming marks this year as to earn a chapter all her own in the history of amateur aquatic sports.

Helene Madison

Of a total of 172 new athletic records for 1930 submitted to the A. A. U. for recognition at its forty-second annual convention now in progress at Washington, no fewer than 39 were established in the water by this 17-year-old Seattle lass.

IN THE LAST eight months, Miss Madison has broken 12 world and 27 American records in the women's division of swimming, sweeping off the books the best figures made by such sterling swimmers as Gertrude Ederle, Martha Norelius, Ethel Lackie, Josephine McKim and Albino Osipowich. She cracked the record for every event from 100 yards to one mile, showing the rare quality of being both a sprint and a distance champion. She bettered all but five of the former world free-style records. The exceptions were the marks for 400, 500, 1,000 and 1,500 meters and 1,000 yards, and they escaped only because she was not officially timed for those distances. If that isn't a record for records, there is no such thing.

AND MISS MADISON wasn't the only girl sport star to distinguish herself by extraordinary performances during 1930. Miss Eleanor Holm, New York backstroke swimmer, turned in 17 new records, while in track and field competition Miss Stella Walsh, of Cleveland, established 11 marks—10 for sprinting at from 40 to 220 yards and one for the running broad jump.

Both in swimming and track sports, the fair sex far surpassed the male performers at record-breaking during the year. The girl swimmers broke 46 marks as against 28 for the men, and hung up 24 track and field records as against 17 by the males. The rapid advances made by girl athletes is one of the most remarkable features of American sport progress and development.

Welker Cochran

AS COMPETITION GETS under way between Willie Hoppe and Welker Cochran at 3,600 points for the world 18.1 balkline billiard championship, a revival of the long-abandoned style of game at which Hoppe won the title from Maurice Vignaux in Paris way back in 1906, many cue veterans are conceding Welker more than a fighting chance to lift the crown on account of his rare ability as a shot-maker.

At open-table play it is doubtful if Cochran has an equal in the balkline game. It was his shot-making, more than his ability to nurse the balls, that once carried him to the world championship at the 18.2 style of play.

IT FOLLOWS THAT Welker ought to be even more formidable at 18.1. One or both of the object balls must be driven out of the balk area at every shot instead of only at every second shot, as in 18.2, and with more difficult shots continually confronting the player in 18.1 than in 18.2, such an extraordinary shotmaker as Welker would appear to have an edge on most of the masters. This is borne out by the fact that Cochran holds the world record run of 351 at 18.1. The next best run is 286, made by Hoppe only last week, and the third highest is 241, held by Jake Schaefer, present 18.2 champion. However, defeating Hoppe in competition at any style of billiards is quite a job, and he is never to be counted as beaten until the match is over.

THOUGH HE IS now captain of perhaps the greatest football team that Notre Dame ever had and one of the best ends in the game, "the bottom of the ladder" only faintly describes the modest gridiron start that Tom Conley made at the South Bend university. He wasn't even near the "ladder." They put him on the twelfth team and gave him an old headgear to practice with instead of a football.

If a youngster entering Notre Dame has any lofty ideas as to his football ability, Knute Rockne quickly takes them out of him. The famous coach speedily convinces the boy that his prep school reputation isn't going to count for a thing. It's a test of the lad's spirit. If he's weak-hearted or too vain he'll run out, but if he has the right stuff in him he'll turn in and fight all the harder to show the coach that he has made a mistake.

AS THE STORY is related by Raymond Hill, after Conley had completed his first day's practice as a freshman at South Bend four years ago the betting was 1,000 to 1 that he would never make the grade, and Tom himself was laying the odds. Gene Oberst, now

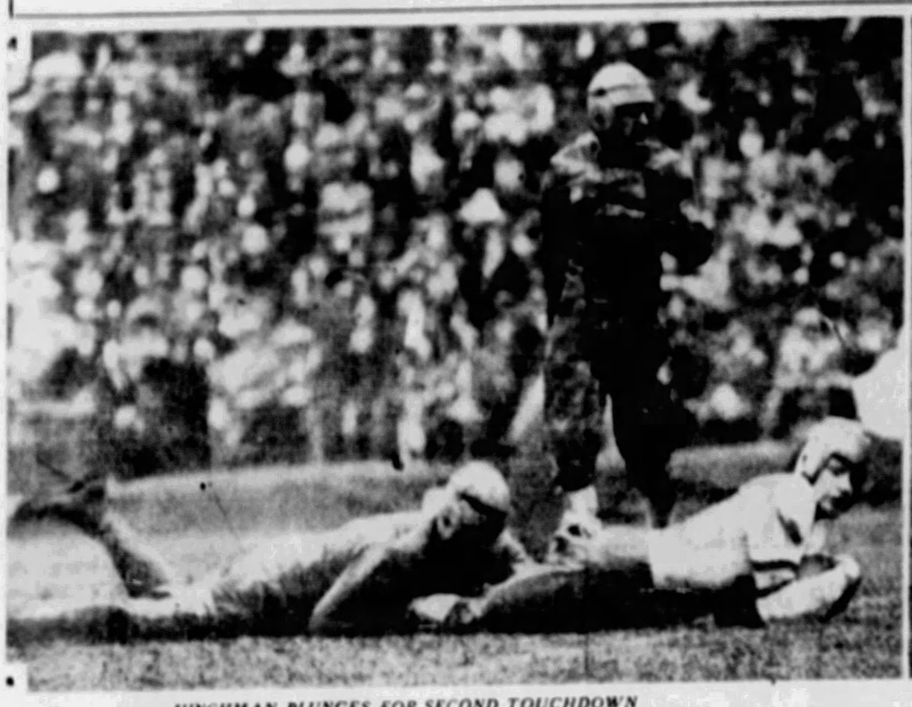
Two Ohio State Scoring Plays That Defeated Pitt



HINCHMAN PLUNGES FOR SECOND TOUCHDOWN

HINCHMAN SCORES FIRST TOUCHDOWN ON 16-YARD PASS

The University of Pittsburgh eleven lost, 16 to 7, to Ohio State at Columbus Saturday in a game featured by the playing of Wesley Fesler and Lou Hinchman, son of Bill Hinchman, Pirates' scout. Hinchman (No. 9), scored both touchdowns for the Buckeyes, the first on a pass from Fesler and the second on a plunge after a pass from Fesler on the 38-yard line had carried play to the four-yard line. Ehrensberger scored Ohio State's other points with a field goal. With the score 16-0, Pitt took a kickoff behind the goal and marched the length of the field for its touchdown, a 58-yard run by Reider featuring the drive.

CAPITAL CITY TEAM BOOKED FOR OCT. 16

Georgetown University has been added to other high-lights on the Duquesne University schedule for 1931, according to John D. Holahan, graduate manager of athletics. With Holy Cross and West Virginia University already signed for next season, the game with the Hoyas, and others yet to be announced, will give the Red and Blue their most ambitious schedule.

Georgetown will come to Pittsburgh for a game under the floodlights at Forbes Field on Friday, October 16, 1931. Elmer Layden's Night Riders will engage in five of the night forays, ending on October 31 with Catholic University, which returns here next year, and ending the after-dark games as the month of October closes.

West Virginia University is again to be met by the Dukes, the latter playing the Mountaineers at Morgantown on September 26. Duquesne travels to Birmingham, Ala., to clash with Howard College and to Worcester Mass., for the Holy Cross game. The complete schedule probably will be announced shortly before the close of the football season.

CECIL, MORGAN CUP VICTORS

Cecil and Morgan came through yesterday to cop honors in their National amateur cup soccer battles. Cecil took a 3-1 victory over Shannon Fintex in a spectacular fray, while Morgan was on the winning end of a 4-2 score with Curry.

League games also were reported to have had spirited contests. Bridgeville bumped Primrose, 2-1; Glendale Climers and National Tube played a scoreless tie; Gallatin tripped Victory Hill, 3-1, and Herminie set down Manown, 2-1.

Fitz Henry and Mather battled to a 3-all deadlock; Clarksville swamped Elizabeth, 8-1; Bower Hill Juniors bowed before Heidelberg Juniors, 2-1; Mollenauer tied Bridgmont, 2-all, and Horning and Shannon Fintex Juniors, tied, 3-3.

Atlasburg lost to Houston's B team, 2-0; Coverdale won by forfeit from Glendale; Gratztown won by forfeit from Vestaburg; German Eagles lost to the Red and White, 4-1, and Cedar Grove bested Primrose's B eleven, 4-1. Yesterday's National cup game lineups:

LEN MACALUSO HOLDS LEAD

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—For the third time this year, Len Macaluso, of Colgate, scored four touchdowns in one game Saturday, and to this feat he added two points after touchdowns and a field goal for 29 points, bringing his total for the season to 135. The figure exceeds by five points the record of Gene McEver, of Tennessee, the nation's leading scorer last year.

Macaluso increased his lead in the race for scoring honors considerably as Bobby Goff, of Rhode Island, was idle Saturday, while Jack Grossman, of Rutgers, scored two touchdowns to tie him for second place at 96 points. Bart Viviano, of Cornell, is fourth with an 84 point total.

HELD INELIGIBLE

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—The New York Herald-Tribune says that Leonard Macaluso, Colgate fullback, who leads the nation in scoring, is playing his fourth year of varsity football:

A survey of the records for the 1927 season reveals that Macaluso appeared as a substitute in two minor games that year, the paper says. This appears to be a direct violation of the rule in effect at Colgate as well as at other leading Eastern colleges, which says that no player may play more than three years of varsity football. The name of Macaluso is found among the substitutes in Colgate's games against St. Lawrence and Wabash in 1927.

Burrone, Family Poisoned by Cream Puffs

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—A dozen cream puffs purchased at a Greenwich Village confectionary store caused havoc yesterday among the family and friends of Vic Burrone, featherweight boxer, who once fought a draw with Tony Canzoneri, new world lightweight champion.

After eating the puffs in the Burrone apartment late Saturday night, the boxer, his wife, their son, and four friends were stricken with acute food poisoning.

All returned to their homes after treatment at a hospital, but a physician said Burrone probably would have to postpone a match against Little Jack Sharkey in Philadelphia.

CHICAGO GETS CANZONERI

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Tony Canzoneri, new lightweight champion of the world, has agreed to box in the Chicago Stadium on December 29, meeting any opponent Matchmaker Nate Lewis might select. It is possible that the winner of the Barney Ross-Harry Dublinsky bout in the Stadium Friday night will be named to meet Canzoneri.

HOPPE DEFENDS TITLE

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Willie Hoppe, veteran billiard star, defends his 18.1 balkline title against Welker Cochran, of Hollywood, at the Strand Academy this week in a 3,600 point match beginning today. Twelve blocks of 300-points each will be played afternoon and evening every day this week.

HARD SCHEDULE TAKES TOLL AT PITT

By JESS CARVER

For various reasons, the opinion has become prevalent that this year's Pitt football team isn't so hot.

This idea had its inception a couple of weeks ago as Mr. K. Rockne's green-jersied Irish trampled the right noble Panthers to a fare you well here in the Stadium. The week following, Pitt messed up what should have been a perfectly lovely afternoon at Nebraska, sins of both omission and commission causing the Pittsburgher to wind up in a scoreless deadlock with a very ordinary Cornhusker eleven.

Last week, against Carnegie Tech, Dr. Sutherland's charges functioned in impressive fashion for 55 yards and a touchdown which eventually stood up to bring about a 7-to-6 triumph.

But Saturday, the roof fell in with a crash. Everything went wrong at Columbus. The well-known doctor's supposedly sophisticated gridders developed a scholastic complex, and were passed clear out of the ball park by Ohio State's young men.

There were so many things wrong in Saturday's game that it would take more space and more time than I care to give to chronicle all that happened. Possibly the outstanding factor of the ball game, the thing that was so painfully evident to even the most loyal and rah rah of the Panther adherents was that as an end Jim MacMurdo is a great tackle.

NOT GOOD END

Football scouts who saw MacMurdo play his first game as an end this year told me that he never would develop into a front rank wing. I thought they might be mistaken. Now it begins to look as though they were right. Scouts usually are.

But it wasn't all big Jim's fault Saturday. Pitt looked to be dead on its feet from the very start. The secondary defense certainly was. The tackling was off, the play of the line on the offensive was ragged and lacked timing, and the generalship came in for as much criticism as has been leveled at a Pitt team for many years.

Dr. Sutherland's contention that Pitt has been forced to play through too rugged a schedule must be considered. Pitt has met Syracuse, Notre Dame, Nebraska, Carnegie Tech and Ohio State in a row. All were tough, but, the fact remains that Pitt did not click in real Pitt fashion in any game. The boys played a fair brand of football against Tech; not great football, but good enough to win, but aside from that one game, and part of the struggle with Syracuse, the Panthers have been very, very ordinary.

Ohio State had a better team than it was supposed to have, but the Bucks didn't show anything new. The passes were not deceptive; rather, they were well handled, both on the tossing and receiving end. The running attack was not overly potent, but then it didn't have to be, for Ohio had Pitt on the hip with its passes.

It's not fair to kick a guy when he is down, especially when he doesn't go down very often, so this tirade against Pitt will end here and now. Dutch Hermann, of Penn State, scouted Pitt Saturday, and says the boys still are three touchdowns better than State, which means that State may get in line with Notre Dame and Ohio.

Pitt isn't alone today in nursing a football hangover. If you think there is joy and gladness at Easton, Fordham, State College, Ithaca, Atlanta, Madison or even here in

By TOM BIRKS.

Just as the fans expected, plenty of action marked the playing of independent conference games yesterday afternoon. All of the battles were staged before banner crowds.

At Ambridge, the McKeesport Olympics kept their leadership intact by stopping the Mystics by a 13-to-0 score. The Big Green Majestics defeated West View, 14 to 0, and East Pittsburgh kept up its great defensive play by holding Burns A. A. to a 0-0 score at the Quarry Stadium.

OLYMPICS HELD

Ambridge battled hard, and the first half found the Olympics retiring, 0-0. In the third period Zeneski punted to the Olympics' 45-yard line. Barnes ran the ball back to the Ambridge 40. A 15-yard penalty was inflicted on the home team for unnecessary roughness, and then Barnes uncorked a pass to Boots Klinzing. Two Ambridge defense men tackled the elusive Boots, but could not hold him, and he trotted over. The second touchdown came when McCurdy intercepted one of Zaneski's forward passes and ran 45 yards to score.

Ambridge gave the Olympics a fright, two long passes in the final quarter putting the ball on the two-yard line, but it was too late.

All of the scoring in the Majestic-West View game was flashed in the first period. Jimmy Rooney carried the ball over for the first touchdown from the 11-yard line and Kelsh kicked the extra point. The second came when Honey Guarino intercepted a forward pass. Splatt threw back a bad pass to Schackern, and the Geneva man, trying to get rid of the ball before being tackled, shot a pass, but Guarino fastened on to the pigskin and Mose Kelsh kicked the extra point.

STOPPED NEAR GOAL

West View took the ball to the Majestic three-yard line, only to be held for downs. The results of yesterday's games indicates the Olympic-Majestic battle at Rainbow Gardens will decide the conference championship. The lineups:

Charleroi, Monessen To Play for Charity

CHARLEROI, Pa., Nov 17.—The annual grid classic between Charleroi and Monessen High Schools, at Page Park on Thanksgiving Day morning, will be played for the benefit of Monessen charity organizations, it was announced today. All receipts will be devoted to emergency relief there.

With Monessen and Charleroi annually drawing 8,000 to 12,000 people in their annual games, Chairman C. N. Johns today said that all records for scholastic football attendance in the W. P. I. A. L. will be equaled at Monessen. Only 2,000 reserved seats will be sold.

GRIDDER DIES

KNAPIC SPILLS McCARTHY, OF DUKES

Sport Vignettes

Knute Rockne, in the current installment of his memoirs in Collier's, tells of the fault of Harry Wilson, former Penn State and Army star, who blushed every time his signal was called and thus tipped the play to the opposition. . . . Which recalls the narrative about the coach who had a similar back on his team and corrected the situation by having all of his backs flush on every play. . . . Once he had the deception fully developed, he had for a backfield Four Flushers, instead of Four Horsemen. . . . With Pitt bowing to Ohio State, Carnegie Tech idle and the Dukes losing to Geneva, Pittsburgh last week went through its second Saturday of the season without a collegiate football victory, a most unusual condition and one that probably comes under the head of Hard Times.

You can kick it around that probably no one was more surprised over Tony Canzoneri's speedy knockout victory over Al Singer, that carried with it the lightweight title, than Canzoneri himself, following his quite recent defeats by Billy Petrolle and Berg. . . . This Angel Cliville, of Cuba, who recently knocked out Rene DeVos in one round, has been beaten by K. O. Kelly, the Akron Negro, who also has beaten Gorilla Jones and other good middleweights.

Jim Marks tomorrow takes his Kiski football squad to West Point to battle the Army Plebes on Wednesday. . . . The Army yearlings never have been able to defeat a Saltsburg team, even last year's great eleven getting nothing better than a scoreless tie. . . This year's Kiski team has to its credit a victory over the Pitt Freshmen.

One of the pet plays of Howard Harpster, former Carnegie Tech star and now Geneva College coach, is a forward pass from behind the goal line. . . . Properly executed, it often is good for a touchdown. . . . Imagine Harpster's embarrassment when, in a recent game, his team pulled it and Ewing, who caught the pass, raced 98 yards to cross the opponent's goal for an apparent touchdown, only to have the ball called back and a safety charged against Geneva because the passer had miscalculated the distance in the end zone and had stepped over the end line before getting the oval away, thus automatically scoring two points for the opposition.

Would you say that the jury that recently found for Gene Tunney in Tim Mara's suit against him was out only a minute longer than Gene himself at Chicago?—HARRY KECK.

BEARS BEAT GIANTS

PANTHER PLAY IS RAGGED

Pittsburgh, up on the Bluff, you are daffy.

Tech still has a couple of ball games to play, and probably will come back in fine fashion in both of them, but I don't think either of the local clubs will go around making any claims for championship rating this year. Do you?

YALE EXTENDED

Some of the ball clubs that won, or were tied, have their victories, but not the satisfaction of having performed as they should. Marquette didn't figure to be held even by Detroit; Yale was supposed to kick the tar out of Princeton and Dartmouth figured to do better against Cornell than it did.

Northwestern came through in fine fashion with a great second-half attack to beat stubborn Wisconsin and assure itself of a tie for the Conference title with Michigan, which remained in the running by beating Minnesota. Illinois ran over Chicago, which was to be expected.

In the East, Chick Meehan finally beat Georgetown, just by 2 to 0, and Lou Little's badly crippled Columbia eleven gave Brown's Bears quite a busy afternoon. Fordham's reign among the unbeaten ended as Slip Madigan's St. Mary's varsity strong-armed a victory. Temple prepped for the game this week with Carnegie Tech by walloping Lafayette and Penn came back nobly after the socking taken from Notre Dame to crush staggering Georgia Tech.

ARMY WINS EASILY

The Army had an easy one in Kentucky Wesleyan and Colgate ran true to form in smashing Syracuse.

The Middle West fared quite well in its intersectional warfare with the East, Ohio State beating Pitt and Iowa upsetting Penn State. Notre Dame won another, taking over Drake.

In Pittsburgh, the boys saw their second 7-to-6 game as Washington-Jefferson nosed out Bucknell. The Bisons have been trying for a long time to beat the Presidents, and it looked like this was going to be their year, but Wash.-Jeff. lasted to beat 'em by the same count Pitt took Tech.

Duquesne efforts to crash the gate of victory against Geneva on the Covenanters' home lot failed as Howard Harpster's charges won by 7 to 0 in a Tri-State district feature. The setback was the second in a row for the Dukes and their third of the season, West Virginia and North Dakota having taken the locals in previous bouts.

Other district games went about as was to be expected. Thiel was two touchdowns better than Westminster in a Conference tussle; Grove City ran up a score on Bethany, 49 to 0, and Davis-Elkins trounced St. Francis. West Virginia Wesleyan exhibited unsuspected power in battering Waynesburg; St. Vincent nailed the U. S. Medical Corps eleven and Canisius punched out a 39-7 win over the Edinboro Teachers.

TRACK, FIELD RECORDS ARE APPROVED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—The forty-second annual convention of the Amateur Athletic Union today formally accepted as a new American record, the mark of 9 2-5 for the 100-yard dash made by Frank Wykoff, of the University of Southern California, on May 10 at Los Angeles.

Most other important records in track and field were approved, including the 169 feet, 8⅛ inch discus throw turned in by Paul Jessup, Seattle giant, at the A. A. U. championships in Pittsburgh August 22, and the 52 feet, 5⅝ inch shot put registered by Herman Brix, of the Los Angeles A. C., at the game meet.

A 167 feet 5⅛ inch discus toss by Eric Krenz, of Stanford University, was turned down because it was surpassed by Jessup's effort.

An application for approval of the mark of 3:15 2-5, for the one-mile relay made by a Stanford quartet last April also was disapproved because of the existence of a better record. The world record time of 3:13 4-10 was set by a United State Olympic team in London in 1928.

Wykoff's performance in the 100 and Jessup's in the discus exceed the world records and will be submitted to the International Amateur Athletic Federation for acceptance.

Comparatively little opposition was encountered in the passage by the Foreign Relations Committee of a rule which calls upon American athletes competing abroad to take an oath that they have not received and will not accept gratuities or anything more than their bare expenses.

HOCKEY TEAM IN SHAKEUP

By CARL W. SHATTO.

Pittsburgh's International League hockey Yellow Jackets faced a radical shakeup today as a result of the 7-0 setback which they received at the hands of the Buffalo puckmen Saturday night.

"Something will have to be done about that," was the comment of Roy D. Schooley, president-manager of the local club, on the second Jacket reversal. It is understood that Schooley is seeking to sign some older and more experienced skaters to steady the play of his husky youngsters. Lineup changes probably will be in order.

The Jackets play at Syracuse Wednesday night, and will meet the Buffalo sextet here Thursday night.

Cleveland and London tied, 1-1, and Detroit beat Syracuse, 3-2, in other games Saturday night.

DETROIT, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Philadelphia's luckless Quakers took their third National Hockey League beating at the hands of the Detroit Falcons here last night, 5 to 1, in a rough game.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—A goal by Johnny Gottselig with only 15 seconds to play last night enabled the Chicago Blackhawks to get an overtime 1-1 tie with the New York Rangers in Chicago's inaugural of the major league hockey season.

NEWARK TO QUIT

GLICK MEETS HERRERA TONIGHT

By HARRY KECK.
Sports Editor.

A Jewish veteran scrapper from New York and a Mexican youth from Texas, by way of Chicago, cross-fire each other with boxing gloves at Motor Square Garden tonight, and it looks like another good paying attraction for the East End arena.

Joe Glick is the New Yorker, Tony Herrera the Mexican. Tony is a big favorite with the local fans, as a result of having turned in a number of spectacular victories in these parts. Glick is a newcomer, who has shown here only once, in the opening show of the present season at the Garden, when, with his sloppy winging left hand, he really outscored Herrera, but wound up with no better than a draw. It is as a result of that deadlock that they are clashing again tonight for the delectation of the boxing bugs and the filthy lucre that will accrue to them from sampling each other's punches.

BOTH AILING BEFORE

Both Herrera and Glick were under the weather when they boxed before, each suffering from a cold that had interfered with their training. Glick came in overweight and Herrera grabbed his forfeit and then gave it back. Tony got off to a poor start and was far behind at the half way mark, but finished strong. If they aren't invalids tonight it ought to be a better fight over the route. Both arrived in town yesterday and reported themselves out of quarantine and the clutches of physicians and pulmoters.

A pair of good lightweight punchers serve up the eight-round semi-final tonight. They are Eddie Brannon, Negro, of the Hill, and Ray Newton, of Mansfield, O. A little more than a year ago, Newton was knocking 'em all dead around here, and then he suddenly went to pieces like a piece of expensive bric-a-brac. Now he's had a layoff, and he'll be back in there to make a fresh start against Brannon.

BECKER BOXES NOLL

Al Becker, of Sheraden, and Marcus Noll, two tough-swinging middleweights, meet in the second bout, and Johnny Montebano, of Braddock, and Steve Senich, of Homestead, box the opener, at 8:30.

Between Rounds

Promoter Apples Meyers, of the Moose Temple, has lined himself up his best offering of the season so far for next Friday night, when he brings the popular Joe Trippe, of Rochester, N. Y., here to box Jimmy Kelly, formerly of Akron, now of the North Side, in the windup. Kelly is the kid who made things too tough for Billy Holt, devastating Negro welterweight, of Homewood, in a recent bout at the Moose. Trippe is best remembered for his two sensational battles with Sergt. Sammy Baker at Motor Square Garden last season, and, singularly, Baker will be back with us next Monday night, when he boxes Buck McTiernan at the Garden.

Cuddy DeMarco, local veteran, returns to the ring following a long layoff to box Young Firpo, of Pennsgrove, N. J., in one of the six-round preliminaries to the Johnny Jadich-Tommy Grogan bout at the Arena in Philadelphia tonight.

Benny McArthur and Johnny Smackey, who recently fought a 10-round windup at Johnstown, have been rematched for the semi-final at the Moose Temple. Walter Gallagher, the heavyweight sensation, will box an opponent to be selected in the second bout.

Fritzie Zivic, who is steadily forging ahead in the local amateur ranks, was the star of an inter-city show held in Cleveland last Saturday night, defeating Ralph Damon in the feature battle. George Julius was another local winner, defeating Manny Cucci.

coach at Washington and Lee, developed Conley at Roman Catholic High School in Philadelphia, and when the boy won all-scholastic football honors in that district, Oberst shipped him bag and baggage to Notre Dame.

Conley, with a great reputation, reported to Rockne for his initial workout. There were 135 boys on the squad. Rockne divided them into 12 teams and put them through a signal drill. The first 11 teams went through their practice with all the footballs that could be found in South Bend—exactly 11. It was a case of "there ain't no more."

Tom Conley

to which Conley was assigned, had to use a headgear in place of an inflated pigskin. Conley afterward said he had never felt so humiliated in his life. Until then he had always thought he was a pretty fair football player. But when Rockne showed him to the twelfth team and didn't even give him a ball to play with, it was a bitter dose to swallow. After the practice Tom found his way back to the dormitory and debated with himself the question of whether it was worth while to stick to the squad or he should pack up and go home. He slept on the matter, made up his mind to show Rockne what a serious mistake had been made, and the following year he was a varsity end. That early experience had much to do with making him a great player, and his friends are confident that the perseverance he showed then will win for him later greater things than the captaincy of a football team.

MY FIFTY YEARS IN BASEBALL

By CONNIE MACK.
Manager, World Champion Philadelphia Athletics

INSTALLMENT NO. 61.

To my mind, the game played on Saturday, October 12, 1929, in Philadelphia always will stand out as the most dramatic in world series history and one that bankrupted the wildest imaginations of the most optimistic baseball follower.

Root was the Chicago pitcher and I nominated Jack Quinn, one of the few remaining kings of the dying dynasty of spitball pitchers.

From the start, Jack, the oldest pitcher in the majors, was skittish and did not seem in key, although he contrived to keep the Cubs from scoring in the first three innings.

Connie Mack.

Then, in the sixth, the Cubs started to measure Quinn again, and, with two runs home, two on bases, nobody out and Grimm up, I took him out and sent in Walberg.

Walberg made a wild throw on the first play and two more runs counted, while Grimm took third. An out let in Grimm and then Walberg fanned the next two.

Root blanked us in our half of the sixth and Rommel replaced Walberg in the seventh and the Cubs added another run to make the one-sided fight 8 to 0.

A DARK OUTLOOK

Our followers were stunned. Defeat was a foregone conclusion. Nothing could avert it. The series would be tied and the Athletics had the fight of their lives on hands after their impressive showing in Chicago.

Eight runs in the hole, only three innings for us to bat and Root pitching dazzling ball. I decided at the end of the seventh inning that I would take out my regulars and put in my reserves.

After the seventh, I would not let one of my regulars go any farther.

My idea was to give every one of my youngsters a chance to play in a World Series game, an aspiration they all had.

I was not trying to show up my regulars, but I wanted to give my young players the chance for which they all had been praying. In the last few minutes of play in a big football game, the coaches always put in their deserving substitutes if the game is won or irretrievably lost so they may win their varsity letters.

I was going to try the same thing in baseball.

If the earth had not caved in during that last half of the seventh, the Athletics would have set a new record for wholesale substitutions in a World Series.

The thoughts I had were soon shattered by the might of the Athletics bats.

GREATEST SERIES RALLY

Al Simmons started our never-to-be-forgot seventh inning panic with a home run that hit the roof of the stands in leftfield. A herculean hit, but at this stage of the game a drop in the bucket, actualy meaningless, like a bloody fighter, who lands a light jab while he is reeling around the ring ready to be knocked out.

Foxx, Miller and Dykes followed with clean singles and Jimmy scored. Boley kept up the attack with a single and Bing came in. Still Athletic followers looked sour. We might win if the lead were four or five runs, but eight runs were too many to melt, they thought.

George Burns was assigned to hit for Rommell and he lifted a short fly to English for the first out. Bishop came through with a single to center that scored Dykes wth the fourth run.

Spectators now were becoming very much alive. The Cub lead had been cut in two and the Athletics had a sporting chance to win if they continued to hit in the last two innings.

WILSON LOSES FLY BALL

Joe McCarthy must have been thinking along the same lines, for, after Bishop singled, he dismissed the much chagrined Root and sent for Arthur Nehf, his veteran lefthander, with Haas, a left-handed swinger, coming up.

Then the Athletics had a big break. Haas sent a liner thundering to center. Hack Wilson lost the ball in the sun and it glided past him and rolled to deep center field as three moving figures in white streaked around the paths.

It was a home run, three runs had scored and the Athletics now were only one run behind as the terraced thousands rose to their feet in ecstasy and swept the field with waves of cheer.

The bases were empty and spectators cried: "We will win in the eighth or ninth!" But Cochrane started a fresh onset when Nehf walked him.

Out went Nehf and in came Blake. Up for the second time, Simmons singled to left and put Cochrane on second. Foxx followed with another timely single and Mickey skipped home with the tieing run as spectators, in glee, showered their hats on the field.

GROVE HOLDS LEAD

Blake was taken out after Foxx's hit and Joe McCarthy called on Malone to save the game. His first act was to hit Miller with a pitch and the bases were loaded.

Up stepped Dykes, who walloped a two-bagger just out of Stephenson's reach, and two more runs scored to give the Athletics the lead and victory.

Malone then caught his stride and fanned Boley and Burns to end a record world series inning for heavy scoring.

Ten runs in one inning to top an eight-run lead! The spectators could not believe the testimony of their eyes.

As soon as we began to score in this inning, I rushed Grove to the bullpen and he was ready when our long half ended. He pitched to only six Cubs in the last two innings and fanned six of them.

M'KECHNIE OUT TO BOLSTER BRAVES

CHARLES J. DOYLE

His fall hunting nearly done, Willie McKechnie, Big Chief of the Tribal Warriors of Boston, is back on his vast Wilkinsburg reservation where he is sharpening his tomahawks for the big baseball pow-wows to be held soon in Montreal and New York.

Bill McKechnie

About one year ago McKechnie fell heir to a band of diamond fighters which had fallen into low estate. When Skipper Bill elected to take his leave from the favored Cardinals to ally himself with the lowly Braves, many a quizzical expression was raised by his friends. But Willie knew what he wanted. One careful Scotchman can't be wrong.

McKechnie knew from experience that there is considerable quicksand in the St. Louis setup, so when Judge Fuchs, of the Braves, asked him to move in on a long-time lease, Willie walked out on the fluttering Redbirds and cast his lot with a less pretentious but more cultured neighborhood.

Bill thus allied himself with a bad last-place club, and when the critics made up their books for this year they graciously assigned him to the cellar. And then Bill proceeded to make things miserable for all flag contenders as he finished sixth.

Like a true Scot, Bill dinna ken see any percentage in popping off about next season, but the boys on the inside are expecting more trouble from the Tribe, which, more than incidentally, made big dividends for its owners in the 1930 season.

"Yes, we're trying to strengthen the club," said McKechnie quietly, in discussing his plans.

Chillysauce

Wes Schulmerich, Los Angeles outfielder, who will be with the Braves of next season, is built along the lines of Hack Wilson. The recruit at present is engaged in wrestling bouts on the Pacific Coast. Manager Bill McKechnie apparently was not aware of his new player's playful diversion. When he heard about it he remarked:

"Fine—We have a nice big reservation in Boston. If we want to put on some side stuff to bring them through the gates we can let Al Rood take Schumertick on in a wrestling match."

Traynor Visitor At Pirate Office

Harold (Pie) Traynor, captain of the Pirates' is in Pittsburgh today, having come from Cincinnati, where he visited with his bride-to-be, Miss Eva Helmar.

Pie immediately went to the offices of the Pittsburgh Baseball Club for a visit with Barney Dreyfuss and other Pirate officials after he landed here.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks React

Local List Irregular

STOCK PRICES DIP SHARPLY

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—The stock market suffered a pronounced relapse today and showed little resistance to profit taking sales.

Although trading was in moderate volume, a long list of popular stocks dropped 2 to 6 points. But few came within striking distance of their recent lows. The copper stocks reacted substantially. The metal declined today to 11½ cents a pound.

The action of the market was about in keeping with Wall Street's expectations. After last week's five-day advance the list seemed entitled to a technical reaction.

The weekly advices of economic advisory services rather emphatically suggested that investors go slowly.

There was little demand for call money and funds were freely offered in the outside market at 1 per cent, although the loan desk rate was still 2.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The curb market backed water today after last week's advances. Prices slid off during the early hours as traders who had bought at considerably lower levels took profits and as new short lines were put out.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

Liggett & Myers Profit For Year Estimated At $8 a Share.

Conservative estimates are that Liggett & Myers earnings this year will be in excess of $6 a share, and may reach as much as $8.50. Thus, the stock has been selling at only 10 times the prospective revenues of the current 12 months. In 1929, the company showed earnings of $7.82 a share on the smaller amount of stock outstanding. Common stock of the company was increased 20 per cent early this year by the subscription privilege which was given stockholders. The company pays $5 a share a year, which includes $1 extra, and at recent levels a yield of 6 per cent has been obtainable.

Interests in the financial district identified with the sugar industry are of the opinion that the aggressive efforts which have been made to increase sales are beginning to bear fruit. In that connection, attention is being attracted to American Sugar, which is in a commanding position in the industry. The major part of the company's profits are derived from refining operations, which gives the issues a speculative factor that is likely to become attractive to the trading element. The company has declared the regular $1.25 quarterly payment to be made January 2, 1931.

Holiday trade should be stimulated within a month by the distribution of Christmas savings funds, which have been growing more popular each year. These distributions usually are made early in December. Bankers have estimated that between $600,000,000 and $700,000,000 will be distributed this year in New York City. In normal times, from 35 to 40 per cent of this money has been used for the purchase of gifts. Whether such a large percentage will be expended in that way this year is problematical because of the unemployment situation. It is considered certain, however, that at least $200,000,000 will be so used.

It is estimated that current output of the International Nickel Company of Canada is running at the rate of 8,000,000 pounds of copper a month. This compares with present potential capacity of 20,000,000 pounds monthly, making the current rate of production about 40 per cent. Thus it is pointed out if demand is sufficient to absorb present output of the company at the higher prices now prevailing for the red metal, the recent increase of 2½ cents a pound would mean a profit of about $200,000 a month more to the company than it would obtain on the same tonnage with copper selling at 9½ cents a pound.

Results of the Columbia Gas and Electric Corporation for the September quarter and the nine months ended with that period reflect the effect on its operations of the sluggish pace of industrial operations in the mid-summer. For the September quarter the company reported net equivalent to 6 cents a share on 11,684,201 shares of common stock, as against the equivalent of 26 cents a share on a total of 8,476,682 common shares in the same quarter last year. For the nine months net was equivalent to $1.23 a share on the total of 11,684,201 shares of common stock compared with $2.09 a share on the smaller total indicated above as outstanding at the end of the first nine months of 1929.

In many conservative quarters, some doubt is being placed on the staying qualities of the current rally. Adherents to this view point out there is little in sight to indicate a sustained advance at present and it would be better for investors to wait for definite indications of improvement in business. It is admitted, however, that continuation of present strength would prove helpful in restoring confidence. Constructive interests are emphasizing the excesses of the two months' downswing with hardly a rally to check the persistent deflation in prices. Although the present upturn has exceeded normal technical bounds, this should not cause undue nervousness.

DAILY TRUE STORY

Mr. Hanlon's Story

"November is no time to be sitting on a park bench all day," Jasper W. Loring remarked to the shabby young man.

Jasper prided himself on being quite a student of human nature. He wrote stories, on the side. None of them had been accepted up to this time, but as Jasper drew down a fat salary as treasurer of his father's chemical works, these rejections of his "brain children" didn't cramp his finances in the least.

"It gets cool in November, my good fellow."

"My name is Jasper Loring," he said.

"Mine is Pete Hanlon—but that isn't bringing me any banquets or suites at the Ritz."

"Ah, I take it that you are unemployed."

"Take it or leave it," Pete answered. "I'm out of work, and there are just as many syllables in 'unemployed' as in 'out of work.'"

"Well, well—you're quite an unusual chap."

Accepts Invitation

"Look here, Mr. Hanlon," he said, "how about coming across with me to that restaurant and having luncheon?"

"Try and stop me."

They went across and found a table in an alcove. Jasper handed over a menu.

"Do you mind talking while eating?" Jasper asked.

"Not at all."

"Well then, suppose you hand me your fairy tale."

"I'm going to fool you," Pete declared. His grin was truly amiable by this time as he started on his second cup of coffee and the second half of his steak.

"Oh, like that? You don't have to talk, you know." Jasper was slightly miffed at this.

"I didn't get fired for being inefficient. I worked for the Four-Square Import Company. A guy named Howard W. Howard was the whole works. I didn't get enough salary to patronize the night clubs, but I didn't go hungry, either."

Pete paused to drink more coffee.

"I see—and this company went out of business because of the hard times?"

Tells Story

"You're crazy, Mr. Loring. There are no hard times. You read what the bankers say, read the newspapers and listen to the politicians—they tell us we're all wrong, that there are no hard times at all. And after they all swear there are no hard times, they advise us all to out and buy, to remedy the hard times! Can you tie that?"

"Queer situation, but about yourself, Mr. Hanlon?"

"Well, these guys are right—we ought to all go out and buy to relieve the financial depression. I agree, and I'm going to go out and buy and buy—just as soon as these wise guys will tell me what to use for money."

"And — er — your company went out of business and left you flat?"

"Flat and scorched. Let me tell you. There was a girl—"

"Ah, ah, 'searchez la femme,' eh?"

"Not this girl, she wasn't that sort. You couldn't put a hand on her, much less search her. I got nerts about her—"

"Got what?"

"I see you don't read the Broadway columns. Well, I got a yen for this girl and was going to take her to a show and a supper on Saturday. But I got into a little session of African golf and dropped about half of my roll. The original roll wouldn't have any more than taken me through. I couldn't turn down the nice girl after making the date and I couldn't get theater tickets and a night club party with just a smile. I was rather desperate. Then I had a hunch—I'd borrow it—I'd borrow it off the boss—and never tell him about it."

"To borrow without letting anyone know is to take money with the more or less honest intentions of putting it back. Now the boss kept what he called a petty cash box. It was for small expenses, stationery, stamps, the bottled water and such things. Usually there was 30 or 40 dollars in the petty cash box. I decided to take it—and put it back later."

"And you couldn't put it back and you were fired?"

Jasper seemed disappointed.

Not Rewarded

"That's old stuff—you've got it all wrong. I had a key to the offices. I slipped up to the office late Saturday afternoon. Probably there weren't 10 people in the whole big building. I told the elevator man I had a little extra work to do. I was all dolled up in my other suit—a good one. I let myself in, and smelled smoke. I went to the inner office and the place was just a mess, smoke and flames. It didn't take me a jiffy to pop out into the hall, grab down one of those big fire extinguishers that you turn upside down, and I had that fire out in jig time. I was covered with smoke and soot and had holes burned in my other and best suit, but I was pretty proud of myself and telephoned the boss. I couldn't get him and the petty cash box had 11 cents in it. I phoned the nice girl that I was burned too much to keep the date."

"Well, the fire saved you from being a thief and made a hero of you, Mr. Hanlon. I suppose your employer rewarded you handsomely?"

"Rewarded me? Listen, Monday there were expert accountants there going over the books. I followed the boss out when he stepped out for a moment and asked for the price of another suit, thinking he'd slip me at least a century note. Instead of that he glared at me.

"'You're a damn fool,' he said to me and hurried away. You see, he'd been in a lot of crooked deals and set fire to his office himself to burn the books and cover things up. He never has come back."

"By George, that is a remarkable story," Jasper exclaimed. He handed Pete Hanlon a 10 spot to pay for the dinner and told him to keep the change.

"A remarkable story," Jasper repeated as he departed.

"I thought so," Pete Hanlon said to himself, "I thought so, as I was making it up!"

Don't Give Up the Canal

More Than Ever Pittsburgh Needs a Waterway Outlet to the Great Lakes.

Business men of Youngstown, who formerly co-operated with the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce in the campaign for a canal to connect the Ohio River with Lake Erie, have apparently given up hope of getting a through canal. They are confining their efforts now to getting a canal from Youngstown to the Ohio River, closed at the Youngstown end.

We are glad to note that the Pittsburgh Chamber is not acquiescing in the surrender, but has determined to keep up the fight for a canal to Lake Erie.

Youngstown, a comparatively short distance from the lake by railroad, does not need waterway connection to the same extent that Pittsburgh does. Unfair railroad rates on coal shipments to the lakes make the canal more desirable than ever.

There are so many arguments in favor of the project that if the fight is not abandoned it seems certain the canal will be built sooner or later.

Fish at the Museum

A Department Long Neglected Has Now Become One of the Most Interesting.

At the Carnegie Institute next Friday Pennsylvania's Board of Fish Commissioners will present to the museum a remarkable new exhibit, a habitat group of yellow perch.

For years the department of ichthyology at the museum was rather neglected. The late Dr. Carl Eigenmann, while curator, made notable contributions to the world's knowledge of fish by his expeditions to South America and his laboratory studies. But there was little in the museum's exhibits to attract the public.

Under the present curator, Dr. Arthur W. Henn, the exhibits have been multiplied and made more attractive. The strikingly lifelike aurora trout group is one of the museum's most remarkable displays, and the yellow perch group is said to be scarcely less remarkable.

It is desirable that people should be made acquainted with the appearance and habits of our common fishes in the museum, since they are no longer to be found in the vicinity of the city.

Fish were formerly so abundant in Pittsburgh that they constituted a large part of the people's diet. The Indians subsisted largely on fish, and in the city's early days the apprentice boys once went on strike until their indentures were changed to provide that they should not be given fish oftener than three times a week. The late Justice George Shiras, of the United States Supreme Court, who was born in Pittsburgh in 1832, used to say that in his boyhood the fishing in the Allegheny River at Herr's Island could not be excelled. Dr. W. J. Holland, director emeritus of Carnegie Museum, recalls looking down into the water from the Point Bridge when he was a young man and seeing on the bottom many great sturgeons.

Alas, those halcyon days have long since passed!

Repeal This Bounty

State's Reward for Killing Goshawks Is Resulting In Destruction of Useful Hawks.

The state started on November 1 to pay a bounty of $5 for every goshawk killed. It was thought desirable to kill goshawks because they prey on small game.

The Sun-Telegraph warned that there was danger in disturbing the balance of nature and recalled that once before, when the state paid a bounty on hawks, mice increased in the rural regions as a result of the destruction of their feathered enemies.

In inviting people to kill goshawks the Game Commission requested that other hawks be spared and gave explicit directions for distinguishing between the various species. Notwithstanding this instruction the bounty has led to the killing of all sorts of hawks.

Of 90 hawks sent to the Game Commission since November 1 by persons claiming the reward only nine were goshawks.

The bounty should be repealed.

It is apparent that people are unable to distinguish between goshawks and the useful hawks.

It is apparent that the bounty, if continued, will result in destruction of the farmers' friends and pave the way for a plague of mice.

Pennsy's New Signals

Besides Promoting Safety, They Promise Business for a Local Industry.

The Pennsylvania Railroad inaugurated service between Pittsburgh and Altoona yesterday with trains equipped with the new system of automatic cab signals.

Under this system the automatic wayside block signals on the poles beside the tracks are continuously and accurately reproduced on both sides of the locomotive cab in front of the engineman and the fireman. The system has been exhaustively tested and is said to be entirely satisfactory.

A spokesman for the railroad expresses the opinion that the new system makes rear-end collisions impossible and eliminates many other hazards.

Another reason for gratification is the prospect that other railroads will install the new signals, which will give considerable new business to an important local industry.

Dodging a Cold

Dr. Wynne Tells You How.

Dr. Shirley W. Wynne, New York's able and energetic health commissioner, gives 10 rules for dodging a cold.

They are:

1—Include milk and leafy vegetables in each day's diet.
2—Drink plenty of water, and bathe frequently.
3—Sleep a full eight hours every night.
4—Breathe through the nose.
5—Make sure that home, work place and school are well ventilated. An indoor temperature of 68 or 70 degrees is best. Be sure the air contains moisture.
7—Dress according to the weather and avoid chill.
8—Keep away from persons who have colds.
10—If you contract a cold go to a doctor. Don't resort to nostrums.

These are simple suggestions, easily followed, and will save you not only from colds but from nine-tenths of all the diseases known to medicine.

"Bugs" Baer Says:

Democrats Are at Bat

When we first saw the election returns we didn't know whether our eyes deceived us or whether our ears had blown out a fuse.

This country has been Republican so long that we were just naturally used to being annoyed. Like Champ Clark's hound dog we even posed for the next kick.

The Democrats claimed a majority of a terrific one in the House. The Republicans claimed it wasn't a whole one on the grounds that a Democrat is only a fraction.

It would mean that all the backseat drivers were up in front.

Congress would okay a bill. The President would kayo it. Congress would okay it over the President's kayo. And so on until pay day brought up a more agreeable topic.

And the lame ducks have sore feet again. A lame duck is a Congressman who has been defeated for re-election. He still has six months to go on his old term.

And he spends those slowly fading six months getting in a lot of free laundry franking. He can make himself just as annoying as the old lady who went shopping for stamps.

Stamps come a hundred in a sheet. And the old lady always insisted on having the one in the middle.

It would be a better idea if Senators evicted the premises on the same day they were defeated. When you knock an apple off a tree it falls on the ground Is a Senator any more nutritious than an apple?

The more we explain politics the less we understand it. It is almost as long drawn out as a mutiny on a slow boat to Egypt.

We thought for a while that the Democrats scored a glorious victory on all the final frontiers and that it was their turn to pick the raisins out of the rice pudding.

They couldn't do worse than we have had for a few administrations. They might do better but like the no smoking signs, it doesn't say positively.

DR. KARL LANDSTEINER

By Archibald Henderson

The great trial at Dayton, Tenn., fresh in the minds of everyone, was a battle between evolutionists and fundamentalist. Some wag said that the problem at issue was whether Adam and Eve were descended from apes or were merely created ab initio out of pay dirt. Frivolity aside, one of the burning questions of evolutionary theory is: does man descend from a primitive ancestor from which both the ape and the monkey derive? Is man nearer akin to the ape than to the monkey? Is the ape nearer akin to man than to monkey?

Light has been thrown, within recent years, upon these baffling questions by Dr. Karl Landsteiner, to whom has just been awarded the Nobel Prize for medicine. The prize amounts to about $48,000, and the award was made by the Stockholm faculty of medicine.

According to the will of Alfred B. Nobel, Swedish scientist and inventor of dynamite, who died in 1896, the interest from his fortune of $9,000,000 was to be distributed annually to those who had contributed most to the benefit of mankind during the year immediately preceding the award.

Karl Landsteiner was born June 14, 1868, in Vienna, Austria.

In 1891, he received the degree of doctor of medicine from the University of Vienna. During the decade, 1909-1919, he served as pathologist for the University of Vienna.

Since 1922 this eminent bacteriologist and pathologist has been a member of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research in New York. While he has published many scientific papers in the fields of bacteriology and pathology, he was granted the Nobel Prize in medicine specifically for his discoveries in the classification of different types of human blood.

Thirty years ago, Dr. Landsteiner began his study of human blood groups, which has had such interesting results. These groups were found to be divided into four main classifications and more than 30 subdivisions.

The announcement of some results in 1925 proved of exceptional interest. These results were published by Dr. Landsteiner and Dr. C. P. Miller in a series of articles on "Serologic Studies on the Blood of Primates." The results support the view of anthropologists who contend on other grounds that there is a closer relation between man and anthropoid apes than between men and monkeys or even than that between anthropoid apes and monkeys.

These findings, from a study of the blood, suggests that anthropoid apes and men had a common ancestor. The understanding of problems connected with the evolution of species is aided materially by these studies of Dr. Landsteiner.

Various problems connected with the blood, its nature and functions have been worked out by the Vienna investigator.

Immunization has especially attracted Dr. Landsteiner's attention and particularly the specificity of antibody reactions. Landsteiner will always be remembered as the first man to infect monkeys with the virus of poliomyelitis or infantile paralysis.

The bacteriologists were thus enabled to study this dread disease in animals and to experiment with serums to immunize human beings against it. From these studies resulted the discovery that the serum of infantile paralysis from convalescents might be used as a protective or checking agency in patients suffering from the disease in its earlier stages.

You are not "a man" or "a woman." You are a man AND a woman.

Your body may be male or female, but your mind is a A MINGLING OF BOTH SEXES.

You were not born of one sex. You were born of the mingling of two sexes. For the first period of your parental life, you had no sex. It was impossible to tell whether you were boy or girl. Then gradually you developed certain sex distinctions. But your body was still a mixture of the father and mother patterns. When you were born they said you had your mother's eyes and your father's forehead. If they could have looked deeper they would have seen that your spirit was equally divided between the male and female. You were mentally and emotionally man-woman.

That is why some little girls hate dolls and play with footballs, though they may be "feminine" in every other respect. That is why some little boys hate to dig pirate caves and love to cuddle Teddy Bears, to the consternation of their bewildered parents. And you are quite as bewildered by these inconsistencies in yourself, now that you are grown.

Sometimes you feel as a man is supposed to feel. Sometimes you feel as a woman is supposed to feel. I say "supposed" to feel because we have attached our own notions to human feelings. We have decided that men feel and think in certain ways and that women feel and think in certain ways. As a matter of fact, they do nothing of the sort. There is no such thing as "a man mind" or "a woman mind"—"a man nature" or "a woman nature." There are only man-and-woman minds, man-and-woman natures.

Women are supposed to be timid. But often men are far more timid than women. All men have secret streaks of cowardice. All women have amazing streaks of courage. Men are supposed to be fiery and women are supposed to be cool. That is another laugh! For women are frequently far more ardent than men. And many a gentleman has remained a bachelor rather than reveal his tepid temperament to a too enthusiastic lady.

Life would be much simpler and happier if we would admit these facts and permit ourselves, and others, to act accordingly. But we won't—so great is our fear of the fierce taboos which have arisen from our ignorance. We expect men "to act as men" and women "to act as women," and if they dare to act otherwise we despise and prosecute them and make them feel abnormal, even monstrous. We say a woman who ploughs her own fields is "a nut"—even though she may have the muscle of 10 men and a natural talent for agriculture. And as for a man who likes to make lamp shades . . . ! Yet there is no reason why ploughing should be exclusively male craft or shade making an exclusively female occupation. But, of course, few of us have the courage to assert this fact and brave ridicule. So we end by living lies—wasting half the power within us and losing the full beauty of life.

Be yourself. Be BOTH your selves. Be a man when you feel like a man and a woman when you feel like a woman. Cast aside the stupid sex distinctions which we have made between male and female, and live ALL sides of your nature. AND LET THE OTHER FELLOW DO LIKEWISE!

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS.

Unsaid

The tribute of true, kindly speech we cherish
Until long years have fled:
Yet, too, of vital force that will not perish
Are words left still unsaid.

However dear the dreams a kiss may waken,
To last till life be spent,
The hand unclasped, the kisses left untaken
With dearer dreams are blent.

And so I go, and thus serenely leave you
With all our vows unmade;
I know this silent passing cannot grieve you:
This love no words betrayed.

Text For Today

Let a bear robbed of her whelps meet a man, rather than a fool in his folly.—Proverbs, xvii:12.

A New Kind of War

With New Short Cuts.

A WAR TANK WALKING THROUGH A BRICK WALL.

This interesting scene was arranged for some of the British premiers from the Dominions, visiting London.

Instead of galloping horses, which no longer mean anything except targets for airmen, the premiers saw endless "caterpillar" tanks, traveling on their own track, performing various stunts.

Above you see one of these caterpillars, walking straight through a solid brick wall. Such a machine could walk right through a village, through the houses, over the cellars, and out the other side of the village, never stopping. No wall of brick mud or stone in an ordinary small town would stop one of these big engines.

When it comes it will be horrible.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Up to walk, stopping to chat a moment with the barrister Nathan Burkan, who has one of the brightest minds I know, and to a tailor and did on a great coat, a displeasing job, too. Then to Welfare Island with Floyd Gibbons.

All afternoon alone, my wife and mother-in-law going to a matinee, and came two heavy blankets from Canada, the gift of the Courtney Ryley Coopers, nor can I hardly wait for a blizzard. So off in hotspur haste to the theater to walk across town in the lovely dusk with my family.

Tommy Millard to dinner and Earl Carroll dropped in for dessert and we drove to Minsky's burlesk for a brief stay where ladies, spare the blushes, disported naked and then driving through Chinatown. Later to the New Amsterdam to see the finale of Earl's show from the wings.

Performers seem never to tire of watching fellow players during a performance. There are always peepers, occupying waiting time, getting an eyeful from the sidelines. And often they applaud with the gusto of the audience.

No place does one feel so in the way as a layman back stage at a theatrical performance. I found myself standing in a sandbox and again I reached out in the gloom to support myself against what I though was a piece of scenery. It was a lady's bare shoulder. Finally in tip-toeing to a back exit, I yanked a strand of wire that blew out a fuse with a splutter. And a girl shrieked: "Jeez!"

* * *

Stage managers, directors and producers have a code by which they may discuss a chorus girl applicant's charms or lack of them without embarrassing the lady. Thus if a stage manager says: "I am filing this lady as 03871-B!" it may mean her complexion is bad, figure just so-so, legs bowed, without personality, etc.

In a high priced revue, a fellow in flesh tights, giving appearance of being nude, and wearing a silk hat ambles into an upper box. After gasps die down, he explains: "I had to hock my clothes to buy a ticket."

And a novel last night inspired a roll-out-of-bed whoop. A taxi driver was calming a nervous fare who begged him to slow down. "I ain't killed a guy in three months" he comforted. "Then it was his fault. He was drunker than me."

Personal nomination for the most gracious smile in town—that of Mrs. Joseph A. Moore.

Automats provide lemonade free to ingeniously thrifty. One may pick up several glasses from the iced tea counter, containing cracked ice and lemon slices. Squeeze out the lemons into one glass. Water, sugar and spoons are free and if they catch you, blame me. Automats are among the few institutions I don't owe a penny.

Why I prefer the newsreels: Shipwreck Kelly is shown about to unroost from his winning long-distance flag pole sitting. He announces: "I am about to come down as physical as I went up."

Fifth avenue has two yards. Those near Washington Square have been absorbed by apartment skyscrapers. The largest remaining surrounds the Andrew Carnegie home, a jungle of verdure inclosed by a high iron fence. The other fronts the home of the son of Thomas Fortune Ryan, of Seventy-eighth street. It is valued at $3,000,000.

All of which is received with lachrymose sentimentality by those brought up to believe a home is not a home without a front and back yard. But there is balm in the fact that a plant near Jersey City turning out iron deer, dogs and other bibelots for lawns is carrying on.

And Chas. M. Schwab's Eversside lawn still has the iron cast of the puddler.

Frank Sullivan offers a crumb of comfort in relating why Harold Ross, editor of the New Yorker, got rid of his stiff and widely discussed pompadour and now has a head of flat hair. It seems Ina Claire, in beholding the pompadour across the dining room of the Algonquin, sighed and said she would never be happy until she could take off her shoes and wade through Ross' hair. That decided him.

From a news item: "For ten days a dapper fellow who wore a rose in his lapel and kept taking a handkerchief from his cuff nervously to wipe his forehead, stood opposite my home. Finally I decided to go to the police."

He was just going to chase you, silly!

Isn't It So?

Sometimes an automobile will not only help you to see this world but the next.

The gambler always has more respect for the man he loses to than the man he wins from.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

You have a friend who wanders away occasionally from the course he should follow.

He thinks his violations of the honor code are so well concealed that they are unknown.

He is oblivious to the circulation of rumors and gets more daring.

You know that he is going to suffer in reputation if he continues the way he is going.

You hesitate about speaking to him about his own affairs.

You hesitate not so much because of lack of interest as that you do not wish to strain your friendly relations, always so enjoyable to you.

You are so foolish that rather than miss the pleasure of his friendship you allow him to go his erring way.

But even if your friendship is not of a close and strong character, it is your duty to warn a friend whom you know to be jeopardizing his reputation and standing.

He may not listen to you, he may be angered, but that should not deter you from doing your duty.

Haven't you some friends to whom you should give a word of advice?
